

Fall Football Classic

This Week, This World

TICKLERS By John Sunley

Baptist Pastor To Hold Revivals

Headlines in the News
Tell Tragic Story

Headlines in the daily press of the last two weeks tell a tragic story, one that may spell disaster for this country and carry with it the very people involved in these work stoppages.

- "Strike of welders closes defense plants in Seattle."
- "Aluminum workers back mediation plan rejection."
- "President rebuffed by Lewis."
- "Sec. and plea to reopen coal mines turned down; third made."
- "F. D. R. Studies Labor Laws."
- "O. P. M. Enters Welder Strike."
- "Coal Strike Cuts Steel Output."
- "Lewis and F. R. Near Showdown."
- "Long Distance Phone Lines Workers Put Strike Issue Up to Defense Board."
- "Conference Slated in Effort to Prevent Phone Strike."
- "Shipbuilding Hit by Strike."
- "Sympathy Strike Threat Rumored."
- "Dockmen Vote for Walkout."
- "C. I. O. Bans Port Shipping."
- "Rail Unions Sound Call for Strike."
- "President Asks Teamsters' Chief to Order Detroit Strikers Back."
- "Building Men Plan Strike."
- "Solon Drafts Bill Aimed at Curbing Defense Strikes."

If this country is to carry on, prepare its defenses and be equipped to stop the aggressions of power-mad Hitler, President Roosevelt should first of all take every possible step to end such industrial turmoil. At the same time he should take upon himself a good deal of blame for some of his ultra liberal policies, which seem to be coming home to roost and consequently interfere with the defense program.

Any fair-minded person favors good wages and good working conditions for all, but racketeering efforts can do no less than pave the way to chaos.

Restoration of pure science courses to the University of Oregon may be sound action from an educational standpoint as the board states. However, if such a correction is necessary, it seems that a proper move also would be for the board of higher education to restore the school of commerce to Oregon State college so that it may more nearly come up to qualifications as a land grant college. When duplications were eliminated in the one-system plan, the college lost its largest school, that of commerce. If one injury is to be corrected others should be quickly adjusted.

Herr Hitler takes all prizes for screwy reasoning when he charges that President Roosevelt will be to blame for the sinking of American ships. In other words the frightful Nazi leader takes the stand that everyone is out of step but himself and that any sort of frightfulness on the part of the Nazis is beyond reproach as long as it furthers their objectives.

Money spent at home remains to circulate again and makes for greater business and greater payrolls. Doing unto others as one would have others do unto them, no matter what line of business, is always a worthwhile thing that in the long run produces dividends in goodwill if nothing else. This applies particularly to people in business or the professions.

Support Firemen's Ball

Wholehearted support of the people of this community should be given to the Hillsboro firemen next Wednesday in their annual firemen's ball, a traditional event, at the Shute auditorium for many years. The firemen serve you faithfully throughout the year in good weather and bad and are on call at any time of day or night. The least that anyone can do is to purchase a ticket to the ball. Help them, they help you.

The Red Cross needs and wants the membership of everyone possible from Washington county. Remember take out your membership at home and not sometime while in Portland for this county needs the benefit of your membership on its own quota. It is also requested that husbands and wives each take a membership—not just one membership to a family.

Hilli's big game of the year, the traditional Turkey Day struggle with Forest Grove, comes up next week at the Grove and the boys should have your support and attendance. The boys have had a good season and truly deserve your encouragement next Thursday.

In Days Gone By

Fifteen Years Ago
Argus, November 11, 1926—World war veterans celebrate Armistice Day. W. V. Cowan, former assistant district attorney here, is principal speaker.

Herman Meierjurgens elected to membership in honor society at U. of O.
Deaths—Mrs. Alice P. Manley here Friday. Mrs. J. A. Zimmerman here Tuesday. Rasmus Rasmussen at Aloha Sunday. William C. Teague at Aloha Tuesday.

Thirty Years Ago
Argus, November 9, 1911—Gaston holds mass meeting to nominate city officers.
Paving bonds sold to Warren Bros.
Hillsboro and Forest Grove business men hold "love feast" at Grove.
Hillsboro school has big increase in enrollment. Need of greater facilities seen.
Weddings—Julius Schoenberg of North Plains and Mrs. Lena Rouds of Hillsboro November 7.

Forty-five Years Ago
Argus, November 12, 1896—Bethany band is now one of the best, if not the best, in the county.

HILLSBORO ARGUS

Hillsboro Argus, 1894—Independent, 1873, Consolidated

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

Published Every Thursday by McKinney & McKinney

Entered as 2nd-class matter in the postoffice at Hillsboro, Ore.

Selected as Oregon's Best Weekly Newspaper, 1939-1936

OFFICIAL NEWSPAPER OF WASHINGTON COUNTY

Subscription Rates Strictly Cash in Advance

Per Year (in Washington County) $2.50

Outside Wash. County $2.50 Outside U. S. $3.50

Member: Oregon State Editorial Association and National Editorial Association

Largest A. B. C. Weekly Circulation in the West

MEMBERS OF STAFF

W. VERNER McKINNEY Editor-Manager

EMMA C. McKINNEY Associate Editor

Ed. C. Cowan Editor

Advertising Manager

Editorial Assistant

Editorial Assistant

Editorial Assistant

Editorial Assistant

Editorial Assistant

Editorial Assistant

Editorial Assistant

Editorial Assistant

Editorial Assistant

Editorial Assistant

Editorial Assistant

Editorial Assistant

Editorial Assistant

Editorial Assistant

Editorial Assistant

Editorial Assistant

Editorial Assistant

Editorial Assistant

Editorial Assistant

Editorial Assistant

Editorial Assistant

Editorial Assistant

Editorial Assistant

Editorial Assistant

Editorial Assistant

Editorial Assistant

Editorial Assistant

(By Ted Friend)

A new pernicious form of whispering campaign is being introduced into the United States by fifth columnists and their fellow-travelers. It is designed to instill fear and uncertainty by breeding suspicion, distrust and antagonism among Americans.

To achieve the greatest possible measure of disunity, a large fifth column staff of personable-looking men and women has been employed to travel from community to community, ostensibly on business or pleasure.

The duty of these "units," working generally in groups of two or three only, is to operate wherever people congregate—in hotel lobbies, railway stations, public vehicles, office building elevators and the like.

The insidious job of these well-dressed, well-spoken, important-looking groups, usually consisting of two men and a woman working together, is to speak sufficiently above a whisper to be overheard by those nearby. Invariably the stock topics of conversation include the hopelessness of the British military position, the might of the Nazis, the inefficiency of the administration, the advantages of dictatorship, etc. Seeds of distrust are cast to throw labor and capital at each other's throats, to arouse religious groups against each other and to stimulate sectionalism of one sort or another. Any prejudice instilled is considered a definite gain.

Of all forms of fifth column activity, the most vicious and difficult to fight is the whispering campaign, particularly if it succeeds in infecting well meaning innocents. Aside from actual arrest by state and federal authorities, only one effective means of countering it exists. That is—counter-organization.

This formation of groups in each community, and each part of the population, representing in equal parts every segment of the population, irrespective of religion, creed, race, previous nationality, or economic and social position, is suggested as a means of not only defeating the malefactors but also as an instrument of protecting and nurturing the ideals of democracy.

The name suggested for these groups, which any upstanding citizen can take pride in organizing in his own community, is "The Weeds Pullers." Recommended as a set of ideals to guide them in their good works, is to trilogy made up of the "Golden Rule" from the New Testament, the "Ten Commandments" from the Old Testament, and the "Bill of Rights."

SALEM—Still the pressure for a special session of the state legislature continues. This, too, in spite of the fact that Governor Sprague has declared that he does not propose to convene the legislature unless some one can produce a program for correction of the evils of which the petitioners complain.

A group of state senators—four of them—have joined in a petition for legislative action to provide tax relief for small home owners and small farmers.

Portland apartment house owners want to be included in the tax relief program.

Petitions filed by 55 Portland civic organizations join in the plea.

Representative Neuberger wants relief for the taxpayers and bigger pensions for the aged; also higher salaries for school teachers.

Community clubs of Polk county want the legislature to enact legislation authorizing county courts to control construction work in rural areas.

And so it goes. Every straw indicates a flood of legislative proposals once the gates are opened.

Some friends of the governor are now arguing that it would be a good political move to call the session even though they are convinced that no good would come out of it. Such a move, they argue, would relieve the administration of any responsibility for failure to amend the assessment and taxation laws and shift the burden to the shoulders of the lawmakers.

Another group that has joined in the demand for a special session is the interim committee on taxation which wants money with which to hire a staff of research experts to come into Oregon and take the state's tax structure apart to find out what ails it, if any.

The regular session which created this committee neglected to give it any fund and the emergency board at Salem also turned down its request for an appropriation.

The Oregon Economic Council has turned its attention toward the problem of rehabilitating the Tillamook burn area. W. H. Crawford, director of the council, has invited the Tillamook court to meet with the council and other state officials to discuss the situation with a view to formulating plans for reforestation of the area or dividing it into small farms.

Meeting here Wednesday at the call of Governor Sprague the Oregon Economic Council took steps to head off the threatened shutdown of the state's logging and lumbering industry which has been hit due to the slump in building activities. Due to priority rulings, Sawmill operators attending the meeting declared that they would be compelled to shut down indefinitely unless an outlet was provided for their product. It was estimated that at least 20,000 logging and lumber workers in this state would be thrown out of work this winter unless a modification can be had in the priorities ruling which will permit resumption of construction activities.

Oregon will conform to the

from the constitution of the United States!

"Weed Pullers" There can be no finer task than to pull obnoxious weeds from the garden of American ideals.

Confidentially: If you want a key post in the government—see Vice President Wallace, who is known as vice-president in charge of home affairs and appointments.

F. D. R. is concentrating on war and war production while Wallace attends to domestic affairs.

Mrs. Frances Perkins has actually submitted her resignation, but the president has pigeon-holed it, as usual.

Automobiles are to be rationed next year, and it may be necessary to obtain a "certificate of necessity" from a government agency to purchase a car. Sales will be limited to doctors, defense workers, taxi drivers, etc.

Paul V. McNutt will succeed Fiorello LaGuardia as head of Civilian Defense and Morale.

Knudsen is slated to be "kicked upstairs" in the form of a "promotion" when he is given the complete charge of tank production.

Quotations from German and Italian statements made just one year ago! In the Nazi press: "The London population is so unnerfed that endless hordes have streamed from the city day and night. England's airplane production is almost a complete standstill."

On the Italian radio, "In Egypt our columns are advancing to the Suez Canal to set it free. Tomorrow they will be at the delta of the Nile."

In the Munchener Neueste Nachrichten: "German-Russian relations are considered to be one of the foundations of the New World Order."

In the Breslau papers: "The whole of the British people are in the most grievous straits of their existence. On every field their cause has been lost, nowhere more decisively than at home."

In the Volksischer Beobachter: "The Polish peasantry, under German leadership, is for the first time finding an existence worthy of a human being."

Notes on the above: London still stands the British are just beginning to gather their full strength; England's airplane production is now equal to that of Germany's; the Suez and the Nile are in Allied hands and Italy has been all but put out of the war; Russia is keeping with the double-crossed and two million dead, of which half are Nazis, litter its fields; more than 180,000 Poles have been executed, imprisoned, placed in concentration camps or impressed into the forced-labor battalions of their Nazi conquerors!

With all the means of transportation being called into service in the emergency, the central motor transportation committee is requesting congress to remove the weight and size limitation on trucks operating in interstate commerce.

The legislation is designed to authorize interstate commerce commission, and has the approval of that body. Oregon is one of the states having restrictions and which would be affected if such a law is enacted. The case of Oregon has been considered by office of production management and also by the white house, and it has been suggested that the restrictions be eliminated as an emergency measure. These views were sent to Governor Charles A. Sprague a month ago. The state highway commission agreed to the proposal last winter but the legislation rejected it, due to railroad influence, it is alleged. The transportation problem is now of greater importance than when the legislature was in session last January and transportation division of OPM is desirous of smoothing the way for the trucks. Owing to restrictions, trucks entering Oregon must stop at the state line and remove part of their load.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Pulp and paper mills of the northwest are "tops" with the office of production management. This is one industry which has not indulged in a strike since the preparations for war started. Other industries (lumber, shipyards, etc.) have had disturbances which have slowed down production and interfered with the national defense program, but the pulp and paper mills have sailed along without a rift. These northwest mills are playing an important role for with the stoppage of material from Europe there is an increased demand upon their facilities. Annoyances must be put up with, however, such as the withdrawal of vessels which brought sulphur into the northwest from Texas, and the reduction in the amount of chemicals which the mills have been using.

With all the means of transportation being called into service in the emergency, the central motor transportation committee is requesting congress to remove the

weight and size limitation on trucks operating in interstate commerce.

The legislation is designed to authorize interstate commerce commission, and has the approval of that body. Oregon is one of the states having restrictions and which would be affected if such a law is enacted. The case of Oregon has been considered by office of production management and also by the white house, and it has been suggested that the restrictions be eliminated as an emergency measure. These views were sent to Governor Charles A. Sprague a month ago. The state highway commission agreed to the proposal last winter but the legislation rejected it, due to railroad influence, it is alleged. The transportation problem is now of greater importance than when the legislature was in session last January and transportation division of OPM is desirous of smoothing the way for the trucks. Owing to restrictions, trucks entering Oregon must stop at the state line and remove part of their load.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Pulp and paper mills of the northwest are "tops" with the office of production management. This is one industry which has not indulged in a strike since the preparations for war started. Other industries (lumber, shipyards, etc.) have had disturbances which have slowed down production and interfered with the national defense program, but the pulp and paper mills have sailed along without a rift. These northwest mills are playing an important role for with the stoppage of material from Europe there is an increased demand upon their facilities. Annoyances must be put up with, however, such as the withdrawal of vessels which brought sulphur into the northwest from Texas, and the reduction in the amount of chemicals which the mills have been using.

With all the means of transportation being called into service in the emergency, the central motor transportation committee is requesting congress to remove the

weight and size limitation on trucks operating in interstate commerce.

The legislation is designed to authorize interstate commerce commission, and has the approval of that body. Oregon is one of the states having restrictions and which would be affected if such a law is enacted. The case of Oregon has been considered by office of production management and also by the white house, and it has been suggested that the restrictions be eliminated as an emergency measure. These views were sent to Governor Charles A. Sprague a month ago. The state highway commission agreed to the proposal last winter but the legislation rejected it, due to railroad influence, it is alleged. The transportation problem is now of greater importance than when the legislature was in session last January and transportation division of OPM is desirous of smoothing the way for the trucks. Owing to restrictions, trucks entering Oregon must stop at the state line and remove part of their load.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Pulp and paper mills of the northwest are "tops" with the office of production management. This is one industry which has not indulged in a strike since the preparations for war started. Other industries (lumber, shipyards, etc.) have had disturbances which have slowed down production and interfered with the national defense program, but the pulp and paper mills have sailed along without a rift. These northwest mills are playing an important role for with the stoppage of material from Europe there is an increased demand upon their facilities. Annoyances must be put up with, however, such as the withdrawal of vessels which brought sulphur into the northwest from Texas, and the reduction in the amount of chemicals which the mills have been using.

With all the means of transportation being called into service in the emergency, the central motor transportation committee is requesting congress to remove the

weight and size limitation on trucks operating in interstate commerce.

The legislation is designed to authorize interstate commerce commission, and has the approval of that body. Oregon is one of the states having restrictions and which would be affected if such a law is enacted. The case of Oregon has been considered by office of production management and also by the white house, and it has been suggested that the restrictions be eliminated as an emergency measure. These views were sent to Governor Charles A. Sprague a month ago. The state highway commission agreed to the proposal last winter but the legislation rejected it, due to railroad influence, it is alleged. The transportation problem is now of greater importance than when the legislature was in session last January and transportation division of OPM is desirous of smoothing the way for the trucks. Owing to restrictions, trucks entering Oregon must stop at the state line and remove part of their load.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Pulp and paper mills of the northwest are "tops" with the office of production management. This is one industry which has not indulged in a strike since the preparations for war started. Other industries (lumber, shipyards, etc.) have had disturbances which have slowed down production and interfered with the national defense program, but the pulp and paper mills have sailed along without a rift. These northwest mills are playing an important role for with the stoppage of material from Europe there is an increased demand upon their facilities. Annoyances must be put up with, however, such as the withdrawal of vessels which brought sulphur into the northwest from Texas, and the reduction in the amount of chemicals which the mills have been using.

With all the means of transportation being called into service in the emergency, the central motor transportation committee is requesting congress to remove the

weight and size limitation on trucks operating in interstate commerce.

The legislation is designed to authorize interstate commerce commission, and has the approval of that body. Oregon is one of the states having restrictions and which would be affected if such a law is enacted. The case of Oregon has been considered by office of production management and also by the white house, and it has been suggested that the restrictions be eliminated as an emergency measure. These views were sent to Governor Charles A. Sprague a month ago. The state highway commission agreed to the proposal last winter but the legislation rejected it, due to railroad influence, it is alleged. The transportation problem is now of greater importance than when the legislature was in session last January and transportation division of OPM is desirous of smoothing the way for the trucks. Owing to restrictions, trucks entering Oregon must stop at the state line and remove part of their load.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Pulp and paper mills of the northwest are "tops" with the office of production management. This is one industry which has not indulged in a strike since the preparations for war started. Other industries (lumber, shipyards, etc.) have had disturbances which have slowed down production and interfered with the national defense program, but the pulp and paper mills have sailed along without a rift. These northwest mills are playing an important role for with the stoppage of material from Europe there is an increased demand upon their facilities. Annoyances must be put up with, however, such as the withdrawal of vessels which brought sulphur into the northwest from Texas, and the reduction in the amount of chemicals which the mills have been using.

With all the means of transportation being called into service in the emergency, the central motor transportation committee is requesting congress to remove the

weight and size limitation on trucks operating in interstate commerce.

The legislation is designed to authorize interstate commerce commission, and has the approval of that body. Oregon is one of the states having restrictions and which would be affected if such a law is enacted. The case of Oregon has been considered by office of production management and also by the white house, and it has been suggested that the restrictions be eliminated as an emergency measure. These views were sent to Governor Charles A. Sprague a month ago. The state highway commission agreed to the proposal last winter but the legislation rejected it, due to railroad influence, it is alleged. The transportation problem is now of greater importance than when the legislature was in session last January and transportation division of OPM is desirous of smoothing the way for the trucks. Owing to restrictions, trucks entering Oregon must stop at the state line and remove part of their load.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Pulp and paper mills of the northwest are "tops" with the office of production management. This is one industry which has not indulged in a strike since the preparations for war started. Other industries (lumber, shipyards, etc.) have had disturbances which have slowed down production and interfered with the national defense program, but the pulp and paper mills have sailed along without a rift. These northwest mills are playing an important role for with the stoppage of material from Europe there is an increased demand upon their facilities. Annoyances must be put up with, however, such as the withdrawal of vessels which brought sulphur into the northwest from Texas, and the reduction in the amount of chemicals which the mills have been using.

With all the means of transportation being called into service in the emergency, the central motor transportation committee is requesting congress to remove the

weight and size limitation on trucks operating in interstate commerce.

The legislation is designed to authorize interstate commerce commission, and has the approval of that body. Oregon is one of the states having restrictions and which would be affected if such a law is enacted. The case of Oregon has been considered by office of production management and also by the white house, and it has been suggested that the restrictions be eliminated as an emergency measure. These views were sent to Governor Charles A. Sprague a month ago. The state highway commission agreed to the proposal last winter but the legislation rejected it, due to railroad influence, it is alleged. The transportation problem is now of greater importance than when the legislature was in session last January and transportation division of OPM is desirous of smoothing the way for the trucks. Owing to restrictions, trucks entering Oregon must stop at the state line and remove part of their load.

At the close of his evening service in the First Baptist church here the Rev. W. T. Magford, the pastor will leave Portland at 11:30 p. m. for Mt. Vernon, Wash., where he will open a revival campaign in the Immanuel Swedish Baptist church Monday evening, November 17.

Upon his return he will begin another series of Evangelistic services in the Bethany Baptist church at Bethany.

During his absence his wife will occupy the pulpit one Sunday. Mrs. Magford is a licensed Baptist minister. The second Sunday Dr. F. W. Starring, secretary of the Oregon Baptist state convention, will be the speaker at both services.

The local young people of the church will put on the radio broadcast over KVAN in Vancouver during the pastor's absence under the direction of Paul Frantz. The minister will be back in his pulpit Sunday, December 7.

nedas, 8 p. m.—Rev. W. T. Magford, pastor.

Hillsboro Methodist—Harvest Home and Thanksgiving Day services at the Methodist church Sunday, Sunday school, 9:45, morning worship at 11, sermon: "The Blessing of the Lord Maketh Rich." Special music by the choir. Miss Helen Dean will be soloist. Following this morning service there will be a pot-luck dinner to which all members and friends are invited. Epworth League, 6:30. Young People's hour, Evening Gospel hour, 7:30. Sermon: "Fruit." The Epworth League will furnish several musical numbers. The choir will sing an anthem. Harvest decorations. Prayer meeting Thursday, 7:30 p. m.—Dr. H. F. Pemberton, pastor.

St. Peter's Lutheran, Blooming—Dinner services, 10 a. m.; Sunday school, 9:45 a. m.; sermon, Nov. 16, "Man in the Image of God." Thanksgiving services, Nov. 20, 10 a. m. Lutheran Hour, 1 p. m. Sunday station KALE.—E. W. Hinrichsen, pastor.

Bethany Baptist—Sunday: Sunday school, 9:45 a. m.; worship, 11 a. m., choir anthem and organ; sermon, "The Desire of All Nations."—Hag. 2:7; children's sermon, "Sings-As-He-Walks." Young people's meeting, 7:30 p. m. Miss Margery Graf, president; evangelistic and praise service, 8 p. m.; sermon, "Charge That to My Account."—J. C. Schweitzer, minister.

All Saints—Friday: Holy Communion requiem, 7:30 a. m. Sunday Holy Communion, 6:15 and 7:30 a. m. Church school, 9:45 a. m. Service and sermon, 11 a. m. Young People's Fellowship, 6:30 p. m. Guest speaker, Glen Hieber, assistant district attorney, Washington county.—Newton Penberthy, vicar.

Zion Lutheran—Dinner services Sunday, 9:30 a. m. and vesper services, 8 p. m. Sunday school, Monday, 9 a. m. Lutheran Hour, station KALE, 1:30 p. m. Sunday.—O. J. Wendling (vacancy pastor).

First Baptist—Gospel Crusaders broadcast, Station KVAN; Sunday school, 9:45 a. m.; worship service, 11 a. m.; sermon, "The Psalm of the Saint," the fourth in a series of sermons on the twenty-third Psalm. Baptist Boosters and the Young People's, 7 p. m. Evangelistic service, 8 p. m.; sermon "The Armageddon War." This is the last great war? Will America fight in Battle of Armageddon? Is this present conflict the battle of Armageddon? Come and hear this prophetic message. Midweek prayer service Wednesday, 7:30 p. m.

Free Methodist—Sunday school, 10 a. m.; worship, 11 a. m.; afternoon service at 2, prayer meeting, 7:30 p. m., Wednesday.—A. M. Ramey, pastor.

Aloha Community Baptist—Sunday school, 10 a. m.; morning worship at 11; B. Y. P. U., 7 p. m. Prayer meeting, 8 p. m., Wednesday.—B. Marcus Godwin, pastor.

Aloha Assembly of God—Sunday school, 10 a. m.; worship, 11 a. m.; young people, 6:30 p. m.; evangelistic, 7:45 p. m., Thursday.—J. F. Gibson, minister.

Reedville Community Presbyterian—Sunday school, 10 a. m., Mrs. Otto George, superintendent; worship service, 11 a. m.; young people, C. E., 7 p. m. Prayer meeting and Bible study, Thursday 7 p. m. Women's Missionary society meets the 4th Thursday of each month at 2 p. m. Harry Hampton, student-pastor.

Tualatin Plains Presbyterian—Sunday services, 11 a. m.; Sunday school, 10 a. m.; C. E., 8 p. m.; Missionary society last Wednesday of each month, 2 p. m.—J. F. Gibson, minister.

Methodist (Bethany)—On Germantown road, Service every Sunday, 10 a. m.; Sunday school, 11 a. m.—John Place, pastor.

First Church of Christ, Scientist—Services every Sunday at 11; Sunday school at 11. Wednesday services, 8 p. m. Free reading room open Wednesday and Saturdays, 2 until 4 p. m. Sunday's topic is: "Mortals and Immortals."

Church of Jesus Christ Latter Day Saints—Sunday school, 10 a. m., American Legion hall.—Elders Jensen and Hanson, missionaries.

Christian—Lord's Day morning unified study-worship services, 9:45-12. Church school, 9:45. Worship service, 10:45, music by choir.

Congregational—"The highest that can be paid to anyone" is the subject of Dr. A. J. Sullens' sermon at the 11 a. m. worship service. Special music by mixed quartet consisting of Mrs. Clyde Yount, Mrs. W. J. Enschede, Wesley Foster, and C. T. Richardson. Church school at 10 a. m. Young People's Pilgrim Fellowship meeting, 7 p. m., with Nancy Easter as leader.

Trinity Lutheran—Worship, 10:30 a. m.; Sunday school, 9:30. Sermon, "God and Government"—Matt. 22. Over KALE Choir meet, for rehearsal every Thursday at 8 p. m.

What would happen if I enlisted in the U. S. Navy and became sick? You would receive the finest medical care from trained Navy doctors and surgeons absolutely free.

When do I get my first leave after I have enlisted? In a few weeks after you have completed your Recruit training period.

Who pays for my meals and carfare when I am first sent to a U. S. Navy Training Station? The Navy furnishes you all transportation and meals.

If I attend a Navy Trade School, how many hours a week of school work will I have? Navy men in Trade Schools are given thirty-two hours of school work a week and about three hours of night watches.

Does a bluejacket have to pay for his own food and board on his Navy pay? No. The Government gives you excellent food and board free.

If I join the Naval Reserve, how long must I serve? Naval Reservists serve for four years. Reservists will be returned to civil life as soon as possible after the National Emergency is over, so that the term of active service may be less than 4 years.

Does the Navy offer retirement pay? Yes, it is possible for an enlisted man to receive as much as $133.75 a month in retirement pay.

What is the cost of torpedoes used by our Navy? Modern U. S. Navy torpedoes cost from $6,000 to $15,000 each. They are 21 inches