

Spray Time Here, Says County Agent

Apple and pear growers in Washington county should apply the second cover spray for the control of codling moth if they have not applied such a spray within the last week, County Agent W. F. Cyrus declared yesterday.

According to word received from B. G. Thompson, assistant entomologist of the Oregon experiment station, second brood moths are now present in the orchards and eggs have been deposited. Under ordinary valley weather conditions these eggs will hatch in six or eight days. Sprays should be applied before these eggs hatch.

"Recommended spray is powdered lead arsenate used at the rate of 3 pounds to 100 gallons of water. In orchards where codling moth is not a serious problem, two pounds of powdered lead arsenate to 100 gallons of water is sufficient to give control," it was stated.

Calcium arsenate, used at the rate of 3 pounds powdered calcium arsenate to 100 gallons of water has been used successfully in the Willamette valley for codling moth control. Tests carried on by the entomology department of the Oregon Experiment station over a period of seven years indicate that under Willamette valley conditions calcium arsenate is only slightly less effective than lead arsenate in codling moth control.

Thoroughness of application is essential in codling moth control. The foliage as well as the entire surface of every apple and pear should be thoroughly covered with the spray solution if serious injury is to be prevented. Special attention should be taken in spraying the upper portion of the tree, as more than half of the codling moth eggs are laid in the upper third of the tree.

John Kassebaum Buried Monday

John Kassebaum was born June 26, 1870, in Adair county, Iowa, and died at his home in Portland July 21, at the age of 62 years and 25 days.

The deceased came to Oregon with his parents in October, 1881, and lived with them on a farm in the Bethany community until November 26, 1893, when he was united in marriage to Minnie Meyer. To this union were born four children.

In 1904 he moved his family to a farm in the Shady Brook district, where he lived for 15 years. In 1919 he retired from farming and moved to Portland, where he resided until death.

He was a member of the Woodmen of the World for approximately 35 years and a member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows for 25 years.

Surviving him are his widow; his children, Arnold and Ben Kassebaum, and Edith Phillips of Portland; and his grandchildren, Mary, Edith and Fred Kassebaum of Portland; two sisters, Annie Schindler of Bethany and Louise May of Vancouver, Wash., and five grandchildren.

Services were at the Moreland funeral home July 25, 1933. Vault entombment at Riverview Abbey, Oregon. Interment at the cemetery of Hillsboro. Rev. C. P. Gages of Portland conducted the funeral service.

Store Plans Expansion
July 17 completed the first year of the Allan Green Gable grocery and in appreciation of business received, customers were presented with slight tokens. Plans are now under way to increase floor space to better take care of the growing trade.

After a short visit with her nieces, Mrs. George Imlay and Mrs. Glen Stiff, Mrs. Flora Foster returned to her home in Portland.

Celebrate Birthday
Friends of Mrs. C. P. Blanchard, living near Barlow, gathered at her home to again celebrate her birthday. From Reedville Mrs. Christine Kelley and Margaret Imlay attended.

L. Pearson is further improving his place by adding shakes to his spacious tool house and shop.

Arthur George and family are taking a week's vacation at Rockaway. John Kirkwood is looking after the place in their absence.

Idea Lou, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hagg, had her tonsils removed by Dr. Pitman of Hillsboro last Monday.

Mrs. Eva Paul is visiting her brother, Lawrence Campbell. Mrs. Paul is also looking after business interests before returning to her home in Iowa.

Mrs. Pierce Honored
Neighbors of Mrs. Earl Pierce helped celebrate Mrs. Pierce's birthday last Tuesday. A sister, Mrs. Frank Watson of Portland, also attended.

Mrs. A. Humphrey of Seattle was a week-end visitor at the A. R. Bravender home.

A shower was given for Flora Frost, bride-elect, Thursday afternoon. Her wedding will take place in the near future. The bridegroom-to-be resides in Portland.

Ted Nault and family have just returned from a few days' vacation at DeLake, where Mr. Nault is erecting a cottage on his lot.

Rural Fires Pointed to Need Of Fire Protection District

Fires in rural territory during the past few weeks which have destroyed two barns, two grain fields, one house and one large store building with an aggregate loss conservatively estimated at more than $12,000, serve to point out need for a rural fire protection district, Wilber Dillon, Hillsboro fire marshal, declared recently.

At a meeting for formation of the district has been in progress for over a year. Several months ago a committee which included Dillon, Ashley Jackson of Cornelius and Homer Wilson, Beaverton city recorder, was named to further investigate the district plan. It was also drawn the approval of both Herman D. Kerkman, republican, and Harold G. Bond, democrat, both candidates for county judge.

Plan of the district involves setting up of machinery for a taxing unit at an election, with directors also to be chosen. The directors run the district, paying firemen out of funds derived within the districts, which would eliminate Forest Grove, Hillsboro, Cornelius and Beaverton from voting.

Tank Trucks Planned
The proposed district would include land bounded by a line five miles west of Forest Grove and five miles east of Beaverton, and parallel lines drawn five miles north and five miles south of the Tualatin Valley highway, according to the original plan proposed. Country water tank trucks would be stationed by the district in convenient centers along the highway, at Forest Grove, Hillsboro, Cornelius, Aloha and Beaverton, making them readily available for any fire within the entire area. Trucks are owned by the district, but are stored in the cities and manned by city departments in return for use of the truck if necessary.

Opposition to the plan was voiced at a subsequent meeting by a part of the Forest Grove delegation. Since that time, however, sentiment there has evidently undergone a change, since a new movement for formation of a Forest Grove fire district has been under way during recent weeks.

Larger districts are more desirable, it was pointed out, and with the whole area lying along the Tualatin Valley highway, which runs the length of the populous section of the county, a very advantageous setup could be made without exorbitant expenditure. Having the trucks along the line at convenient points would speed calls to fires and at the same time would oblivate necessity of assuring covering of firemen's costs which is required at the present time. If a truck had been stationed at Aloha, the recent fire which destroyed the Huber Mercantile company could have been extinguished before it made much headway.

Formation of a Cornelius farmer fire association last week to insure rural service was termed "a step in the right direction" by Dillon.

"However," he stated, "although we are pleased to see the interest taken by those in rural districts as shown by the Cornelius group, the most advantageous plan does not lie in the individual districts, but in the formation of a large district to include the most populous section of the county."

Under the Cornelius arrangement, members of the 46-member association pay $5 to begin with, and will pay future dues to be determined at annual meetings.

McKinney Forced to Decline Appointment

W. Verne McKinney, Argus editor, this week received a notice of "Royal Appointment" from His Imperial Highness "Eric the Red, Ruler of Titania," naming him as one of the judges of the annual Red-head Roundup contest to be held at Taft, Oregon, on Sunday, August 7. The order was signed by "Marcel Headrick" this year's "Eric the Red."

Because of a previous engagement for a local affair, however, McKinney is unable to accept the appointment, and has so notified the Taft officials.

Citation on the document notifying him of the appointment read: "Having proved himself by many tests to be thoroughly competent to pass judgment on the feminine form and to authoritatively appraise womanly beauty and charm wherever and whenever afforded the opportunity, and being possessed of a tranquil mind, prudent disposition, ability to control his emotions and an unblemished and unblemished reputation for chastity, W. Verne McKinney is hereby appointed a judge of the annual Red-head Roundup Bathing Beauty Contest to be held at Taft, Oregon."

Bride Honored at Rosedale Shower

(By Kathryn Courtney)
ROSEDALE. The recent marriage of Mrs. Herbert Schneider was the inspiration for a miscellaneous bridal shower given by the ladies of the community last Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Otto Schneider. Upon the arrival of the bride, Mrs. Carl Sjolin played Lohengrin's bridal chorus, which was a signal for the bride to usher into the guest-filled room.

The gifts were hidden in alarm clocks, which rang at intervals until the bride found them. Mrs. Sjolin sang, "The Garden of Happiness," and Mrs. Hugh Lewis, mother of the bride, played Irish selections on the piano. Mrs. Henry Hinch Jr. baked and decorated the bride's cake, which was cut by Mrs. Schneider. The ladies, as a sitting room for the afternoon, were Mesdames Fritz Meier, Bill Dodge, F. Gubler, Henry Hinch Jr. and W. M. Courtney. About 30 ladies attended the affair.

Billy Sorenson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Art Sorenson, has a badly infected foot as a result of a burn suffered from a bonfire on Fourth of July.

Miss Blanche Weiberg of Portland visited over the week-end at the home of her parents.

Mrs. O. E. Foley of Vancouver, Wash., visited over the week-end with her daughter, Mrs. W. M. Courtney, and family.

Art Sorenson and family returned from a week's vacation trip down to Grants Pass and Crescent City, Cal. They returned over the coast highway, stopping at Newport and other beaches.

Thrashing is at the height of the season now with Fritz Meier and late, making a tour of the coast and went from here to view Bonneville dam.

Roland Bigsby was taken seriously ill this week and is under a doctor's care at the Ray Ingram home in Hillsboro.

Hurt Fighting Fire
A roof fire endangered the house of E. J. Jeppesen the first of the week and in fighting it Mr. Jeppesen was injured so that he had to be treated by a doctor.

Since all logging operations were stopped by the state many loggers have gone to fight fire. Wednesday morning Verne and Warren Herd, E. Berger, Ed Simejal and Sam Strubb left for the Reedport fire.

Blackcap Harvest Ends Mt. Home

(By Mrs. Mable Allison)

MOUNTAIN HOME—Black cap berry harvest ended in this district last week, with the exception of a few protected fields where the berries are later in ripening. In several of the fields, gleaners are working, giving the owners half of the berries picked. These late berries are being sun-dried. The Springbrook drier, which took most of the local crop, received no more berries after the middle of last week. Yields in the various fields varied considerably, some holding up with last year's crop and some falling far below.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson entertained with a picnic dinner in honor of their daughter, Miss Rosealee Wilson, of Seattle July 27. Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Alec Steele of Wapato, Mr. and Mrs. James Munro, James Robb and Alice Robb, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Springer, all of Carlton; Miss Margaret Jacobs, of Portland; Miss Margaret Wilson of Newberg, and George Wilson Jr. and Dick Wilson of Mountain Home.

Mrs. Viola Hamilton received word the week before last that her brother, Jack Linn, of Chehalis, Wash., had died from a heart attack which was brought on when Linn attended the funeral of Mr. Hamilton here a few weeks ago.

Mrs. Hamilton has lost by death her daughter, her husband and now her brother in less than three months. She is a house guest at the home of her son, Percy Hamilton, at present, Headrick this year's "Eric the Red."

Because of a previous engagement for a local affair, however, McKinney is unable to accept the appointment, and has so notified the Taft officials.

Citation on the document notifying him of the appointment read: "Having proved himself by many tests to be thoroughly competent to pass judgment on the feminine form and to authoritatively appraise womanly beauty and charm wherever and whenever afforded the opportunity, and being possessed of a tranquil mind, prudent disposition, ability to control his emotions and an unblemished and unblemished reputation for chastity, W. Verne McKinney is hereby appointed a judge of the annual Red-head Roundup Bathing Beauty Contest to be held at Taft, Oregon."

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Bruce and sons Ernest and Rae entertained fifty-six members of the Newberg chapter of Eagles and auxiliary with a picnic, supper and lawn party last Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. B. I. Lukas and family and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Saunders attended a meeting of the Colard-Rodgers clan at Champoux last Sunday.

James Allison has been on a tour of Eastern Oregon with "Doc" Allen, assistant 4-H club leader. He also visited his uncle and aunt, Rev. and Mrs. S. D. Trefren, at Richfield, Idaho, while on the trip.

Mrs. M. R. Courtney and son Clifford returned the latter part of the week from Ridgefield, Wash., where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Lundquist for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Saunders, who has been staying with her daughter, Mrs. B. I. Lukas for several weeks, is much improved in health and has returned to her own home.

Wildwood Forestry club met at the home of the leader, John Schmetzer, last Wednesday for an afternoon picnic. Plans were made for an overnight camping trip August 10. The members, leader and guests expect to go to the head waters of the Tualatin river on their trip.

The Greenwood 4-H Forestry club met with their leader, Mrs. Sam Body, last Wednesday afternoon.

Chehalis Mountain 4-H potato club and Mountain Home Dairy club met at the Ray Ego home, July 15. After the business meetings were completed the children played games and elaborate refreshments were served by Mrs. Ego at a late hour.

Summer Reading Tips Given by Local Librarian

"Hillsboro People," a novel written several years ago by Dorothy Canfield, furnishes the background for a recommendation appearing in August's Readers Digest, and gives readers a lead back to prominent fiction of a few years back, according to Mrs. Georgia Smith, Hillsboro librarian.

"The article calls our attention to some of the splendid older novels which we perhaps have 'missed,' she said. 'Deeping Stream' and 'Bringing Up' are two of the many which might be mentioned which can be found on the Hillsboro library shelves.

Plummer to Talk At 4-H Picnic

O. M. Plummer, manager of the Pacific International Livestock Exposition will be principal speaker at the county 4-H picnic at Roamers' Rest next Sunday, according to O. B. Kraus, one of the 4-H leaders.

Plummer will give a talk for the club members shortly after the noon picnic dinner. Always much interested in youth activities, Plummer has been an ardent 4-H booster for many years.

Starting off the day's activities will be a softball game between club members and their leaders with the club boys once again ruling as pre-game favorites on the basis of their reputation. Over the picnic dinner, the annual picnic, also demands throwing of additional light upon the climate, people and resources of the northern European country.

Two new lighter-vein books of the current summer just arrived at the library are "Dead Don't Care" by G. Latimer and "Guilt-Edged Guilt," a thrilling mystery by Wells.

Nordhoff and Hall, the famed south-sea-island dwelling team of writers whose work included "Mutiny on the Bounty" and "The Hurricane," have produced one of their best in "Dark River," a love story of modern Tahiti which is proving popular with summer readers.

One of the best-loved books of the year, Mrs. Smith says, is "Thy Son, My Son," by Howard Spring, described as a "rich and satisfying novel of two fathers' dreams for their sons. It is easy to read with a crowded plot that is full of interest."

Registration Asked For Groner Contest

Farmers of the county who are interested in participating in the corn-production contest being sponsored by Ferd Groner of Scholls are requested to submit their names to the county agent's office, it was announced this week by L. E. Francis, assistant county agent.

Whoever raises the largest yielding acre of field corn in 1933 will receive the $25 Groner award in the contest which is to be held in conjunction with the Hillsboro Commercial National bank corn show. Groner is much interested in corn production in Washington county for several years and for the past two years has sponsored a corn growing contest among the school boys in his community. He has always been interested in progressive farming activities and his purpose in sponsoring this contest, states Francis, is to encourage better cultural methods for the production of field corn.

Exhibits in connection with this contest and the award, will be made in conjunction with the annual 4-H corn show sponsored by the Hillsboro Commercial National bank.

MAIN STREET IN DOG-HOUSE

The implement dealer boarded the west-bound Empire Builder at a North Dakota point and his story of what befell them in the dry years just past shows how your good American business man can take it.

First the banks went under then churches and schools felt the pinch and must be helped. Next came the Red. They put Main street in the dog-house with your business man a blot on the face of the earth, as they painted him. They charged all his private ownership and urged the depressed to rise and overthrow the present set-up. This went on for months with the dealers of the town standing solidly against the pressure. With this year came rain and crop in sight, which opened the way to our man to make some easy money. Implements were to be bought for a farm experiment. The agent doing the buying sent word—"Give me two per cent for mine and you get the order." But this dealer would not be in on the graft and lost the business.

How do you rate such a one as this? An overseas man, V. F. W.
