regain the use of his legs and felt muscles and nerves moving all the way down to his feet. Since that time he has made remarkable progress, according to Red Cross officials, and is subsequently walking about the house without the aid of crutches or canes. Morris says he hopes to walk down Main street on his own two feet again.

Mrs. McEntee, the former Evelyn Haworth, and their two children, Larry, 6, and Tamara, 4, have contributed much to retain Morris' active interest in his work.

Applauds Youth Recreation

Appreciating the value of youth recreation through supervised training, J. W. Barney, city manager, granted McEntee permission to use the old baseball field opposite Shute park for club purposes of flying model airplanes and to hold air meets. Russel Ide loaned the club his power mower to cut the weeds, and C. Henry Nelson has displayed active participation regarding Boy Scout interests in woodcraft.

M. P. Cady has consistently applauded and supported the club in its activities, and Harold Weisenbach has always been ready to lend a helping hand. At the airport, Ed Ball, "Swede" Ralston, John Inman and Hap Oslund have acknowledged the beneficial work the hobby shop has been doing for youngsters by offering their co-operation and assistance.

In the first year since the club was formed members have won a carload of trophies, cups and ribbons for the outstanding performance of their aircraft. Leonard Sherman won the senior class A championship at the Oregon state meet held July 4 at Portland and McMinnville. He also placed fourth in the state contest final point totals. Leonard's partner in the events was Wesley Gates, who is interested in sport flying as a hobby. The club meets.

Prevents Child Delinquency

"To prevent juvenile delinquency," McEntee says, "every adult should spend at least 30 minutes a day with a youngster, doing what the child likes to do and not necessarily what the parents think he should do. It might be just taking a walk in the woods, collecting stamps, building a boat or airplanes or just going with dad on business calls. Some people have a hobby of just making friends," McEntee said.

McEntee further says that a boy receives both education and enjoyment from putting things together with his own hands. McEntee's prime motive at his hobby shop is "to instill in a child's mind patience and perseverance." You have to play fair with kids, he went on to say, for they seem to have a keen business mind and their own sense of evaluating negotiations.

Morris's brother, Steve, is a G.I. apprentice at the Baseline Welding Works. When he completes his training period the McEntee brothers plan to build a joint shop to accommodate a complete line of hobbies and machine welding.

Active members in the club are Wren Williams, Kenneth Pearson, Bub Pearson, Wesley Gates, Leonard Sherman, Bob Stern, Dale Baumgardner, Joe Harris, Al Lambert, Norman Stafford, Vernon Schindler, Fred Waehner, Leo Lazuck, LeVoy Johnson, Zeldon Gearhardt, Lester Weisenbach, Steve McEntee, Bob Nelson, Ted Sahle and Jim Williamson.

The club has exhibited their planes at Cady Motor Co., the Hillsboro Argus and the Man's Shop in Hillsboro.

broken by infantile paralysis during the past five years. The battle against this disease will not be won until some preventative has been found and perfected for this great crippler. Meanwhile, all possible medical help must be provided for its victims.

"The day when infantile paralysis will be gone can be brought much closer by contributions to this fight; contributions of money, medical skill and research. The help we can give through the March of Dimes will assist in the actual caring for the thousands who suffer having polio. Research made possible from these funds will some day find the cause and cure."
