May 28 and 29 Named Poppy Days For Hillsboro

Poppies in tribute to America's battle dead of two wars will be worn in Hillsboro on Friday and Saturday, May 28 and 29.

The poppies, the official memorial money for the Veterans of Foreign Wars, will be sold in Hillsboro on Friday and Saturday, May 28 and 29, instead of a week earlier as reported last week.

The poppies this year will honor the men who have given their lives in the present conflict, as well as those who fell among the poppies of France and Belgium 25 years ago. The money contributed for the flowers will be used for the welfare of victims of both wars and their families.

Local unit Legion Auxiliary is making extensive preparations for the observance of Poppy Days under the leadership of Mrs. Ruth West, unit poppy chairman. The little red flowers of remembrance will be available to everyone in the city, offered by volunteers from the Legion Auxiliary who will be on the streets throughout the days.

The flowers, made of crepe paper in replica of the wild Flanders poppy, have been ordered from the Veterans hospital in Portland, where disabled veterans manufacture them under direction of the Oregon Department of the Auxiliary. Poppy making has kept the disabled workers from the hospital the winter and spring, helping them pass the long hospital hours and aiding in their rehabilitation.

More Americans than ever before are expected to wear poppies this year as a personal tribute to those who have been killed, and to aid the disabled, their families and the families of the dead.

The idea of the poppy as a memorial flower for the world war dead sprang up as naturally as the little wild flower itself grows in the fields of France and Flanders. The flower was the one touch of beauty which survived amid the hideous destruction of war. Along the edge of the trenches, beneath the tangled barbed wire, about the ragged shell holes and over the fresh graves it raised its brave red blossom, a symbol of the world's immortal thing in that region where death reigned. The soldiers of all nations came to look upon it as the living symbol of the sacrifices of their dead comrades.

It was a poet who first gave expression to the idea. Soon himself to lie beneath the poppies, he wrote:

"In Flanders' fields the poppies blow— Between the crosses, row on row—"

Even before the men had returned from the war, the perfect little poem of Colonel John McCrae had been carried by the wind, and carrying the picture of the poppies. Returning soldiers brought the vision of the poppy fields back with them, engraved indelibly in their hearts with the memories of the comrades they had lost on the battlefield. Spontaneously the poppy took on a sacred significance. It became the flower of remembrance for the men who had poured out their life's blood around the roots of the little plant.
