

Rally Planned Aloha Grange Hall Monday

ALOHA—A republican rally will be held at the grange hall Monday at 8 p. m.

A. M. Janssen was a member of a deer hunting party of nine for five days last week in the Ochoco Forest. Each man got his deer.

Aloha's periodical greaser spouted last Monday for the fifth time this summer. The hydrostatic wonder shot to the height of the telephone wires, attracting even the swift-flying motorist. The show was over when the defective water pipe was repaired.

Charles E. Cole and sister, Mrs. Anna Koppin, of Salem and niece, Mrs. Emma Edelin and young daughter of San Diego were guests at the C. E. Barker home Sunday.

Harry Robinson and family have moved to Salem where Mr. Robinson is employed in a machine shop. Mrs. Gale Rood and young son have returned to their home in Hillsboro, Wash. where Mr. Rood is instructor in Columbia academy.

Dr. W. D. Huntington attended the state dental convention last week in Portland.

Visitors during the past two of three weeks of Mrs. Audrey Hayes on Johnson street were her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Eldridge, and another sister, Mrs. Orlie Peterson, of Elmon, Wash. Mrs. Peterson will remain for an extended visit with relatives in Oregon. At a family reunion last Saturday in the City Park, Oregon City, there were present, besides those mentioned, Mrs. W. B. Rambo and Mrs. S. A. Miller of Oregon City. Mr. Rambo is a brother and Mrs. Miller a sister of Mrs. Hayes.

Another residence of the better class will be started soon by H. L. Subauer on Madeline street. The Vincent Lumber company was awarded the contract of furnishing all the building material as well as building the "roughing in."

Week-end visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Murphy were Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Loehner, Mrs. Jean Firth and son, Fay, of Aberdeen, Wash. Francis Murphy of Hardman, Leonard Thomas and Miss Lena Thomas of Spray, Mrs. Loehner and Francis Murphy are daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Murphy and Miss Thomas is a sister of Mrs. Pat Murphy. Mr. and Mrs. Pat Murphy and daughter Joyce of Spray are making an extended visit with Mrs. Murphy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Murphy.

Victor Kuzmin of South Bend, Ind., is making several weeks visit with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Bous. He graduated from Purdue university last June.

H. J. Schlottman of this community, Otto Schlottman of Mt. Angel and Reinhold Wirth of Yamhill county, two deer last week in Yamhill county.

Chester Swanson of Chicago is visiting his brother-in-law, and sister, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Berry. He may locate in Oregon.

Portland Turkey Market Drops Price on Birds

Although there is still a good movement of heavy home turkeys on the Portland market the price has dropped from 27 cents per pound to 24 cents. Heavy turkeys, selling last week for 25 cents a pound dropped to 22 cents indicating that the poultry buyers don't want the smaller turkeys, which take the spotlight during the Thanksgiving and Christmas marketing seasons.

In the egg market, a rather unique situation exists in that there is a price difference between the buying price for large extra and medium eggs. Local egg buyers are paying around 32 cents for extra large eggs, 25 cents for medium and 22 cents for smaller sizes.

Charles E. Cole and sister, Mrs. Anna Koppin, of Salem and niece, Mrs. Emma Edelin and young daughter of San Diego were guests at the C. E. Barker home Sunday.

School Orchestra Formed at Banks; Seniors Sponsor Dance

(By Mrs. Max Dreesen) BANKS—Jerry Walker, shop teacher of the high school, and Rev. W. F. Williams are organizing an orchestra from both grade and high schools. At the first meeting held last week 42 students met with Mr. Walker and Rev. Williams to plan for lessons and instruments. A salesman from a Portland music house showed instruments. Rev. Williams will direct the orchestra and give private lessons.

The first dance of the season will be sponsored by the high school senior class Friday night in the high school gym. Music will be furnished by the Vandyske's swing melodians. Miss Hazel Wolford, teacher at the Meadow Brook school near Molalla, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wolford, and family.

Mrs. Cliff Thompson, entertained the Ladies Aid of the Forest Grove Lutheran church Thursday. Refreshments were served to twenty-one guests.

Albert Heard left Tuesday to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Heard, in Baker. McDonald Cass Wilson of Banks and Stanley Clark of Longview left Sunday for Burns to spend a week hunting deer. Mrs. Cass Wilson will spend the week visiting her daughter, Mrs. Erna Coffey and Mrs. Evelyn Curtis in Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Parks and daughter Jeanne and Alvin Kaufman of Portland were week-end visitors at the E. H. Kaufman home in Banks.

Mrs. R. V. Highsmith and two children returned to Banks after spending the week in Portland visiting relatives.

Inter-class games of "six-man" football were played Friday afternoon. In the opening games the seniors defeated the sophomores and the freshmen defeated the freshmen. Next Friday in the afternoon the sophomores will meet the juniors and the freshmen will meet the seniors.

Rally Day Sunday "Rally day" will be next Sunday at Banks Sunday school. A program has been arranged and classes have been arranged for all ages. Everyone invited. Mrs. Bernard Sellers is superintendent.

Mothers club met Friday afternoon with Mrs. Carl Shipley. The afternoon was spent in quilting. Catherine Ederer and Mrs. George White became new members. The original charter "original" was made 25 years ago was displayed.

Lester Schlegel, who is attending Oregon State, spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Schlegel, and family.

Tap Classes Formed Miss Helen Wick of Hillsboro has organized classes of tap dancing to be held in the Legion hall Tuesday afternoon.

Visit in Iowa Mr. and Mrs. Al Gheritz and three children left Thursday for Iowa to visit several months with relatives.

Silver Dollars Found a Rarity In Travel East

(Editor's Note—Another in a series of articles by Ed O'Meara, former Oregonian, who left here recently and is now spending some time covering in a whizbang.) SOUTH BEND, Indiana, Special—Where, demanded the Oregonian restaurant customer, "Is your get out?" She balanced a silver dollar on the tip of her fingers. "You must be from out west."

"That," we told her, "is commonly used for money out in Oregon. It's a medium of exchange and called a 'Silver Dollar.' The girl still regarded the money doubtfully explaining it was the first she'd seen in months. It seems silver isn't used much in the United States for money after you get east of Utah. We promptly made the announcement to all natives of the 'middle west,' which is really the 'middle east,' that we would withdraw from the responsibility of caring for and disposing of all cast-off metallic dollars, but as yet have been made custodians of none.

Another practice calculated to upset the equilibrium of an Oregonian is the seemingly unnecessary sabbath with daylight saving time. South Bend for instance, until today used daylight savings, while the Oregonian, in contrast to the former, stuck to central standard time. At a recent one hour lesson at Notre Dame at noon, on a 10 minute ride to the center of South Bend and arrive there at 1:10 p. m. Conversely, of course you could have arrived at 11:50 a. m. if you had followed the Oregonian's lead.

Garbled accounts of West Coast geographical conditions are at no time more evident than in discussion of football returns. When Alabama played University of Southern California last Saturday the information was offered that California is a big state somewhere south of Kentucky and that it is full of trucks and oranges. Information on Oregon's southern sister, however, is much more reliable and accurate than on Oregon itself, which is "somewhere west of Nebraska." To the average Indiana native, there are four football teams on the Pacific coast—Southern California, California, St. Mary's and Washington. Oregon graders are never referred to and accounts of its size and its games can be found, if at all, summed up in one sentence.

Scouts Active Sixteen boys, two full patrols and seven part spent the week-end of the Boy Scouts who completed their organization Tuesday night of last week. "The Hawks" are led by Bob Stobley and "The Wolves" by Vernon Wood. Kenneth Norman, leader of "Troop Scribble" Gerald Acklin is scoutmaster with Jerry Walker and Rev. W. F. Williams as assistants. Committee includes B. B. Tresham, C. A. Thompson and Charles Kester.

Warren Taylor spent the week-end in Albany visiting relatives. Little Johnnie Strubich of Forest Grove visited several days last week with his grandmother, Mrs. Nora Dooley in Banks.

Beat Manning The boys' grade school indoor baseball team defeated Manning on the Banks diamond last Tuesday 9 to 4. Those on the Banks first team are Jim Brown, Bob Eberly, Howard McDaniel, Larry Walker, Ed Forest, Courley, George Kawamoto, Sammy Wakasagi, Kenneth Parmlay, Roy Promroy and Dale Deagan.

Anniversary Celebrated Mrs. Otis Johnson, Mrs. C. E. Hale, Mrs. Nora Dooley, Mrs. Mabel Williams and Mrs. William Walker attended the R. N. A. card party in Hillsboro Monday evening.

Clerk's Office Has Registration Rush

Scores of voters visited the county clerk's office Saturday afternoon and evening to take advantage of the registration deadline extended by W. A. Tupper, county clerk, to give everyone a chance to be eligible to vote at the general election November 2.

Tupper reported that he and his deputy, Ed Luce, were kept busy most of the time taking new registrations or indicating a change in the precinct.

Members of the clerk's office will have less than 30 days to enter the registrations in the poll books in time for the election. Since a running account of registered voters is not kept, the number of registered voters will not be known until a short time before the election, Tupper remarked.

In a way, however, maybe an Oregonian is just as naive. We've been around the Chicago neighborhood for over a week now, and while we didn't delight the local burghers by showing them any arrow-wood or marks of a scapular knife, we haven't seen a gangster yet.

Everything east of Iowa remains fruitful and practically untouched fields for Oregon chambers of commerce. The average citizen—which means about 97 per cent of them—has only a foggy notion of where Oregon is and believes an acre of above that it is highly productive of rain and little else. Oregon is a small place somewhere near Seattle, which is in the neighborhood of Alaska, to most of them.

When Alabama played University of Southern California last Saturday the information was offered that California is a big state somewhere south of Kentucky and that it is full of trucks and oranges. Information on Oregon's southern sister, however, is much more reliable and accurate than on Oregon itself, which is "somewhere west of Nebraska." Traffic Fatalities In Oregon Decline

A total of twenty-five motor vehicle deaths in September in Oregon shows a decline of fatalities as compared with the same month a year ago, and a net reduction of twenty-seven lives for the first ten months of 1933 over 1932. Earl Hill, secretary of state reported this week.

Accidents in which only one car was involved claimed the largest number of these deaths, while collisions with other cars or pedestrians took the second largest. Secretary Hill's campaign against pedestrian accidents is showing results in that only 16 per cent of the past three months were pedestrians. Last year pedestrian fatalities topped all other types of accidents and claimed 34 per cent of all traffic deaths.

The necessity of vigilant driving particularly at night is shown by the fact that over sixty per cent of those persons killed in September resulted from accidents occurring after nightfall. Poor visibility resulting from weather conditions, glaring headlights, and the dark clothing worn by pedestrians in the fall season are conditions every motorist should particularly guard against, warned Secretary of State Earl Hill.

Refreshments and general good time. Boys of St. Mary's were treated by St. Vincent DePaul society of Portland to tickets to the "Monastery" at the auditorium last Saturday.

A very satisfactory time and labor-saving machine has been installed in the laundry room. It is a new and improved drying tumbler. It dries 30 pounds of clothes (dry) in 20 minutes. By the old way it would take a week in cloudy weather to dry the week's laundry.

St. Mary's of the Valley The class of first year students was initiated by the juniors last Tuesday. Objects of much play and sport, the freshmen proved their eagerness to be worthy members of the student body. The day of trial closed with the serving of refreshments.

Socially assembled for a business meeting Friday. The month's program of activities was planned, after which reports were given by Marian Carlson and Darabelle Singleton.

October's sunny weather called the resident students out for a Saturday afternoon walk last week. At the end of the pleasant trail the contents of several large lunch baskets were enjoyed by the hikers.

Miss Cassilda Kraft, class of '36, has accepted a teaching position in the primary department of St. Mary's.

Rubber stamps and office supplies—Hillsboro Argus.

St. Mary's Home Last Monday one of the dormitories was converted into a temporary convalescent hospital. Dr. D. C. McDonough, county health physician; Dr. C. E. Mason of Beaverton, a county health nurse, and five nurses from St. Vincent's hospital of Portland, aided by some equipment from that institution, were kept busy during the day. The nine boys treated are getting along nicely.

The Junior Boys' Sociality held a party Sunday night with games.

EARNED LEADERSHIP

In all classes of tractor usage, "Caterpillar" Tractors stand out in distinct leadership. . . not because they are pioneers in the track-type tractor field . . . not because of any particular one of their many exclusive features. . . but because people make more money owning "Caterpillar" Tractors than any other.

"Caterpillar" Tractors earn more for their owners . . . and that alone has earned leadership for them.
