Recipe for a Perfect Marriage

Dee and Jane Cuppers celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary last Saturday. Having so many friends, it seemed like half the town stopped in that evening to pay their respects.

Little Ida Moffat brought a home-made poem to read, called "Love Enduring." Bert Childers fiddled "Silver Threads Among the Gold." Will Dudley made a speech and proposed a toast.

And as I watched that toast—Dee with his glass of beer, Jane with her buttermilk—I thought to myself: There's a recipe for happy marriage. Two folks with different tastes no doubt an honest fault or two—who through the years have learned to live in tolerance and understanding.

From where I sit, Dee and Jane are a mighty good example to young married people of today—an example of how moderation, tolerance and understanding can build lasting happiness and solid homes.

Local WAC Serving Army Exchange

HEADQUARTERS, EUROPEAN THEATRE OF OPERATIONS—A group of highly skilled WACS are working with the Army Exchange Service in London and are on the Continent, assisting the United States Army in supplying thousands of American soldiers with necessities and small "luxuries."

The Army Exchange Service supervises all unit exchanges in the European Theater of Operations. Children's toys, perfume, men's and women's jewelry, scarves, gloves, neckties, and gift war bands are among the range of gifts which service men and women may select from an illustrated catalog, to be delivered by the manufacturer anywhere in the United States.

The WACS were picked for their jobs because of their civilian experience as business machine operators, auditors, comptometer operators. They are the only Women's Army Corps group doing such work in the European Theater.

It's no snap job. They're dealing with pennies and pounds, not with dollars and cents. During a seasonal rush the WACS and soldiers work long hours, handling a tremendous number of orders with record speed and efficiency. There were more than 200,000 orders for Mother's Day and Easter gifts alone.

Some of the WACS are working with the Exchange, where the AES is already active in setting up new exchanges. As a further convenience for the combat troops, RACs—containing soap, razor blades, candy and tobacco are distributed free by Quartermaster Corps.

These essential items are luxuries to our men in France, and they're a big factor in the morale of an outfit," explained WAC Captain Hilda T. Berry of Ithaca, New York, deputy administration chief for the Exchange Service.

Among those working with the exchange is Pfc. Helen J. Pearson of Hillsboro.

Betrothal Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd L. Gilstrap of Hillsboro announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Betty Gilstrap, to Roy Leland Gaines of Hillsboro, son of Mrs. Cora M. Gaines of Portland.

Price Returns to Camp

Pvt. Robert Price, son of John Price of Cornelius, left on August 21 to report back to Camp Shelby, Miss., after spending a 15-day furlough at home.

Old-Timer Visits Here

S. L. Hollenbeck of Portland was visiting Hillsboro friends the first of the week. Mr. Hollenbeck, who is 84 years old, formerly lived in the Mountaineer community where he was an orchardist and farmer. He is the father of Loel Hollenbeck of that community.

Mr. Hollenbeck plans to leave in a few days for Spokane, Wash., where he will visit his daughter, Mrs. Ethel Webb.

Makes Flying Trip—Sgt. Jack Hale, grandson of Mrs. W. W. Hall, made a flying trip to Portland last week on a trial trip in a B-29 bomber from McCook, Neb. The trip was made in a 12-hour flight to the Portland air field, with 11 men in the plane. They spent an hour in Portland before starting on the return trip.

Circle One Meets—Circle One of the Methodist W. S. C. S. will meet Wednesday, September 6, at 2 p. m., at the home of Mrs. Theodore Bowley, North 3rd avenue, next door to the P. A. Anderson home. Members come as visitors welcome.

Mrs. Haggard, D. C. left Saturday night to report back to duty after a four-day visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Haggard, and Mrs. C. H. Haggard, who is her work and considers it a wonderful experience. While here she and her mother visited relatives at Aberdeen, Wash., from Monday to Wednesday.

Attend Relative's Funeral

Mrs. Emma McKinney and Mrs. Verne McKinney attended the funeral Monday afternoon in Portland of their relative, Gus Smith, who died suddenly last Thursday.

Mr. Smith, who had been proprietor of a meat and grocery market at Sellwood for the past 29 years, is survived by his wife, the former Miss Mabel Smith of Forest Grove, a daughter, Mrs. Betty Dahlquist, and a grandson, Terry Gus Dahlquist, all of Portland; also two brothers of Portland and three sisters.

Lt. Rice Safe

Lt. Roy J. Rice Jr., co-pilot on a Flying Fortress missing in action for four months, is well and safe, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rice of Salem. The father lived in Hillsboro for many years, and the mother was formerly Miss Theodore Hobbs of near Hillsboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Byland of Tucson, Ariz., and Mrs. Walter Newton of Corvallis were weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Thomas of Hillsboro. Mrs. Byland is Mrs. Thomas' sister, and Mrs. Newton is their mother.

Maurine Elliott of Walla Walla, Wash., was a guest the first of the week of Patricia Kroeger. She returned home Tuesday, accompanied by Norman Lou Kroeger, who will visit friends at Walla Walla for a week.

Mrs. Helen Geertgens spent the week-end at Nelscott. She was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hignbe of Beaverton and some Portland friends.

Mrs. Orin Darcy and daughters of Bremerton, Wash., visited from Friday to Sunday with her mother, Mrs. W. J. Tew.

Mrs. Preston Williams of Tillamook arrived Sunday for a short visit in Hillsboro while looking after her property, the former Spicker home on North 2nd Ave.

Mrs. E. K. McCoy returned last week from Medford, where she visited her mother, Mrs. A. S. McCoy, for a short time.

Week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Englehardt of Hillsboro were Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Portle and daughter Judy of Portland, and Mrs. Richard Tulloss and daughter Nancy of Portland.

Miss Angie Harrington returned home Saturday from a two weeks' vacation at Cutler City.

Sgt. Fish Among WACs Commended

Sgt. Bessie D. Fish of Hillsboro is among the more than 350 WACS stationed at a base headquarters in England who were commended by Brigadier General Charles O. Thrasher for their outstanding job in handling the immense amount of detailed work contingent with the Allied drive through France.

"Before the invasion the WACS worked long hours, at exacting tasks, which demanded accuracy and efficiency," General Thrasher stated. "They have set high standards of performance for themselves and they never lower these standards. It is a great pleasure for me to commend the WACS at this headquarters for the fine contribution they are making to the war effort."
