What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Booby Trap Detector

In the snow, in the sand, on the beaches, on the roads, in the woods, everywhere the Axis soldiers hide "booby traps," to slow the movement of our fighting men of the United Nations. The detector does the same work on land as the mine sweeper does at sea.

Like buying War Bonds, the soldier operating the detectors will never know just how much they have aided in the success of their campaign, but he knows his work is necessary and must be accomplished. If more Americans on the home front will come to realize this, the success of our War Bond campaigns will be assured.

Suggestions Given for Christmas Mailing to U. S. Marines Overseas

The six-week period from September 13, through October 31 has been designated as the time during which all Christmas mail should be posted for Marine Corps personnel overseas duty. Arrangements have been made with the Post Office Department for special handling of Christmas letters and packages mailed during this period in order to get them to men overseas before the holidays.

To facilitate this effort, senders are requested to mark their packages "Christmas parcel" and to pay special attention to the addressing and packaging requirements. Hundreds of packages are lost daily because senders do not wrap them strongly enough to withstand the handling through numerous postal centers and the heat of a ship's hold.

For the purposes of Christmas mail, the term "overseas" personnel means men who receive their mail through a Fleet Post Office at San Francisco, Cal.; New York, N. Y.; or Seattle, Wash. Letters and parcels should contain the name and address of sender, the name, rank or rating of addressee and the unit to which he is assigned, or name of the ship or fleet post office through which the mail is to be routed.

Under postal regulations, Christmas parcels shall not exceed five pounds in weight or 13 inches in length or 30 inches in length and girth combined. Not more than one parcel will be accepted in any one week from the same sender for the same addressee. All articles should be packed in metal, wooden, or solid fiberboard or strong double-faced corrugated fiberboard or strong fully telescoping cardboard boxes. Fiberboard or cardboard boxes must be securely wrapped in strong paper and tied with twine. In addition, senders are cautioned that delays caused by the necessity for censorship will be minimized if the wrapping is secured so as to permit easy inspection of contents.

Parcels should not include any weapons, poisons, inflammable articles such as matches or lighter fluid. In general, the public is urged not to send food or clothing. Men overseas are amply provided with both, so shipping space for such should be used for other purposes. Mail for Marine Corps personnel.

The Oregon district not only led the country last month in maintaining the highest average per 100,000 population, but topped the Western division in total number of Seabees enrolled. The division also embraces Washington, California, Idaho, Montana and New Mexico.

But even though Oregon stands at the top of the list, much hard work lies ahead in the procurement of Seabees, Commander DeGrave emphasizes, since this month's quota is the largest ever scheduled.

Commander DeGrave reminds that any man between the ages of 17 and 50½, inclusive, may volunteer for the Seabees even though he is in the draft bracket. Those between 18 and 35, inclusive, may volunteer for induction into the construction battalions, provided they can qualify for a trade skill rating.

Seventeen-year-olds may enlist in the Seabees in the non-skilled ratings, Commander DeGrave declares. Those in the 38-50½ group must have a skilled trade. Since almost all the ratings in the Seabees are wide open, any eligible man with a skilled trade should experience no difficulty in obtaining a petty officer's rating. Those interested in applying are invited to talk with Warrant Officer Wolgast with no obligation whatsoever.

Buy War Bonds AND THEN Protect Your Investment

EVERYBODY is buying war bonds these days because they know bonds will help win the war and that they are mighty good investments.

THIS WEEK is the anniversary of the great devastating 1933 Tillamook forest fire . . . reminding us that timber is one of the national assets that will help pay off those bonds . . . and forest fires destroy timber. So it's just good business to help in every way we can to put over the wartime Forest Fire Prevention Campaign.

War bonds help win the war. Forest fires will help lose it. Timber is vital war material. Fires destroy it. Forest fire fighting takes manpower away from other war work. Smoke from forest fires makes aerial protection difficult and helps the enemy.

So any way you figure it, forest fire prevention is your business, my business, mighty good business.
