Miss D. Kuratli Candidate from Phoenicia Temple

Miss Dorothy Kuratli, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Kuratli, has been named as the Goddess candidate for "Happy Days" celebration from Phoenicia Temple, Pythian Sisters, according to the committee named at the meeting of that organization Friday night. Serving on the committee were Mesdames Emma McKinney, J. W. Barney, and Roy Fields.

Preceding the temple meeting, a pot-luck dinner was served to more than 100, with Mrs. Dora Nelson and Mrs. G. R. Chapman as joint chairmen.

The degree staff decided to decline the invitation to put on a fancy drill at the annual homecoming Sunday at the Oregon-Washington Pythian Home, due to the fact that many members of the staff were unable to attend and that the staff captain and pianist, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sewell, had not at that time returned from California. Many members, however, are planning to attend the homecoming festivities.

Curiosities Displayed In the Argus Window

While digging in the woods near his home on Cornelius route 1 Albert Vandecranden dug up a mortar and pestle, which he believes were buried there by the Indians a hundred or more years ago. They are good sized, the opening of the mortar being 7 inches in diameter, and in fine condition. They may be seen in the Argus window.

L. V. Hulit who had just returned from Eastern Oregon brought to the Argus office Monday several big specimens of the Mormon cricket which he found on the highway at Arlington.

Agates and a solid ball of dried vegetation found on the Lincoln beach were brought in by Mrs. C. W. Brosher. The "straw" had been rolled by the waves into a perfect ball.

Grotesque formations of asparagus were found in a box of the vegetable brought to the Fairway market Monday by A. Santoro of near Reedville. One large sprig is curled around just like a snake and several others are long, flat and wide, and much larger than the usual asparagus stalks.
