The determinations give the amount of unemployment benefits to be paid each week to the individual applicant, and also the date of eligiblity for receiving the bene-fits. All reports must be checked through the Salem office, which was inundated at the start of the year with the large number of re-ports filed then for the first time. A large amount of correspondence is sometimes necessary to complete the checking on each applicant. Hulbert said.

Hillsboro headquarters for the every Monday, Wednesday and Friday, have received a number of transfers of Washington county residents who had previously been egistered with the Portland office, Hulbert revealed.
