Couple Married New Year's Day

SCHOLLS-DeEle, Genevieve Shorb and Charles H. Vanderschuer were married in the office of Justice of Peace A. W. Havens at Hillsboro, at 11 o'clock New Year's Day. The couple was attended by the bride's sister, Phyllis Johnson, and the bridegroom's brother, Albert Vanderschuer.

The bride was dressed in a blue suit and wore an orchid corsage. A family dinner, at which 34 guests were present, was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Vanderschuer.

Following the dinner, the main feature of which was a huge double-tiered wedding cake made and decorated by the bride's sister, the young couple left for their return trip to Albany, and on their return will make their home on the Vanderschuer farm near Cornelius. A new home will be constructed for the parents of the bridegroom, and the newlyweds will take over the former home.

Those present Sunday were the parents of the couple, Mr. and Mrs. J. Vanderschuer, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Vandersanden and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Vandersanden, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Storey and two sons, all of Forest Grove; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Atterbury and family of Portland; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Vanderschuer; Jack Carroll of Portland, and the hosts and family.

Julia tells—
How to bake simple old-fashioned "Goodies"

NOW that we're starting out on a new year, it's not a bad idea to look back at some of the simple things our "fore-mothers" used to bake. Meat pies—apple pandowdies—hearty dishes of that good old-fashioned stripe. (And there are ways to get along with much less shortening than in many a "modern" recipe!)

I've been putting some of those time-honored recipes to the test in my own kitchen, recently, and as I watched the results disappear into my family's interested mouths, two facts came to mind: first, these foods are appetizing and nutritious, and second, they require relatively little of some ingredients which aren't always in plentiful supply these war-time days.

The second point really appealed to the practical in me. That, and the fact that these things are surprisingly easy to prepare. How long since you've tried making a meat pie with biscuits instead of crust, for example?

Curry Biscuits for Meat Pie
1 cup enriched flour 2 tbsps. chilled butter
1 1/2 tbsps. baking powder 1/4 to 1/2 cup milk
3/4 tsp. curry powder 1/4 tsp. salt

Sift flour, measure, add baking powder, salt and curry powder, and sift again. Add shortening to flour and cut in until mixture is fine. Add milk, stir until flour is dampened. Knead 15 times on lightly floured board, roll to 1/2-in. thickness. Cut with 1 1/2-in. biscuit cutter and place on hot stew in casserole. Bake in hot oven (425° F.) 25 mins. or until done.

An interesting variation is to cut the biscuit dough in the shape of doughnuts, which lets the steam bubble up through the inner circles. Stew good? It tastes good!

And for dessert, how my family enjoyed old-fashioned apple pandowdy! (I wasn't at all sorry to see that, because it uses just about one-quarter as much shortening as pie!)

Apple Pandowdy
5 cups thinly sliced apples 1/2 tsp. nutmeg
1/2 cup sugar 1 1/2 tbsps. lemon juice
1/4 tsp. salt 2 tbsps. water
1/4 tsp. cinnamon 1/4 tsp. grated lemon rind

Combine apples, sugar, salt, spices, lemon juice, water and rind. Turn into pan (8 x 8 x 2); cover and bake in hot oven (450° F.) 20 mins. Mix 2 cups standard biscuit dough, adding 1 tbsps. sugar to flour mixture. Knead gently 8 times, shape and roll into square (8 x 8). Fit dough over apples in pan, cut slits to let steam escape, and return to hot oven (450° F.). Bake 25 mins. or until crust is browned. Serve warm, with cream or plain. Makes 8 servings.

I wish there were room here to tell you about some of the other recipes of this kind I've been trying recently. If you're interested, why don't you look at my article on "Pioneer Recipes" in this week's issue of The Family Circle? Get a copy at your Safeway store!
