

PGE Extends Lines; Cost Over $66,000

Expenditure of $66,115.34 for rural line extensions in Washington county during 1937 by the Portland General Electric company brought electric service to 439 new farms and rural customers, figures released this week by R. R. Easter, Tualatin division manager, showed.

"Line extensions in this county exceed those made in any other of the seven counties served by the Portland General Electric company system—a fact indicative of the progressiveness of Washington county farmers," Easter declared.

Continuing a rural load-building policy begun years ago, the P. G. E. company and its two subsidiaries, the Yamhill Electric and Molalla Electric companies, expended $205,601.37 for rural line extensions last year in the seven-county, 2600 square mile area served by the companies, Easter said.

"These extensions increased the availability of electric service to include approximately nine out of every 10 farms, or 86 per cent of the rural dwellers in the area covered—a percentage comparing to a national average of but 19 per cent and an all-Oregon average of 46 per cent," he declared.

In Washington county, customers connected to the work, extensions averaged 7.8 to the mile. Average cost per customer was $150.60.

Mill Signs Cut Down by Vandal

Forest Grove's Carnation Lumber company was the object of further vandalism last Thursday night, when two of the company's advertising signs, one east of Forest Grove on the main highway and the other on the road south of the town, were cut down by a left-handed axe-man, according to a report in the sheriff's office. The word "scab" had been splattered across the signs in red ink, indicating union trouble as the cause of the damage.

Pool-Gardner Lumber company was burglarized last week-end, with entrance to the lumber storage place having been made by crawling up over an adjacent woodshed. Hinge pins were removed and the cash drawer rifled, but only 67 cents was taken. The lone burglar pried open a tool box and removed a brace, evidently with the idea of boring through a door, a sheriff's office report said.

Sheriff John W. Connell brought two minor boys back from Seattle Monday, after they had been arrested there on a charge of burglarizing a house in the east end of this county.

Fertilizer Mixer Plant Opened Here by Cannery

Operation of a fertilizer plant was begun here recently by the E. Maling company in the old Oregon Electric depot at Third and Washington streets, leased from the railroad company.

About 25 tons of chemical fertilizer are being turned out daily at the plant, which is operated by a crew of six. Sales of the product will be made to growers supplying the cannery with vegetable and fruit products, cannery officials said. The plant has been established principally as a convenience to the farmers supplying the cannery, and is designed to produce various types of fertilizer adapted to special crops.

Chemicals and commercial products are being shipped in to Hillsboro and are being packed at the plant, with no manufacturing of materials being carried on here, it was stated.

DIETING DAUGHTERS

(By Ada R. Mayne)

Now again comes the post-holiday time when more serious thought is given to planning simple and nutritious meals, and the consideration of building health reserve for the colder months of the year.

Probably at this time the "dieting" adolescent daughter might be given a little attention, particularly after reading of a few of the astounding facts about this age period.

One startling report shows that the greatest cause for death in this age is tuberculosis. Tuberculosis is the predisposing factor of malnutrition, the inadequate feeding of the body. In addition, there is the sorry exchange of an abundance of vitality for jaded appetites, jagged nerves and the resultant slim figures.

Unfortunately, with the demand in so many ways for this slimming figure, commercial-minded people have snatched their cue. They have confronted the public with their "McCoy," "Dr. Hay," "Hausser," "Banana and Milk," vegetarian, and countless other equally one-sided diets that seem to shout, "starvation cures all." All make their victims disposed to colds, pneumonia and infection.

Above all, the maintenance of proper weight for the stature and age of the individual belongs to the realm of preventive medicine. Today there is a great need for influencing the contemporary idea of what constitutes ideal weight. This is being done to some extent in the occasional heralding of "return to moderate curves" by fashion dictators.

Sportsmanlike Driving—Don't Be Reckless

The reckless driver is a real menace. He is Public Enemy No. 23 (the Skidder boy). He weaves in and out of traffic. He drives others off the road. He drives too fast. He disregards life, limb and property. He is not a Sportsmanlike Driver. How do you drive, Mr. Motorist?

Convincing the adolescent that she is thin is no simple task, but attempting to encourage a three-meal habit (perhaps one of the first steps toward a higher standard of nutrition, providing it is well planned) is not so difficult if the appeal is made from the standpoint of attractive appearance.

It is well known that the reason for the "no breakfast" habit, in addition to "slimming" is frequently lack of time and lack of a breakfast ready to be relished.

A very light breakfast for the girl who claims no appetite, could consist of fruit, hot chocolate and whole wheat buttered toast. She will indulge in its goodness if she does not have to wait for it. Too, she finds it difficult to resist an occasional hot bread Honey Pecan Rolls baked the previous day and then pre-heated answer this challenge.

Honey Pecan Rolls
1 cake compressed yeast
4 tablespoons water
1 cup milk
1/4 cup honey
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup butter
2 1/2 to 3 cups flour
1 egg

Soften yeast in water. Scald milk, and pour over honey, salt and butter. Cool mixture to 100 degrees Fahrenheit. Sift 1 1/2 cups flour into large bowl, and add liquid mixture. Beat batter 3 minutes with wooden spoon. Add dissolved yeast. Beat mixture until bubbly. Add unbleached egg. Beat mixture thoroughly. Add enough flour to make a dough which can be handled on a board. Knead on lightly floured board until dough is smooth and elastic to the touch, small bubbles appear on surface.

Experiment with a thoroughly-enforced city speed limit of 25 miles per hour in Providence, R. I., has proved highly successful, officials of that city say. The purpose of the ordinance was to reduce the high proportion of deaths and injuries resulting from automobile accidents. The state of Rhode Island is also installing a course in safety education in every grade of every public school in the state.

Divorce Suits Filed
Florence vs. Ivan King.

Excited man, over phone—"Oh, doctor, come at once. The baby has swallowed my fountain pen."

"All right, I'll be right over," said the doctor. "What are you doing in the meantime?"

Man—"Using a pencil."

Teacher—"What was it that Sir Walter Raleigh said when he placed his crest on the muddy road for Queen Elizabeth to walk on?"

Modern Student—"Step on it kid."

Thank goodness we live in a free country, where a man may say what he thinks if he isn't afraid his wife, the neighbors, or boss will criticize him, and if he is sure it won't hurt his business or his reputation.—Ex.

Teacher—"Can any of you girls tell me what makes the tower of Pisa lean?"

Fat Student—"I don't know. If I did, I'd take some of it myself."

Hours Changed for Unemployed Registering Here

Beginning Wednesday, February 2, office hours for the state Unemployment Compensation Commission staff in Hillsboro and Forest Grove will be from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. It was announced yesterday by C. L. Hulbert, senior interviewer in charge of registration work here.

The four-man staff will continue to be in Hillsboro on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, he said, and will be in Forest Grove on Tuesdays and Thursdays. People who have registered with the commission and subsequently acquired a permanent or semi-permanent job are asked to drop a postal to the State Unemployment Compensation Commission in Hillsboro, giving their name, date they started work and the place of the job. Hulbert announced. In this way they will be spared the necessity of having to come in and report personally, and the records of the commission will be completed.

NOTHING DOING

All down one street he went without making a sale. He determined to try a new method. At the next house, a grumpy woman answered the knock.

"Have you a Charles Dickens in your home?" he asked politely.

"No!" snapped the woman.

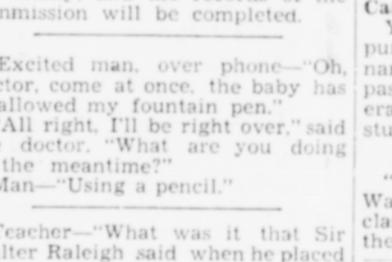

"Or a Robert Louis Stevenson?"

"No!"

"Or a Walter Scott?" continued the canvasser, hope dawning in his eyes.

"No, we ain't," said the woman, sharply. "And what's more, I don't take in lodgers. Try next door; they do."—Tit-Bits Magazine.
