Couple Back Home From 3 Months' Trip Through East

After an extended trip of almost three months, Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Reynolds returned Friday to their home in North Plains. They made the trip by automobile and visited Mr. Reynolds' two brothers in the Black Hills of South Dakota. They were in Huron, S. D., at the time of the blizzard in the section near there, but felt no ill effects from that, although the thermometer went down to 14 below. Mr. Reynolds said they stayed in the house and kept warm.

They also visited at North Platte, Neb.; Denver, Colo.; Santa Fe, New Mexico, and it was in northern New Mexico that they encountered the most snow, with about three and a half feet being piled up on the sides of the road. Other interesting places visited were the Painted Desert, Petrified Forest, Meteor Crater, Grand Canyon, Boulder Dam, and on to Los Angeles, where they visited Mrs. Reynolds' sister. A visit in San Francisco concluded their itinerary before arriving at home.

Mrs. Engeldinger Winner in Home Xmas Decorations

Methodists Hold New Year's Eve Services Here

A large crowd attended the "Watch Night" ceremonies at the Methodist church Tuesday evening with Banks, Scholls, and Cornelius churches joining in the services. The first joint of the evening was the marriage of Miss Dorothy Sprague and Mr. Howard Helm, at 8 o'clock, with Rev. Ira Aldrich officiating.

John M. Brown, county historian, gave history of the early years of the church, and displayed many interesting relics connected with church history. The Epworth league had a social meeting downstairs, with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Malcom as advisers. Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Schreiber of the Banks and Cornelius churches, who were missionaries in Africa before coming here, showed many lantern-slide pictures of their work in that country, and assembly singing was enjoyed. Following this, refreshments were served by ladies of the church in the downstairs dining room, and from 11:15 to 12, services were conducted by Rev. F. R. Sibley of Scholls and prayer services by Rev. Aldrich.

At midnight the bell was rung by Richard A. Carille, thus ending one of the most enthusiastic "Watch Night" meetings ever held in the church.

Walker Observes 88th Birthday At Forest Grove

Samuel A. Walker, better known as "Fiddlin' Sam," is celebrating his 88th birthday anniversary today, January 2, at his home in Forest Grove. He is still in good health and enjoys playing old-time music on his violin.

Mr. Walker was born on the donation land claim of his late father, Robert Walker, in a house about a quarter of a mile from Roy, the town being built on a part of the land claim.

The Walker orchestra has been in great demand over a number of years for dances, and his first broadcast was made over the late Dr. Elmer Smith's station about 18 years ago. From that broadcast, KGW became interested and Sam Walker, the late W. G. Walker (his brother) and his son, Charles, the Walkers of Hillsboro were called upon a number of times to broadcast for that station. At that time the station didn't have NBC connections, and when KGW put on their annual Christmas program the best programs of the year were selected for the broadcast. The Walkers broadcast on the Christmas program and others, also, at the time of the Oregonian's anniversary celebration. Head of KGW at that time was Dick Haller, who is now a newspaper man in Honolulu.

Mr. Walker has two sons and one daughter, Raleigh C. Walker of Forest Grove, with whom he makes his home, Charles L. Walker of Hillsboro, and Mrs. Pearl Tausig of Honolulu, Hawaii.
