Benefit Program Held West Union School Monday

WEST UNION—The program and basket social Monday evening at the school was well attended. About $25 was made.

The following program was given: Flag salute, followed by "Star Spangled Banner," by all; welcome, James Jacobson; "The House That Jack Built," primary grades; "The Meanest Boy," Jeanne Chown; "Why Sambo Went Home," playlet; "Any Bonds Today," Joan Mustonen; "Love of Country," Jean Pubols; "Spirit of Red Cross," play; "Freckles," Gordon Pubols; "Radio Recipes," skit; "Giddy Girls," play by six boys; "Come Let Us Give Thanks," song; "We Are Americans," play; "Patsy Entertains," Joan Mustonen, and "Good Night," Donald Imbrie.

The proceeds will be used to buy a hot plate, as hot lunches are to be served through the cooperation of the welfare board. The balance will be used to apply on a drinking fountain, as soon as the water is piped to the schoolhouse.

Visit Relatives

Mrs. Arthur Boyd and daughter Frances Ann of Bellingham, Wash., are spending the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Odell.

Carl Bechen and James Imbrie have returned from a five-day hunting trip to Klamath Falls. Mrs. J. C. Bechen accompanied them to Bend.

Jean Muir, accompanied by the photographer of the Journal, took pictures at school Wednesday of all pupils and several of the plays given at the Armistice day program. They will appear in connection with the historical story of this school and district.

Sherwood's Mayor Oldest in Service

sound, everybody made a run for the hose cart, got the hose strung out, then the pump going, a sort of rocker bar proposition that required two men, at back breaking work, to keep it going. The men had to be relieved every five minutes.

The first telephone lines were simply tacked on the sides of fir trees, more or less grounded all the time, and everytime the wind blew and sent myriads of limbs hurtling downward, there was no service until the trouble shooter went out with his pole and straightened things out. The electric light plant consisted of a small generator, driven by a gas engine. It made an excellent curfew because, every night, promptly at ten, the one man owner and operator, blinked out the lights and went home to bed. He thought he had to keep open until ten because the stores did, just in case some farmer drove in to get a box of crackers or a collar pad (horse).

Young Morback's first job was in a brick plant that folded in three years. Then he went to work for Smock in the store, married the boss' daughter, later bought out his father-in-law and carried on the business nearly 25 years. After selling the store he was associated, at one time or other with most of the town's business affairs. He bought out, improved and operated the telephone system, the electric plant, served as director of the town's first bank, later became its president—still owns a large block of stock, and at present carries on a general insurance business in the bank and "helps out the boys when they are rushed." At one time he operated a large onion warehouse.

During all these years he has always been active in the civic life of the community, serving as councilman, recorder and mayor. First elected mayor in 1915, he is now in his 26th year, being dean of all mayors in point of years served, but not by any great margin. Oddly enough, just four miles away is Tualatin and its mayor, John Nyberg, who is hot on Morback's heels for long service honors with better than 24 years to his credit. What a chin fest these old cronies have when they get together!

So the years have spun away, 52 of them, and Sherwood is a modern little town. Justly proud is Mayor Morback and the 440 inhabitants of the paved streets, storm and sanitary sewers, the schools, churches, canneries—all the up-to-date things about the town, including a modern fire truck and water system that always tests A1. "It's a dandy place to live," says the mayor, "we're just off the hustle of the highway, but all the busses come in here and we have fine service." The residents back him up.

Penney Building Addition Started

Construction started last week on a 45 by 30-foot one-story storage addition to the rear of the J. C. Penney store building in Hillsboro which is owned by Miss Jennie Cahill.

The room, which is being built at a cost of approximately $1500, will double the store's storage space, according to Manager P. A. Anderson. Contractor Adolph Mohr expects to have the job completed within two weeks.

Ford Dealer Quits Operation of Station

The MacKenzie Motor company in Hillsboro this week announced it is discontinuing operation of MacKenzie's Associated service station at 214 E. Baseline street. Tide Water Associated company will continue to operate the station, according to H. L. MacKenzie, owner of the local Ford garage.

Gene O'Connor and Bob Corrieri, who have been operating the service station, will be transferred to the garage. MacKenzie had operated the service station for approximately six months.
