C. T. Richardson Honored by Albers Company Staff

The employees of the Albers Milling company surprised C. T. Richardson, superintendent, at an anniversary dinner on Monday, January 17, at the American Legion club when 40 people enjoyed with a chicken dinner. The occasion was the commemorating of 40 years of service with the Carnation company which began in December, 1906, when he began the task of straightening cans in the Kent Washington can factory. A gift of a pen and pencil set was presented to the guest and the necessary case opener was given to him since the package was so small.

During the 40 years Mr. Richardson has been in the Carnation company he has served in every capacity except that of night watch. He has received, tested, weighed and processed milk he has been on the road as a salesman, acted as foreman and has been a superintendent for the past 21 years. The Forest Grove and Hillsboro canneries have been his place of business for the greater part of this period, but he has worked in many other places.

The new industry of canned dog food was started with the conversion of the condenser in September, 1947 and the actual making of the dog food began in February, 1948. Under the capable, enthusiastic direction of Mr. Richardson, the local plant is now manufacturing a government-inspected, completely nutritious food for dogs and cats and so far, no dog or cat has been found who would not eat it with a plea for more. Distribution is now being made in the Pacific Northwest and Northern California and it is expected that Southern California will soon be receiving shipments of canned "Friskies."

They have been enjoying moving pictures of sports, especially skiing, and at their next meeting they hope to take colored movies. As are the cubs of other Pack 521 dens, the boys are working on table decorations for the February Pack meeting which will be the Annual Blue and Gold dinner, part for cubs, their relatives, and friends.
