Hillsboro Girls In Pacific Play

PACIFIC UNIVERSITY, Forest Grove, Oct. 20—"Nine Girls" recent Broadway production by Wilbur Pettit, is rehearsal for presentation in connection with the 1943 Homecoming celebration at Pacific university. The play is to be given Oct. 27 for students and Oct. 28 for the general public.

Included in the cast of the comedy mystery drama are Joan Osborn, Portland; Marjorie Kidney, Hillsboro; Lenore Nyack, Chicago, Ill.; Delilah Wheeler, Milwaukie; Imogene Cate, Forest Grove; Catherine Papick, Burlington, Wash.; Mary Anne Jesson, Milwaukie; Lois Brannock, Forest Grove; Joyce Kellington, Hillsboro.

Miss Kidney plays the part of Eve, quiet idyllic, her sorority sisters who have gathered in their mountain clubhouse in the Sierra Nevada mountains for the initiation of two pledges. It is here that tragedy strikes in murder following the heels of a radio report informing the girls that one of their friends has been found dead near Westlake college, where the girls go to school.

The key to the whole mystery is held by Eve through her determination to throw off the solution of suicide given by the others and the police to the death of Alice at the cabin. It is by her clear-headed thinking and courageousness that the murderer is brought to justice.

This is Miss Kidney's second major role in a Pacific drama. She will be remembered for her lead in "Armenic and Old Lace" last spring.

Miss Kellington as Shotgun, muscular athletic star, is in her first play at Pacific. However, her role is important as much of the gay comedy of the play centers around her antics. Through her clumsiness she causes many laughs for the audience and much distress for her companions. But when responsibility is placed on her, she comes through to lead the others.

Betty Gardner of Hillsboro has been placed in charge of properties. Erma Jean Williams of Hillsboro is promoter. The play is being directed by Albert C. Hington, professor of drama at Pacific.

Sherwood P-T. A. Host to County Council Oct. 12

Washington County Council of Parents and Teachers met at Sherwood, Tuesday, October 12, at 10 a. m. Mrs. Otto George of Hoodville, county president, presided throughout the day.

The meeting was given over to reports of local clubs and ways and means. Eleven units reported. An attendance prize was given by Mrs. G. E. Bille, county membership chairman, to the Alto-Hoodville unit which had an attendance of 27 per cent of its membership for last year. Total attendance for the day was close to 60.

Guest speakers for the day were Mrs. Harry H. George, state regional vice-president of P-T. A., and Mrs. Mason (Jeanette) Cramer. Mrs. George gave some very clear instructions in simple parliamentary procedure, and methods of P-T. A. work. She complimented the locals on their program plan for the year. Jeanette Cramer spoke on two phases of "Homes in War Time." She stressed the importance of food and clothing we preserve as much as possible for future use. Then her suggestion for making our homes each an important part of the neighborhood were very pertinent. Both speakers were greatly enjoyed and appreciated.

The Sherwood ladies served dessert luncheon at noon.

Next County Council meeting will be December 14, probably at Hillsboro.

Local Girl Winner State Style Revue

Constance J. Connell, Hillsboro, 14, placed in the blue ribbon class of 4-H winners in the state style revue contest in Portland Friday, according to Faye Nichols, home demonstration agent.

Constance modeled a cotton school dress which she made of blue plaid gingham in division III 4-H clothing. Her club was led by Mrs. Hilda Higbee and Miss Clara Jean Puhole.

Eighteen counties competed and a blue ribbon winner was chosen from each of the five divisions of clothing represented.

Colgan Residence Bought by W. G. Ide

W. G. Ide has purchased the Dr. Eugene Colgan home on Cornell road and his daughter, Mrs. Marion Ide Gorman of Alameda, Cal., and her daughter, Virginia, will come here later to make their home.

W. G. Ide returned here Saturday from Tacoma, Wash., where he spent two weeks in connection with federal court condemnation proceedings relative to a housing project and McChord Field. The local realtor had served as an appraiser on these and other federal projects for several years. He was called to Tacoma from Yuma, Ariz., after being away from here since July, when he left to visit his daughter at Alameda and from there went on to Los Angeles and Arizona and had intended going to Mexico City. He expects to remain here now until Christmas.

Children's Problems Discussed by Meyer

Child problems were discussed by Harold Meyer, county juvenile officer, at the Hillsboro Parent-Teacher association meeting at the Peter B. Brown school cafeteria Monday night.

In attempting to get at the source of such problems, he outlined a number of points which parents should keep in mind, namely, do not permit your children to lie to you at any early age; do not allow back talk and disobedience and do not allow young children the freedom and privileges of adults. He said there is no need for them to grow up too young.

Parents, Meyer said, should be consistent in their treatment of the child and in the things he or she is allowed to do. They should help them in wisely choosing companions and above all they must be companions to their children. Children, as a general rule, do not lie to their chums, according to Meyer, who said that if parents are friendly with their children they will receive the same consideration.

The speaker pointed out that juvenile court files record very few cases from homes in which the mother remains in the home and a normal family life is lived. It would appear, he said, that everything for which the nation spends and fights would be lost if the future citizen is not properly cared for. As there is no national agency which will provide for the security of these future Americans, it demands the combined efforts of school, church and community to block the tide of adolescent destruction with which we are now faced, he declared.

In carrying out one step of this program, Edward Lehman, argued that children receive sufficient sleep. He said it could not be reported too often that grade school children need between nine and ten hours of sleep, and high school students between eight and nine.

Hillsboro Girl Joins the WAVES

Keeping pace with her brother in the U. S. Navy, Miss Mary Al-larae Horsley, 165 E. Jefferson, Hillsboro, has joined the WAVES, women's service of the U. S. Navy. It was reported here today by the Portland branch, Office of Naval Officer Procurement, 330 American Bank building, Portland, which handles enlistments of WAVES in Oregon, Southwestern Washington and Idaho.

Miss Horsley will report soon to the WAVES indoctrination school at Hunter college, Columbia university, New York city, where she will begin the training which will prepare her for replacing a navy man for service at sea. On completion of this training, she will be assigned to an advanced school at one of the nation's leading colleges for special instruction or will be assigned to active duty at a naval station.

She is the second member of her family to serve in the armed forces. Her brother, William Walter Horsley, is a fire control man, U. S. Navy, third class, now stationed at San Francisco.

In 1940, Miss Horsley graduated from Sutherland high school, where she was a secretary of the junior class, a yell leader, vice-president of Tri-Y treasurer of the student body and was active in dramatics and athletics.

Since August 1941, Miss Horsley has been a cashier at the Dinette Cafe, Hillsboro. For four months she was a nurse's aide at the Deaconess hospital, Salem.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Horsley, Box 97, Gaston.
