

Give the Youngsters Help in Tin Can Collection Contest

That free show for the seven champion tin can collecting schools in the county should certainly stimulate the youngsters into action toward bringing in the greatly-needed tin cans from every county household. The four-county theatre owners are as usual evidencing a real spirit of co-operation in this salvage drive through their offer.

Winners will be determined on the basis of the number of prepared tin cans collected per student. That means that each student must also have the co-operation of the folks at home.

Tin cans contain materials essential to the production of war materiel and people throughout the United States must make it their regular duty to save the cans and to prepare them ready for collection.

In the present collection the cans must be taken to the schools before April 20. However, people must understand that this collection does not end their obligation. It must be carried on until the cans are no longer required.

Willkie Out of Race

Withdrawal of Wendell Willkie from the race for the republican nomination for president removes a man who has stimulated public thinking on the questions of the day by his frankness and evident sincerity. Mr. Willkie is an outstanding American.

With so much isolationist sentiment evident in Wisconsin over the years it would hardly seem like a proper testing ground for one who was such a strong advocate of international co-operation to preserve the peace.

Supporters of Governor Dewey of New York finished way out in the lead in a four-way race between Dewey, Stassen, MacArthur and Willkie in which the latter came last. Dewey has continually held that he is not a candidate and has not expressed himself on vital world and home front problems. It seems to be very much a case of the electorate wanting the one who seems to be hard to get.

Governor Bricker is taking the right attitude by stating his position on public questions. May his example smoke some of the other candidates out so that the voter will have an opportunity to know where they stand.

Co-operate in Paper Drive

Waste paper—old papers, magazines, catalogs and cardboard—is vital to the war effort and is one of the most critical of materials. That means that everyone must take the time to save waste paper, segregate it and tie it up. Boy Scout troops are rotating the responsibility for the drive—this month it is the American Legion troop. Take that waste paper now and regularly to the collection depot at the Tualatin Valley Coop warehouse at 449 South Second. Those without transportation or having large quantities may call Scoutmaster Ben Faber at 921 to make pickup arrangements.

The B. W. Barnes junior high school chorus of 75 voices gave such an excellent accounting of itself at the vesper service at the Congregational church Sunday afternoon that it reflected great credit upon Mrs. L. C. Kramien, the instructor. Much favorable reaction has been heard and it is hoped to make it an annual affair. The performance revealed a great amount of patient work on the part of Mrs. Kramien, the pupils, and Mrs. E. N. Crockett, the accompanist.

Washington county residents take pride in the outstanding progress of a home institution—the Commercial National bank—as indicated by the increased capitalization which is now up to a total of half a million.

Even Great Britain so very near the actual scene of war operations has "enjoyed" the dubious luxury of strikes in time of great national stress. With so many giving so much it is inconceivable how so many others can obstruct so much.

The Newberg Graphic seems to be getting greatly exercised over Congressman Mott's age and his pictures, saying that he is past 60 and sends out too young looking pictures. Not that the matter of past 60 makes any great deal of difference because people at such an age are far from being past their period of usefulness, a look in Oregon's Who Who for 1942-44 showed that the veteran member of congress would not be 60 until November of this year. The picture also seemed to be a very good likeness of him as he appeared on his last visit here.

War conditions, including lack of help, are bringing about numerous changes in business. An advertisement in the last issue of the Hood River News lists 24 business houses which plan to close at 1 o'clock on Wednesdays until further notice.

Other Editors

The Oregon Voter challenges Congressman Mott as an isolationist because of his votes on pre-war measures like lend-lease and extension of the national guard mobilization. We do not justify Mott's votes on those bills, but incline to the view that he was following the "party line" as laid down by house leaders like Joe Martin. For Mott himself is not a pink-tea pacifist. He's a good fighter. And he was alert to needs of Pacific coast defenses long before war broke out in 1940. In fact the very night war was declared Mott and fellow-members of the naval affairs committee were in Astoria celebrating the beginning of the Tongue Point naval air base which Mott worked hard to get. Mott also urged fortification of Guam in 1939. His whole record is one of strong national defense even though he failed to join in measures for backing up Britain and France back in 1940.—Salmon Statesman.

FREE AIR

By Mick
The fellow who thinks the war is nearly over just because the Navy has been rough on a few Japanese held islands in the Pacific reminds a local businessman of another fellow who was also optimistic—he thought his wife had quit cigarettes when he found some cigar butts around the house.

A local young man now in the Army writes that when he was at home it used to take him a hour to get dressed, eat breakfast, and get to work in the mornings, but now after a few months in the service he has cut that time to about fifteen minutes. Which should make his wife happy and prove to her his sergeant isn't as nice to him as she is.

In Other Days

Fifteen Years Ago

Argus, April 11, 1929—All opening games in Tualatin Valley league postponed an account of rain.
C. H. Norder re-elected superintendent of Hillsboro grade schools.
Deaths—A. R. England, Hillsboro rector, J. W. Masters, one of first white children born in Oregon, Mrs. Sablers of Verbort, Mrs. William Mickunas of Cornelius.

Thirty Years Ago

Argus, April 9, 1914—Prohibition mass convention held here Wednesday names candidates for county office and state representative.
Deaths—David McMamish of Hillsboro, Mrs. Mollie Heitzel of Banks.
Cornelius votes dry by 50 votes at the election held this week. The vote for license was 99 and against 158. J. F. Kilgore was elected mayor.
C. W. Rollins elected president of Coffee club.

Forty-five Years Ago

Argus, April 6, 1899—All around Malolos white flags are being waved by groups of natives and deserters from Aguinaldo's army. MacArthur is allowing all such to come within American lines, but is insisting on close inspection to prevent treachery.
Thomas Talbot getting their colts in training these days and some of the youngsters are showing good action.
I. W. House buys large building on League property on Washington between Second and Third for his wood working shop.

Letters from Service Men

Appreciates News
Dear Verne: Have a new address so will send it so as to get the paper as I am sure glad to hear the town news. Just get the February 10 paper, saw Jerry Wieber's notice in it, also saw what Ed Greogan had to say. Sure glad to hear that the boys are all getting along fine.
Would like to write to my friends out there but do not have much time to write. Will be glad to get back there again. Sincerely,—T. S. JOHN V. DELSMAN, APO New York.

Foreman on Leave

Tech. Sgt. Wilbur Foreman arrived here Tuesday morning for a 14-day furlough with his family and friends. Sgt. Foreman is in the S. Army air corps in Tucson, Ariz.

Old Bum is Re-Born

Night after night, Old Bum came into the mission hall for the cats and the food they gave him. And night after night, all stupid with drink, he slept through the Gospel message and the singing. Yet the mission folk kept him on all those years in the hope that the miracle might yet happen.
Then one night it took place. Dr. Louis Sperry Chaffer of Dallas, Texas was the speaker. He tells of how the two went into a side room where the man poured out the confession of doing too vile to print.

Serves 50 Years

McMinville Telephone Register
With its issue of March 30, the Hillsboro Argus indicates the start of another 50 years of service to that important Tualatin valley community by carrying in its masthead, "Volume 51, Number 1." A usual size issue of 16 pages with a reproduction of its first issue and stories of the newspaper's founding is also the only observance. In normal times a multiple-section edition certainly would have been forthcoming.
The Argus has been a many-time winner of state and national recognition. Congratulations are certainly due its publisher, Mrs. Emma McKinney, who has served for 40 years, and Verne McKinney, its editor and manager for more than 20 years. Certainly the Argus has seen great factor in the growth of Hillsboro during its 50 years of service and that its citizens appreciate its importance to them is shown in the fine support the newspaper enjoys.

Worthy of Pride

Congratulations to Mrs. McKinney on her 40th anniversary. The long publishing of so fine a newspaper is worthy of great community pride as well as personal satisfaction. Best wishes for continued success.—Sincerely, MRS. RICHARD SMURTHWAITE.

Cooper Mt. Sunday School Aids Missions

COOPER MOUNTAIN—Twenty-four were present at the Cooper Mountain Sunday school and their Easter collection was $7.50 for missions. They sent checks of $13 each to the Latin America, China Inland mission and the Old Fashioned Revival Hour in California.
The Cooper Mountain community club met last Wednesday with Mrs. Ves Baney, with a large attendance. They sewed on quilt blocks on a quilt, which they expect to sell soon. Next meeting will be at the Vinning home on Connor road, April 19.

Mrs. Hannah Wolf and daughter, Mrs. Robert Bradley, formerly Miss Mary Wolf, of Everett, Wash., were recent visitors at the Morris home. Mrs. Bradley, whose husband is somewhere in England, is making her home with her mother for the duration. The Wolf family formerly lived in this community.
Eccentric Jenkins and family have moved from Portland to the Minkie house on Huber avenue and their daughter Lola is a new student in the seventh grade at Cooper Mountain school.

George Lundquist lost a valuable cow from milk fever last Monday. Will Hauser of Gary, Indiana is visiting his sister, Mrs. John Kiek. This is his first visit to Oregon.
Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Barron and children Jean Ann and Jerry, have returned home from the army. They are visiting at the home of Mrs. Barron's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Krause.

J. W. Ross Hart and baby girl were brought home from the St. Vincent's hospital in Portland.
Mrs. John Johnson has received word that her son, Mr. Henry Jacobson, has arrived safely in Africa and reports that things are so different than here in the states.
Steve Benham was absent from school last week on account of illness.

The P-T-A bake sale held at the McCloskey and Adams real estate office in Beaverton Saturday proved a big success. They sold about 30 cakes.

On Beachhead

Pvt. William Cyrus Jr. is with the field artillery on the Anzio beachhead in Italy, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Cyrus. The last letter came from there by air mail in 13 days.

PEPSI MEANS PLENTY

Chapter two. Out steps an alert man of middle age, to tell the old pals what God has done for him. Back in business and family, he is and making it through to the glory of God. And all by the power of the new life that is the indwelling Christ.
Christ waits to welcome you also. Tell God you are the one for whom Christ died. Take deliverance on that ground. Then look only and utterly to Him for the new life and victory over sinful habit and vice. Christ alone can Save-Keep-Satisfy.—George N. Taylor, 3101 S. W. McClelleny road, Portland, Ore.
