noised, negotiations are under way to sign up one and possibly more entertainers.

Jimmy Whetmore and his 11-piece orchestra have been engaged to supply music for various dances scheduled on the three-day program. Contract arrangements are being made, moreover, with another orchestra to offer variety for those who like dancing.

Three military bands—Bethany, Forest Grove and B. W. Barnes school—have agreed to play in free concerts at the park. Also on the traditional part of the program are a Fourth of July parade, flag-raising ceremony and patriotic program in Shute pavilion, ball game every day, an extravagant fireworks display on the night of July 4, carnival attractions including a larger number of rides and concessions than ever before and free picnicking.

County Launches
Road Oiling

Oiling of Washington county roads was under way this week with county crews and equipment looking ahead to about two months' work, according to Judge H. D. Kerkman. Some 80 miles of road are to be treated, it was said.

New non-skid layers are being applied to some hard surface roads while applications of heavy oil are to top most gravel roads on the summer work program, he announced.

Organization of a trained force of fire-fighters is a task requiring careful planning in advance. London started training fire-fighters some two years prior to Britain's entry in the war, but lack of any central training system has since caused the British fire departments no end of trouble, the guest speaker declared. In the United States, however, a nation-wide plan has been adopted under which each volunteer fire-fighter will be given the same training as every other one and specially trained teachers will be in charge of instructing these men.

Fire Marshal Wilbur Dillon, chairman of the day, introduced the speaker.

Visitors at the A. Reusser home over the week-end were his daughter Edna, Mr. and Mrs. V. J. Griffith and baby daughter Susan, of Klamath Falls. Mrs. Griffith was formerly Florence Reusser.
