Big Percentage Cars Defective

Thirty-six per cent of the private passenger cars checked by police throughout Oregon during the first four days of the current police safety check program were defective in some respect, Secretary of State Robert S. Farrell Jr. announces.

Of 1931 cars checked from May 15 to 19, police reported 713 with defects. The average number of defects per defective vehicle was 1.93.

Defective brakes, headlights, taillights and stoplights led the list of vehicle defects noted by police, Farrell said. During the period May 15 to July 1, state and local police throughout the nation are checking brakes, lights, horns and windshield wipers on all vehicles stopped during routine enforcement activity. In some instances, city police departments are operating voluntary check lanes where motorists may have their vehicles checked by police.

The object of the police safety check program is to emphasize the need for better maintenance as a means of accident prevention, Farrell said. In making the check, police present drivers with a small pamphlet containing safety suggestions.

Legislative Skippers

The only crystalized efforts for the important post of president of the senate at the 1947 session of the Oregon legislature are those of Senator Marshall E. Cornett, gasoline and automobile distributor of Klamath Falls. The efforts of other candidates might, however, unite and bring out a strong opponent. Senator Cornett is serving his third two-year term in the senate and was campaign manager for United States Senator Guy Cordon in 1944.

Representative John H. Hall, Portland attorney, got into the flood of political Kleig lights this week when he annnounced he had 26 signed pledges for his candidacy for speaker of the house at the 1947 session. This number of votes in the republican caucus would win him the speakership and would be only five votes short of house vote election.

Local Pinball Tax

City ordinances licensing slot machines, punch boards or other gambling devices are "absolutely unconstitutional and void" Attorney General George Neuner held in an opinion requested by the district attorney of Harney county.

"It is clear that all slot machines, pinball devices, one-armed bandits and punch boards capable of being operated or played as a game of chance are lotteries," said Neuner. Under the Oregon constitution operation of these devices cannot be legalized by a municipality, the legislature nor by the people of the state without first amending the constitution.

Heavy Snows Remain

The opening of mountain pass highways will be later this year than usual. The Oregon state highway department reports reveal the deepest snows in the mountains for many years. These heavy snows are slow in melting this year but five state highways are scheduled to open within the next seven days. The east and west Diamond lake route opens Friday, this week; the Mount Hood loop, June 10; McKenzie highway, June 15; the Crater Lake and Crater Lake-Diamond Lake highways, June 15. No date has been set for the opening of the Sand Creek-Crater Lake and the Century Drive highways.

Unemployment Claims Ebb

Oregon unemployment compensation payments made in May were down about 32 per cent from the March total of $4,080,662, which was the largest amount paid in one month since the unemployment compensation commission became operative, January 1, 1936. The May payments were down $740,000 from the previous month. The reductions result from more employment in the rural districts and the fact that 14,888 claimants already have received all unemployment relief due them this year. Reductions in the claims paid column are averaging about 10,000 a month and the commission expects reductions to maintain at the present rate for at least five months. In the first five months of this year nearly 75,000 claims were filed, about 45,000 by veterans under the GI bill of rights (made with federal funds by the state agency) and were paid $4,786,000. Others covered by the state unemployment laws were paid $11,648,000.

The schedule for real estate brokers and salesmen was announced Tuesday by Claude H. Murphy, state real estate commissioner. On Tuesday morning 594 applicants had filed for the examinations. The schedule of examinations is as follows: Medford Monday, June 17; Eugene, Tuesday, June 18; Salem, Wednesday, June 19 and Portland, Thursday and Friday, June 20 and 21. Applications of those desiring to become salesmen closed June 1. Applications for those desiring to become real estate brokers will close the day before the day set for examinations in the various cities where held.

Funds Distributed for Fairs

The annual tax levy of one twentieth of a mill for county fair purposes produced $54,227 this year. This amount was distributed to the counties of Oregon Saturday by the state department through the offices of the secretary of state. With one exception, the distribution is made on the basis of property valuation within the various counties. Multnomah county is limited to a maximum of $16,500 a year out of the total. This year there was an excess for Multnomah of $2439 which was divided equally among the other counties, each receiving $67.76 in addition to the property proportion levy.
