Moran Brothers Meet in Seattle

DIXIE MOUNTAIN — Pat and Lawrence Moran, sons of Mr. and Mrs. William Moran of Hillsboro, met in Seattle last week. Lawrence, first time in three years last week. Pat, who is in the merchant marine and hadn't been home for a year, docked at a port in Seattle two weeks ago. Lawrence, who is in the navy, was in Seattle at the time. Upon reaching Seattle Pat was very surprised and pleased to learn that Lawrence's ship was at a pier there also. He tried to contact Lawrence but it was several days before they met.

Pat, who is not 20, has many interesting facts to tell of his duties. He left Portland nearly a year ago on the Albert B. Cummins, which was loaded with seven million feet of lumber for the Pacific. They put into Honolulu and laid over for three days.

From Honolulu they went to Enmetach in the Marshall islands and were 56 days at anchor, which Pat says was one of the more trying incidents of the voyage, as this island is very small and there was nothing for the boys to do.

The next stop was Leyte in the Philippines and it was here the lumber was unloaded. From Leyte they sailed to Oro Bay, which is here they loaded with supplies, trucks and other heavy equipment.

From this point they continued to Manila where they laid over for a month and a half and unloaded the supplies. While they were there Pat went through the University of Manila prison camp, which he says is very beautiful only it still bears the scars of human suffering.

From Manila they returned to Oro Bay and were loaded with many tons of ammunition and guns for Japan and the Philippines.

After delivering these they continued to Hollandia in Dutch New Guinea where they were loaded with ammunition and trucks for Langayan Gulf and Demortis in the Philippines.

From Demortis they left for the States, which would have been reached by July 4, but between the Caroline and Marshall islands they rammed a tanker and were forced to put in at Enmetach, where the ship's bow was repaired. After resuming their voyage they continued as far as Pearl Harbor where some tubes were blown and had to be repaired. At Pearl Harbor they were loaded with odd-sized torpedoes, etc., which they unloaded in Seattle upon arriving almost a month behind schedule.

Pat tells some amusing incidents of life abroad, among them how the Australian boys will go into a soft drink parlor or pub and give their girls outside waiting for them.

Pat flew from Seattle to Portland, which was his first airplane trip, and says that this is the way to travel.

He will be at home for about a week longer before resuming his next trip. His next trip across will be his fourth.

Despite Victory Used Fat Saving Must Go On!

SAYS SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE:

Every woman in America should know that our country continues to face a serious fat shortage. And victory over Japan won't solve the problem immediately. We must keep on saving used fats in our kitchens!

If you have any thought that saving used fats is one of those wartime chores we can drop, now that Victory is here, please consider these facts and tell them to your neighbors.

America still needs salvaged fats. Not even at the peak of our war effort, when fats were required for mountains of shells and bombs and medicines, in addition to the ever-present need for soap, were our needs for salvaging fat greater than now. Our stocks have been drained by four long years of war, and there isn't enough on hand to meet all requirements.

Don't let "Victory psychology" blind you to this national need! If housewives stop saving fats now, the shortage will become even more critical.

Don't let a single drop of used fats go to waste! Little trimmings of fat left on the platter at the table, scraps left on plates, and even the skimmings of soups and gravies are important. It is the consistent saving of even these small amounts that counts.

Don't turn in fats that can be re-used! But some fats, such as those rendered from lamb and mutton, are not suitable for re-use. Put them immediately in the salvage can. And, with other fats, after you've got all cooking good out of them, there is always a little left. No matter how little it is, save it.

Your butcher will still give you 4¢ and 2 red points for every pound you turn in. Save consistently—save every drop you can—every day—until Uncle Sam says the job is done.
