Mayor Rogers Leads Cleanup Of Hobo Jungle

Accompanied by two city policemen and a pair of Southern Pacific special agents, Mayor Hugh Rogers Thursday morning applied swift action to Hillsboro's frequently recurring hobo jungle problem. Ejected from their jungle abode just west of the city limits, the "hobo jungle" moved their bed rolls and coffee cans outside the city limits and established a new camp near the slaughter house. If they are to be evacuated from the present location, it was said, the sheriff's office must take action.

With Mayor Rogers on the jungle cleanup were Chief W. W. Weaver, Officer O. P. Nielson and S. P. Agents Maurice Coturri and J. Miles.
