

Festival Set at Cornelius; Ham Dinner Scheduled

By Mrs. Juanita Dore
—CORNELIUS—Harvest Home festival of the Cornelius Methodist church will be held Saturday, October 23 at the Cornelius school cafeteria at 7 p. m. There will be produce, aprons and fancy work and many other items which will be sold. Proceeds will go to the church. Pumpkin pie and coffee or punch will be served for lunch. Everyone is welcome.
—St. Alexander's parish will sponsor a bazaar and baked ham dinner Sunday, November 14 from 12 noon to 5 p. m. at the Cornelius school.
—Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Hanan entertained with a dinner at their home Friday evening for Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thelin. They celebrated Mrs. Thelin's birthday and all went to the theatre in Hillsboro the same evening.
—Dr. and Mrs. I. C. Jackson of Portland spent Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Jackson. They reported their son-in-law, Tom Aumack, who lives in San Francisco, has a new book he has written which has just been released from the publishers, called "The River of Rains."

—Mrs. Leroy Michaelis and son Robin returned home Sunday night from Olympia, Wash., where they attended the funeral of her grandfather and they also spent the week-end with her grandmother, who is quite ill.
—Celebrates 88th Birthday
—Mrs. Martha Ingiebrigstson celebrated her 88th birthday at her farm home Sunday. Present were Mrs. Harriet Oliver, Mrs. W. R. Cooke, Mrs. Edna Russell, Mrs. Eleanor Mundorff and Mrs. Winnie Conley Keene, of Hillsboro who was a girlhood friend of Mrs. Ingiebrigstson. Refreshments were served and they presented her with some gifts.
—Delegates to the Women's Society of Christian Service annual conference to be held at Salem October 21 and 22 are Mrs. Neva Milne, Mrs. Lottie French, and Mrs. Harriet Oliver.
—Kenneth Wilkes, who has been in Texas for some time, returned to Cornelius Saturday. He remarks that Oregon certainly looks good to him.
—Miss Anna Mae Hanson and Miss Margaret Warner, who have been in Seattle for two months, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thelin, Mr. and Mrs. Aired Bothum and Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Bothum over the week-end. They left Monday via San Francisco, Calif., for their homes in Wilmar, Miss.

—Foster Lewis underwent surgery at Jones hospital in Hillsboro last Wednesday.
—Mr. and Mrs. J. Z. Haynes entertained with a great party at their home Monday evening in honor of Mrs. Elmer Claycamp, and Mrs. Stella Bray's birthdays, which are both on October 19. Ten guests were present.
—Harvey Batchelor underwent surgery at the Providence hospital in Portland last week.
—School News
—Emma Seeley has returned from a visit to her grandmother, who lives in North Platte, Neb.
—Several of the primary people went to the beach over the week-end.
—Barbara Thompson's mother has been caring for John Ruth as a special nurse. Mr. Ruth was badly hurt at the fire last Monday night and is confined to the Jones hospital in Hillsboro. His condition is improving.
—Cornelius Parents and Teachers club met with great success at their second meeting held at the Cornelius school Monday evening with 40 parents. Several projects have been taken under advisement and committees are working on these. Funds data on these will be given at a later date.
—A sound film on the scenic spots along Oregon highways was shown. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Dixon representing the Philippines and Mr. and Mrs. Hooker of Nicaragua. Mr. Hooker, a professor of foreign languages and in the department of Pacific university, gave an interesting impromptu talk on Nicaragua and the general view of European nations toward the democratic way of the United States. They hope to hear more from him at future meetings.
—A membership drive is underway to contact all parents of grade school students to participate in an organization of this type has been requested many times in the past due to the rapid growing community. After the business meeting a social hour of refreshments which were served by Mr. and Mrs. Jim Zupo and Mr. and Mrs. A. Pearson, were enjoyed. All parents are urged to attend the next meeting in November.
—Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Adolph of American Falls, Ida., visited last week with Rev. and Mrs. Armin Horn. Mrs. Adolph is Rev. Reitz's sister.
—New concrete steps were built last week to the Lutheran parsonage, also a new floor on the porch. (Cornelius Civic club meets Thursday (today) at the home of Mrs. Howard Olanie at 1:30 p. m.)

campaign in Oregon may look like a dud so far, and again it may blow up in the face of complacent and overconfident Republicans.
No more big-name speakers are scheduled to campaign in Oregon before the general election. Scheduled or not there is a re-echoing rumor of a last hour Democratic whirlwind crusade in Oregon. Calvin Rawlins, Utah, national committee man and chairman of the western regional committee knows what's cooking but won't lift the lid. He has conferred with top Democrats this week by local radio hookup (it is that secret). Democratic lieutenants have shown a shot in the arm confidence of late and are wearing "just wait and see" smiles that merits nothing less than apprehension.
Tax Limitation
Thirty-two years ago sorely burdened Oregon taxpayers got a great idea. At the next election they ratified a 6 per cent tax limitation into the constitution.
It worked—for four years.
On the fourth year, in 1920, the same overburdened taxpayers voted upon themselves taxes in excess of their 6 per cent limitation to the tune of $1,188,524. Then it got worse.
At the next election they voted upon themselves the lowest death tax amount in excess taxes.
Since the enactment of the 6 per cent limitation law the taxpayers of Oregon have voted over one hundred million dollars upon themselves in excess taxes.

Sherwood Resident Rites Wednesday

Requiem mass was offered Wednesday at St. Cecilia Catholic church, Beaverton, for Mrs. Annette Marie Schoenbaechler, route 4, Sherwood, who died in Beaverton October 17. She had lived near Sherwood for the past 20 years.
Born November 23, 1870, in Austria, she came to the United States when she was 20 years old. Recitation of the rosary was Tuesday evening at Pegg's chapel. Vault interment was in Cooper Mountain Catholic cemetery.
Surviving are three children, Steve Schoenbaechler, Cornelius; John Schoenbaechler, Portland; and Mrs. Agnes Meier, route 2, Hillsboro, and two grandchildren.

Lions Hear Fox On Grid Scouting

The scouting of a forthcoming gridiron opponent was the subject of talk before Hillsboro Lions Wednesday by Rufus Fox, head basketball mentor and assistant football coach at Hill.
The primary purpose of scouting an opponent is to find out the offense formation being used, and variations thereof, Fox pointed out. Every system has its weaknesses and the scout often can find those weak points.
In order to make use of a scout's information, a team must be able to adjust to the coach commented.
Prior to the talk by Fox, Head Coach Jim Davis spoke briefly about the Salem game Friday. He has confidence in the reserves who will be in the lineup against the Vikings because of injuries to regulars, he pointed out. He predicted that Salem would fill the air with passes in an attempt to knock off the Spartans.

Five Indictments Brought by Jury

Five indictments, one of them secret, were returned by the grand jury after a two-day session this week.
Indicted were June L. Berquist, obtaining money under false pretenses; Wesley O. Marsh, contributing to the delinquency of a minor; Marcel W. Griffin, obtaining money under false pretenses, and Walt Fields, grand larceny.

Capital Parade Presidential Appointments

By Murray Wade
Oregon will be in a highly preferred position for appointments if and when Tom Dewey is president (that "Tom" business is just being used these days for party atmosphere—out after Nov. 2). In his last Oregon address Governor Warren reiterated what Dewey and Ed Jenckel, campaign pundit, had said about Oregon being the deciding factor at the Philadelphia convention.
Oregon has other formidable contacts. Phil Metschan, maitre d'imperial, Portland, is credited with having lined up materials in the Oregon delegation and presented a solid front for Dewey at Philadelphia. Collector of customs would suit him. Highly efficient Lamar Tison, nominated Warren for vice-president and is scheduled for solicitor general or for a place on the federal bench. U. S. Senator Wayne Morse, recently named by a national committee as the most popular orator in the republican campaign, has had notable experience on the national labor board and might be tempted to head the department of labor.
And this may not be as Quixotic as it sounds as it is "right out of the horse's mouth." Dave Beck, dominating ear of the teamsters union, is being considered for secretary of labor.
Tax Free Property
More than half a billion dollars worth of Oregon property is exempt from taxes on account of its ownership or use.
The state tax commission reported this week that listings by county showed the federal government had the largest amount of non-taxable property of the year. The federal property in this state is valued at $39,487,887. The proportion of school districts is valued at $36,611,416; municipalities at $44,737,108; church and religious property at $25,516,000 and literary and benevolent organizations at $21,714,876.
State's Title Cleared
Oregon is richer by several hundred thousand dollars since the state supreme court ruled this week that the state has legal title to the Muller building in Portland.
The building was left by the late Frank M. Muller, Portland, who died July 21, 1927. It is located at Southwest Morrison street and 2nd avenue. The state board of control, thinking it might want to use the property as a site for a new building, brought suit against Muller's heirs to clarify his will. The heirs contended they deserved title to the property, claiming the state did not carry out the terms of the will. The court, in an opinion by Justice J. O. Bailey, also held that the state could sell it or tear it down if it wants to. The opinion upheld Circuit Judge Walter L. Toozee of Portland.

Meeting Announced

By Mrs. Frank Jeffries
