Hazeldale Woman Hears from China

HAZELDALE—John Blacklock, writes to his sister Mrs. John Imhade, dated December 13, 1939, Tainan Shantung, China, tells of having Thanksgiving dinner in Tawenkow. "We didn't have turkey, for there are none around here, but we had a good big goose, stuffed with dressing made of chestnuts. We have lots of good things to eat. The Chinese can make more kinds of foods even than the Americans, and also eat more. A Chinese dinner will often consist of twelve or more different foods. I have eaten, 'birds nest soup' and 'sharks' tail soup,' only once as these are very expensive delicacies. The Chinese names are 'Swallow nest soup' and 'fish wing,' as they eat not only the sharks tail but his fins, 'wings' also.

"I was up to Peking this fall. It is really a great Chinese city. If you want to go shopping go to Peking. Everything is so cheap. There are all curious things of the Orient for sale in beautiful silver, gold, brass and jade. One street is called, 'Street of Jade.' There are one of the largest bazaars or markets I ever saw, where almost everything can be found from Chinese gowns to Webster's English dictionary.
