PEACE and QUIETNESS

With every New Year comes new hopes, ambitions, desires and acquaintances.

What we get from each day depends upon what we put into it. If we put our best we receive the best—if we don't we feel that the world is against us.

How about making new contacts for new friends this year, along with the old? We're human—we like new friends and a good business too. We want to meet you in our studio, in your home, the church, or place of business, and we just love to work with babies and children... they will like us too!
