Lewis, U. S. in Showdown Over Strike in Coal

Lewis and U. S. went into an 11th hour huddle Wednesday as the midnight deadline approached in his showdown fight with the government. He had to decide before the end of the day whether he would withdraw his contract termination notice that always means a shutdown in the soft coal mines. Lewis may be counting legal penalties if he fails to do so. Approximately 100,000 miners had already halted work.

A federal court Monday ordered John L. Lewis to haul down his signal for a soft coal strike as President Truman sent four cabinet members on the warpath against him.

The army announced Tuesday it was prepared to take a hand in the coal crisis if requested, while John L. Lewis preserved an impenetrable silence on a federal court order designed to head off a full-scale bituminous strike.

A drastic government order froze the nation's meager soft coal supplies and placed them under rationing Saturday as John L. Lewis stood pat on the challenge which threatens a strike Wednesday.

Under orders from President Truman for a finish fight, the government Sunday appealed to the soft coal miners over John L. Lewis' shabby head "to honor their contract and to mine the coal which

Many Vets Seek Terminal Pay

Large numbers of local veterans are seeking for terminal leave pay, according to Dolph Stuart, county service officer, who is filling out an average of 10 applications per day at his Hillsboro office. Stuart said pocket size reproductions of discharges are being rejected by the war department.

The service officers are being allowed on five different types of service experience. These are: basic or regular training, specialist training, government conducted correspondence courses, off-duty class programs, educational maturity as measured by education developments.

Stuart said he will attend one of the nation's many service officer schools at Portland late this month. These schools are for the purpose of bringing the representatives up to date on new developments for aiding veterans.

Sewing, Clothing Care Hints Listed

A number of helpful hints for sewing and taking care of clothing have been listed at the county home demonstration agent's office at the county courthouse in Hillsboro. They follow:

Sweater Saver — Hand-knitted sweaters will wear much longer if double yarn is used across the elbow.

Patch Matching — When making children's wash dresses, it is a practical idea to sew an extra piece of the material on the under side of the hem. In this way, the material will be washed with the rest of the dress and will match perfectly when used for patching.

Better Button Bander — For long-wear, sew buttons on children's pajamas, play clothes, etc., with dental floss. Purchase dental floss in the professional size spools; it is both stronger and more economical.

Telling Right from Wrong — When cutting material in which it is difficult to distinguish the right from the wrong side, mark the wrong side of each piece with chalk. This will save much mental debate when it comes time for sewing.

Prompt Pressing — "Press while you sew" is an excellent motto for all seamstresses to adopt. Keep an ironing board and iron set up while sewing, and press each seam as it is finished. This produces neater, more tailored results, and makes final pressing a simple matter.

Back-up Buttons — When sewing buttons on coats, always sew a small companion one on the back side. Fastened this way, the button will stay on longer.
