Flu Postpones Program; Students Enjoy Vacations

CHEHALEM MOUNTAIN—The Mountain Top Sunday school gave a Christmas program Sunday night. It had been postponed a week because of the flu epidemic. On the program were readings, a violin duet, a cornet solo, Christmas carols and a two-act play.

The school enjoyed an 11-day vacation. Mrs. Billie Tykeson, who teaches at Lakeview, had more than 11 days' vacation because of sickness. The Christmas program there was postponed until Wednesday night of this week.

Mrs. Lena Meyers' family, with the exception of Capt. and Mrs. Raymond Meyers, was home for their Christmas dinner party.

Club Meets
The Fish Grove Ladies' Social club entertained with a pinocle party Saturday night. Five tables were in play. High score was by Mrs. Bill Kurbie and Earl Prickett and low to Mrs. Earl Prickett and Bruce Whitmore.

Announcements have been received here of the birth of a son December 24 to Mr. and Mrs. David Otto at Forest Grove. They moved from here last spring.

Many Parties Held
Many family parties were held here throughout the week, including two at the Milburn Zeigler home. Sunday the Zeigler relatives were guests and Christmas day Mrs. Zeigler's relatives, the Wohlshlegels, were entertained. Mrs. Ted Kutschman entertained the Finigan clan Sunday with a Christmas dinner party. Mr. and Mrs. Merle Cady were hosts at the dinner party when all her sons-in-law and daughters and families and Ann Ornduff were together for the first Christmas for some time. This same group was also entertained at the Clayton Whitmore home.

Prospects of married veterans finding apartments or houses in a few of the smaller college towns appear to be slightly better than in those of the larger institutions, and Rosen suggested that it might be wise for the prospective student to consider the college where he can obtain housing now, with a view to transfer if he desires when the housing situation eases up.

A sampling of the replies ran as follows:

Oregon State college: 375 veterans enrolled fall term, 700 anticipated for winter term. Housing situation "desperate," and new students must do their own searching. About 25 federal housing units being erected, with hope of additional ones for spring term. Three-room apartments renting at about $45 per month. College room and board, $43 a month.

Willamette university, Salem: 110 veterans fall term, expect 75 to 100 more for spring semester starting March 11. Single men now living in the YMCA and private homes, and the university will use a campus fraternity house for single veterans next spring. Average cost of furnished apartments, $40 to $50; unfurnished houses, $45 to $55, where available.

By newspaper, the university has located some of these places, and expects to do so again next spring. University of Portland: Fall registration, 107 veterans, with a 300 total expected for spring semester starting January 30. No difficulty expected in housing single veterans enrolling room and board on the campus. "Fair accommodations" for married veterans at University Homes, a nearby federal housing project, with rent at $30 including light and heat.

Eastern Oregon College of Education, La Grande: Fall registration, 17 veterans, expect 75 additional winter term. "Plenty of housing for married veterans at the present time," with a federal housing project of 40 furnished apartments, 10 of which are already rented and the balance to go in the order of application. Rent, $30 a month, light and water furnished. Board and room for single veterans "still available" at about $40 a month.

Multnomah college, Portland: Fall registration, 240 veterans, expect 300 to 350 in all for spring semester starting January 28. Single veterans "may be adequately housed at the YMCA or YWCA."

Three housing projects suggested for married veterans were Guilds Lake, University Homes and Vancouver City. Approximate costs: At the "Y," $20; housing projects, $40 to $45.

Housing Situation Difficult for Married Vets Attending College

Married veterans planning to enroll in Oregon schools of higher learning for the winter and spring terms will find it difficult to locate living quarters at most campuses judging from the results of a survey conducted by the state Department of Veterans' Affairs under Hugh E. Rosen, director.

Eighteen colleges and universities in the state were queried and the majority of the replies showed that while single veterans usually can be accommodated, the married veterans still have trouble locating a place for his wife and family to live near the campus. Veteran enrollment for the winter term or spring semester is expected to double or even triple fall term registration, the survey indicated.

Sufficient replies were received to give a good cross-section of college housing conditions, Rosen said.

One question regarding finances brought replies indicating that single veterans were able to "squeeze by" on their GI educational subsistence allowances, while married veterans in most cases had to supplement this with part-time employment. Passage of the increased GI allowance, school officials said, in this condition, school officials said.

Prospects of married veterans finding apartments or houses in a few of the smaller college towns appear to be slightly better than in those of the larger institutions, and Rosen suggested that it might be wise for the prospective student to consider the college where he can obtain housing now, with a view to transfer if he desires when the housing situation eases up.

Monmouth: Fall registration, six veterans; 30 or 35 expected for winter term. Housing "adequate at the present time" for single men. "Small apartments available in town for married veterans." Though "not excellent, they are livable," at $30 to $40. College dorms have room and board for single men from $40 to $45.

Other replies were from Lewis and Clark college and Cascade college in Portland, and Northwest Christian college, Eugene. All reported facilities for single veterans, but dim prospects for the married ones, especially those with families. Virtually all the institutions are expanding their housing facilities, but do not expect construction to be completed for another year or more.

Family Escapes Flood Waters

CHEHALEM MOUNTAIN—Milo and Jim Meek went to Salem Saturday and helped their brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. M. Hickman, move their stock and household equipment from their 20-acre farm near Kaiser Corner north of Salem. The Hickman family was awakened Friday night by Red Cross workers who advised it was no longer safe to remain in their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Shook Given Shower

CHEHALEM MOUNTAIN—Mr. and Mrs. Ray Shook, who were recently married, were honored Saturday night with a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. Tom Shuck. The gifts were heaped beneath a beautifully decorated Christmas tree. After a midnight supper they were opened by Mrs. Shook's sister, Mrs. F. L. Shook. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Shook were unable to attend because both she and her mother, Mrs. Laura McInnis, were suffering an attack of flu. The evening was spent in playing cards. Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Mercer received high score in 500 and Mrs. Virgil Hoffman and P. E. Hoffman second. About 50 attended. James Hoffman of Oswego spent
