We had to lay over on the train at Bakersfield 12 hours, then came by bus to Los Angeles and by train to Long Beach, where I am visiting and having a good time. Went to San Diego and came home through orange groves laden with fruit from top to bottom. They are very cheap and so large and sweet. I eat so many. I'm wondering if I'm beginning to look like one. Took a trip of 100 miles last week, including the Forest Lawn Memorial park, where they have a window in colors of the Last Supper. It is most beautiful. People come from great distances to see it. Weather is fine."
