

Tualatin Singers Give Concert Sunday

Tualatin Singers will appear in an initial concert inaugurating their spring series of recitals Sunday evening in Beaverton Christian church, a combined secular and sacred concert.

Neighboring cities have evinced sufficient interest in past presentations of the popular local group that Manager Jennie Griffith has accepted singing dates in Forest Grove, Bethany, Beaverton, and Portland. There is a possibility that the chorus may be heard in Vancouver in response to a request for a return engagement. This is a result of the enthusiastic reception of the concert presented there at Christmas time.

Featured soloists for the Sunday evening programs are Mrs. Walter Foster of Hillsboro, Miss Roberta Whalley, Beaverton, Director Louise Doss of Eugene, and pianist, Byrle Kemp of Hillsboro.

Further particulars for the appearances of the Tualatin Singers in Hillsboro during Music Week will be announced in next week's issue of the Argus.

Several members of Hillsboro people are planning to go to Beaverton to hear the program.

Sunday, April 27, the chorus will sing in the Forest Grove Christian church.
