

Maritime Service Needs Volunteers

Largest quotas for maritime service volunteers ever to be assigned to the state of Oregon have been received by the United States Maritime Service. The launching of the Pacific offensive gives our merchant marine a job larger than human comprehension," Mosher stated. "Every man between 17 and 50 can make no greater contribution to the winning of the war than by volunteering for the United States Maritime Service immediately." In addition, "and every available man will be needed if quotas for Oregon are to be met."

The United States Maritime Service enrolling office in Portland is located at room 202, Pioneer Post Office building.

Vikings Trim Tillamook 13-7

Forest Grove hung up its second straight T.V. victory Friday night at Tillamook by downing the Cheesemakers 13 to 7. This week-end the Vikings are slated to travel to Newberg to battle the loop-leading Tigers.

After a scoreless first quarter, Forest Grove got its offensive clicking and boomed from midfield over the goal line in 10 plays. Bob Young driving through from the one-yard marker. The Vikings second score opened the second half. Tillamook was unable to advance from the kickoff and punted to the midfield mark. Knapp, Kirby and Williams alternated to pack the ball into pay-dirt in 11 plays. Knapp scoring the points by cracking over from the two-yard line.

nine-yards around end into pay dirt and then bucked the line to tie up the score at 13-13.

Newberg moved out into the lead for the first time at the start of the hair-raising final period when Fullback Tom Reynolds topped off a 69-yard scoring march by blasting for four yards into the end zone. Twenge cracked through the line for the conversion.

Just as the Newberg fans began to breathe a little easier, Doyle upset their apple cart with a brilliant 59-yard sprint over the goal line. Right End Bob MacKenzie took the Newberg kickoff and returned it to his own 41. On the next play Doyle was off to the races for a score and then passed to MacKenzie to tie up the ball game for the third time.

However, the Tigers were not to be denied. Twenge did a little apple cart tipping for Hilhi par-tisans by booming the kickoff back to the Hilhi 34 and then rifled a pass to Right End Edgar Miller for the final score.

The Spartans in desperation took to the air but lost the ball on downs on the Newberg 21.

Fans who took in the Spartan-Tiger battle to see a clash between the league's backbones, Twenge for Newberg and Doyle for Hilhi, weren't disappointed. Both players put on great individual performances and figured in all of their respective team's scoring.

period but lost the ball on downs. With 20 seconds to go Left Half Keble heaved a long desperation pass that connected with Left End Harvey Watt. ### Dark Necessary In Keeping Milk Darkness is necessary for the proper keeping of milk, according to reports from the USDA, received by Mrs. VanWinkle, emergency extension assistant. Research shows that riboflavin, the most important vitamin in this food, is rapidly destroyed by exposure to sunlight. Milk in clear glass bottles left standing only two hours in sunlight lost from 19 to 80 per cent. Almost three-fourths of the riboflavin was destroyed in bottled milk left on an open porch in sunlight from mid-morning to mid-afternoon.

The light rather than the heat does the damage, for it was found that no less of riboflavin occurred in a dark, warm place in 24 hours. In six hours in the shade at 70 degrees F. only 10 per cent of the riboflavin was lost.

A few hours on the doorstep or porch in cool fall weather may have little effect on the souring of milk but may mean a serious loss to the diet. Without the riboflavin furnished by milk, it is difficult to get the needed quantity of this vitamin in meals.

The paper containers now used by some milk companies help save the riboflavin by keeping the milk dark. If milk is delivered in clear bottles when the housewife is not at home to put it promptly in the refrigerator, a closed insulated box should be provided to keep it dark.
