

Reception Draws Large Crowd at Phoenicia Temple

A large crowd attended the annual home-coming of Phoenicia Temple, and the reception for Fred J. Sewell, grand vice-chancellor and Mrs. Estella Johnson, G. M. of F.

Circuit Judge R. Frank Peters paid a high tribute to Mr. Sewell's work in the Knights of Pythias and Pythian Sisters orders in an after-dinner speech, and Mrs. Johnson was presented with a gift from the Past Chief's club, the president, Mrs. Sewell, making the presentation.

The program which followed dinner included vocal solos by Frances Campion, accompanied by Mrs. Sewell; violin solos by Mrs. Charles Tyler, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Sewell, and the singing of "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," dedicated to Mr. Sewell, by the audience. A special feature was a drill by the degree staff in which they made in march formation the letters F-R-E-E-D, with Mrs. H. H. Stannard giving an original verse symbolic of Mr. Sewell's work in the temple as each letter was formed. At the conclusion of this degree, he was elected to the station of most excellent chief, where he was presented a life membership in Phoenicia Temple, Mrs. Estella Johnson making the presentation.

Mrs. Sewell, who has been musician during Mr. Sewell's 25 years as staff captain, was presented with a lovely corsage.

A receiving line was formed, headed by Mr. Sewell and Mrs. Johnson, who received the felicitations of those present. Out-of-town honored members in receiving line were Mrs. Elsie Damm of near Monmouth, charter member, and Mrs. Barbara Graves of Portland, supreme representative.

Closed Shop in Fruit is Sought

(By John Kelly)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 18.—Dave Beck of Seattle, who was charged with Al Rosser with being a conspirator in the operation of "goon squads" in Oregon, has called on his teamsters union to boycott Yakima valley fruit because he wants a closed shop, which is what John L. Lewis demanded of the captive coal mines. Mr. Beck (Rosser is now serving a term in Oregon penitentiary for his part in the conspiracy) will probably soon find himself up against labor legislation which will curb strikes and the closed shop movement until after the duration.

Part of the program initiated in Yakima valley is to extend operations into Oregon, if the Washington affair is successful, and go after the fruitmen of Hood River, The Dalles, Medford and the Willamette valley. Beck, himself, will not enter Oregon territory; his activities with the goons are on record in the office of the governor and he has avoided the state since his henchmen were put in prison.

The revolt in the house of representatives over repeal of the neutrality bill carrying merchant ships and sending them into combat waters was only curbed by President Roosevelt sending the house a letter in which many members understood him to mean that he would support bills to stop strikes in defense plants if they would vote for repeal. This repeal finally carried by a bare 18 votes.

Insiders assert that price control legislation will not be passed on by the senate until late in December, probably not before January.

There is dissatisfaction with the price fixing bill brought in by the ways and means committee, which held hearings for months. Neither the administration nor congressmen like the bill and before a vote comes it will be so amended that its authors will not recognize it.

One group in congress wants to slap a lid on farm products, but the farm bloc objects to tampering with farm prices until there is a ceiling on wages, arguing that everything the farmer buys is high and getting higher because of the labor market. Farmers explain that they would be satisfied with present prices if they had the old cost of production. For the time being the major legislation to be disposed of is the price fixing bill.
