Renewal of "A" Rations to Be Handled by Mail

A streamlined plan for handling renewal of "A" gasoline rations by mail is announced by McDannell Brown, district director, Office of Price Administration. Present "A" ration expires on September 21.

Motorists can obtain their renewal forms at local service stations and garages, except for workers in industries which have plant transportation committees. They will get their forms from the committees and return them to the committees instead of to the local OPA boards, Brown explained.

All other motorists should get their renewal blanks now, fill them out properly, and mail the form to their own local OPA board accompanied by the signed back cover of the present "A" book, and the tire inspection record. If the back cover has been lost or destroyed, the applicant must be able to prove to the satisfaction of the board that the car is actually in use and that no other application has been made for a basic "A" ration.

Applicants temporarily away from their permanent residence may apply to any local board but are urged to mail the renewal blanks to their home boards instead so their records will be complete.

Do not telephone or call in person at local boards. Brown requested, as no "A" books will be handed out over the counter. Applications will be acted on promptly in the order received, so new coupons can be mailed to each applicant before September 22 validity date.

School Opening Set Beaverton
BEAVERTON—The Beaverton public school will open for the fall term Monday, September 11. All high school students will register at 8:45 on the first morning in the order received, so new registration for freshmen students has been the practice in the past. The bus schedule will be the same as in effect last year, covering the same routes on the same schedule.

Five new teachers have been employed for the year. Glen Waller will teach industrial arts; Miss

Buying Bonds as Presents Urged

To spur the purchase of "war bonds for wartime babies," the women's division of the Oregon war finance committee is launching a new drive as a follow-up to its successful participation in the fifth war loan campaign, according to Mrs. Ellen MacVeagh, Portland, its assistant director, who has returned from a conference with Miss Harriett Elliott, director of women's activities for the national war finance division.

Purpose of the new program recommended nationally by the treasury department for its women workers in war finance, is to encourage parents, grandparents, relatives and friends of new babies (there were 23,716 born last year in Oregon) to buy bonds for them as presents.

Cooperation of merchants and florists will be enlisted in arranging special window displays and sales booths; letters will be sent by county and local war finance committees to new mothers in their communities urging the advantages of war bonds as gifts for war babies.

A special inducement will be the certificate, designed by Walt Disney, which will be available for the young bond-owners.

Children up to two years will be eligible for enrollment in the U. S.

Dorothy Lundquist, commercial subjects; George Boudier, American history, civics and economics; sociology; Mrs. Marjory Whitbeck, orientation, and Mrs. Kathryn Ward, chemistry and biology.
