VFW, Auxiliary To Meet Friday; Thanks Given

Veterans of Foreign Wars and Auxiliary will meet at the V. F. W. hall at 8 p. m. Friday.

Members of the post and auxiliary wish to thank the people of Washington county for their patronage at the restaurant during the celebration at Shute park. They especially thank the county Camp Five Girls for their help and also the county war finance committee for sending the detail from Camp Adair to the restaurant for their meals.

The restaurant was a big financial success for the post and auxiliary and required as many as 35 members to take care of the trade. The profit from these stands in the past has been set aside as a building fund and invested in war bonds.

Members of the organization recently cleaned up the honor roll house on the court house lawn. Vandals seem to insist on defacing and destroying the names of these men who are serving us so honorably in the armed services. More names have been added which brings the list to cover purchases of rationed meats and fats was enriched by the validation of X8, Y8 and Z8 in ration book four. Each of these red stamps, good for 10 points, will be used indefinitely. If there are any red stamps bearing the numeral eight in ration book four left over they still can be used. These 30 points will be all the ration currency validated for the purchase of meats and fats during July. And now for blue points. The July quota—30 blue points—is provided through the validation of W8, X8, Y8, Z8 and A5 in ration book four. Previously all stamps bearing the numeral eight on the face—from A to W—have been validated and remain good indefinitely.

The numeral on the stamp is for identification only and has no connection with the value. All blue stamps have a uniform valuation of 10 points, and all are good indefinitely for the purchase of rationed processed foods.

While on the subject of processed fruits and vegetables, here's a word to the wise. The return of canned asparagus, peas and tomatoes to rationing on the July point chart is a signal for increased victory gardening and home canning. National OPA chief Chester Bowles declared "your victory garden, no matter how small, and the cans you put up, will go a long way toward keeping point values of canned vegetables at a low level this year."

Mrs. America's junior can still pay his way in ration points for needs of condensed evaporated milk despite increased values. During July the ration value of canned milk is two-thirds of a red point per pound instead of one-half red point per pound. This means three 14-ounce cans with two red points.

And speaking of shopping, the war production board is urging Mrs. America to take along her own shopping bag or used paper bags for carrying purchases. This extra effort on the part of shoppers will help out in the critical paper shortage. The WPB also urges housewives to accept without wrapping those articles which can be carried just as conveniently in their regular packages.

If the family auto is sold or if you buy a used car, you'll want to get specific information on selling prices from the price clerk of your local board. For all used cars, whether sold by individuals or dealers, now are price controlled. In order to find the exact selling price for any car, the price clerk will need the following definite information—make, year, model, body type, and whether the car has a heater, radio or any special factory built-in equipment.

When is a tenant a landlord also? The OPA rent office has the answer—when a tenant residing in a defense rental area sublets her apartment or even one room in her home she is subject to provisions of OPA rent regulation covering landlords. Thus she is subject to register with the defense rental office dwelling accommodations which are sublet. Her landlord files a registration for the property he rents to her. Then she in turn registers the part which she sub-lets.

Housewives who have problems of stretching the household budget can appreciate the war production board's situation in allocating scarce materials. First, metal was so scarce there wasn't enough even for clothes hangers. So the manufacturers used cardboard. And now because of the critical paper shortage the WPB has released sufficient material for the manufacture of one-third the war production of metal clothes hangers.

Advice Given on Preparing Juice For Later Jelly

When fruits are at the height of their season and most abundant, the home canner may not have the sugar to make all the jelly she wishes. She can, however, put up a supply of juice to use later for jelly. Jelly made from juice that has been stored as long as six months has as fine a texture as that made from fresh fruit, home economists of the U. S. department of agriculture have found. The color and flavor may not be quite as distinct, however. This is especially the case with the juice from red fruits which lose color easily.

For making jelly, juice is prepared somewhat differently from that canned for beverage use. Fruit must be boiled rather than simmered to draw out pectin for jelly and no sugar is added. A mixture of slightly underripe and ripe fruit makes the best juice for jelly because the under-ripe fruit gives more pectin and acid, and the ripe fruit gives the full color and flavor. Discard any damaged parts of the fruit. Wash berries quickly and handle gently to prevent loss of juice. Cut large fruits like apples in small pieces and leave cores in because they contain pectin.

Put fruit on to heat in a broad, flat-bottomed kettle. Very juicy fruit needs no water added, but firm fruit like apples need as much as a cup of water to a pound. Crush soft fruit to start juice flowing. Bring fruit to a boil and stir to prevent scorching. After boiling starts, berries, currants, and grapes need to boil five to 10 minutes until soft; apples and quinces 20 to 25 minutes.

Pour the hot cooked fruit at once into jelly bag and let it drip. Pour the juice into hot sterilized jars and adjust lids. Place on a rack in a water bath with water simmering. Use 2 1/2 cups water again comes to the simmering temperature, simmer either pint or quart jars 20 minutes. Remove from water bath and top except the metal self-sealing lids.

APRICOT JAM RECIPE SAVES SUGAR, FRUIT

Make it This Quick, Easy Way

- 4 Cups Ground Fruit
- 6 Cups Sugar
- 1/4 Cup Lemon Juice
- 1 Package M.C.P. Pectin

Wash and pit 4 pounds fully ripe apricots, grind. Do not peel. Measure exactly 4 level cups of the ground fruit (add water to fill last cup, if necessary) into a large kettle. Add the M.C.P. Pectin and lemon juice, stir well and bring to a boil, stirring constantly. NOW, add the sugar (which has been previously measured), continue stirring, and bring to a full rolling boil. BOIL EXACTLY 4 MINUTES. Remove from fire, let the boil subside, stir and skim by turns for 5 minutes. Pour into sterilized jars, allowing 1/2-inch space for sealing with fresh paraffin.

Mrs. America Meets the War

Editor's Note: War touches every home and every citizen. This column, based on official government information and prepared by the OPA War Information, shows how the war will affect Mrs. America and her home.

Forty per cent of the dry groceries which go into Mrs. America's market basket are printed on official OPA community price lists. And all ceiling prices of meats also are expressed on similar lists as specific cents per pound. In many communities these specific ceiling prices have been established for a number of fresh fruits and vegetables. All dealers are required to post the official ceiling price of foods. In OPA ceiling prices, you'll obtain special pocket size lists of official OPA ceilings on groceries and local boards. These lists provide an excellent guide to Mrs. America to keep her food purchases within ceiling prices.

And speaking of shopping, the war production board is urging Mrs. America to take along her own shopping bag or used paper bags for carrying purchases. This extra effort on the part of shoppers will help out in the critical paper shortage. The WPB also urges housewives to accept without wrapping those articles which can be carried just as conveniently in their regular packages.
