New Subdivision Set at Witch Hazel

A new subdivision is being developed on the site of the old Tualatin Valley Rodeo association grounds at Witch Hazel, it was announced this week.

The property was recently purchased by Felix, Martin and Walter Zoucha of that community, who intend to construct more than 15 new homes. The dwellings are to be of conventional plan with two and three bedrooms, and attached garages. Sale prices are to be in the medium price range with F.H.A. or conventional terms, according to Washington County Agencies, sales agents for the tract.

The foundation for one home is now being poured with framing scheduled for the first part of next week. The Zoucha brothers stated that inspection of these homes is invited at any time. The location for the first house is two blocks north on Brookwood avenue from the intersection of Portland highways 2 and 6, and South Brookwood avenue, approximately two and one-half miles from Hillsboro on the way to Portland.

Grocers, Barbers Meet with Chamber

The last meeting of the chamber of commerce membership drive was held Friday noon in the chamber dining room. The meeting was held for grocers and barbers of Hillsboro, and Chamber President L. C. Kramien outlined the chamber's program and asked the aid of all Hillsboro businessmen.

The group heard a radio program concerning Hillsboro during the meeting. Clyde Walker, Ford tractor dealer, was interviewed on the subject of conservation and many local people were mentioned on the broadcast.

Kramien expressed disappointment at the turnout for this final membership meeting.

Howdy Folks: The wife who dreams she's married to a millionaire isn't nearly as much in trouble as the wife who thinks so when she is awake!

★

A miserable woman is one with no troubles to speak of.

★

Troubles come in doubles; that's why marriages require two people.

★

The trouble with most women is their trouble with men.

★

They say a man can get into trouble chasing a woman; we thought the trouble started after he caught her.

★

It must have been a pessimist who said that marriage divides pleasures and multiplies troubles.

★

Say, if this goes on, some of our readers will think we're sour on marriage.
