Fisher Opposes Curbs on Four-Lane Construction

By Representative Earl E. Fisher

SALEM—Back in 1919 a two-lane highway was built from Forest Grove to Portland. Since that date the population of Washington county has more than tripled.

With this immense increase in population—this two-lane highway has become the most congested and dangerous thoroughfare in the state of Oregon. Now after many years of campaigning for four-lane auto traffic on this Tualatin Valley highway, West Slope to Gaston, the state highway department is preparing to construct four-lane traffic beginning at West Slope thence westward—but with high curbs on each side to speed up traffic! Of all the arbitrary restrictions ever imposed upon the good people—this the worst of all time! And Representative Fisher says so!

Think of all the small business concerns on both sides of T.-V. highway that will be wrecked by this high curb—which prevents the traveling public doing business with these wayside garages, cafes, stores etc. As to more speed in Washington county who wants more speedsters dodging school busses and running over pedestrians—we sure hear the sirens of ambulances too often at the present time, rushing victims of auto accidents to the hospitals as is along the Tualatin Valley highway without higher speed limits!

Every resident along the Tualatin Valley highway in Washington county and every business enterprise should immediately write a letter demanding there be no curbs on the sides of proposed new highway four-lane construction between West Slope and Beaverton. There are no curbs beween West Slope and Portland, why should property owners in Washington county be penalized and their business locations be wrecked?

Write a personal letter today to State Highway Department, Salem, Oregon. Make it plenty strong and short. Remember united we win!

Robert Dugan Rites Held at Beaverton

Services for Robert E. Dugan who died April 3 at his home on route 2, (Bonny Slope), Portland, were held at Pegg chapel, Beaverton Wednesday morning. Services were private and commitment was at the Riverview Abbey Mausoleum and Crematorium in Portland.

Mr. Dugan was born July 19, 1927 in the Capitol Hill district of Portland. He attended school at Aloha, Multnomah and Benson Polytechnic. During the war he served in the merchant marine. He was last employed as a truck driver for Consolidated Freight lines.

He is survived by his wife, Paula and one son, Daniel Frederick. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Dugan of Gresham, and he has one sister, Mrs. Helen Thomas of Beaverton.

Many Die in Hospital Fire

Estimated toll of dead and missing rose to 65 Tuesday in a fire that roared at high speed through a hospital at Effingham, Ill., at midnight Monday. A dozen newborn babies perished in the holocaust. The fire broke out in a clothes chute and leaped fiercely through wooden-floored halls and quickly engulfed the more than a hundred patients. Red Cross disaster crews moved in promptly with blood plasma, cots and medical supplies.

Record Session

The thirteenth week of the 45th legislative session of Oregon started last Monday which was the 85th day and established an all-time record for length.

"Another ten days," says Senate President William Walsh, "will be required to do justice to essential legislation." Speaker of the House Frank VanDyke concurred with President Walsh in his reckoning.

Undecided major issues include: The $50-a-month old-age assistance. The tax program. The budget for 1949-1951. Basic school aid request for a raise from $50 to $80 or more a pupil. The proposed veterans' bonus. Increases in unemployment and industrial accident benefits. A requested $2,000,000 for new buildings for the University of Oregon and Oregon State College. The highway revenue bills, increasing gas tax from 5 to 6 cents and auto licenses from $5 to $10 a year. The proposal to give $2,000,000 a year to poor school districts who need new buildings.

No Vote Yet

"I am looking for a bill to veto," said Governor Douglas McKay last Monday, but he was smiling when he said it. "So far the legislature hasn't given me much trouble and I will have no reason to bother them—I think."

As yet the governor has not "returned with comment" or vetoed any measure passed by the legislature.

This week the governor spent nearly eight hours putting his signature on 3,000 bonds calling for $3,000,000 to be applied to veterans aid. The large bonds, about 12 by 16 inches with detachable coupons, "are clumsy and slow to handle," the governor said, "but I can sign 300 or more an hour."

Young Republicans Win

Oregon young republicans want some changes made.

They want the convention system for primary elections.

They want state chairmen to have authority to call conventions.

They want a law that will allow state party conventions to give official approval of selected primary candidates. A legislative delegation is in Salem talking turkey to the legislators.

At the GOP state convention and election in Portland last Saturday the young republican party workers walked away with three top offices. Sigfrid Unander, Portland, was named state chairman. Lawrence Neualt, Baker, was elected treasurer, and Newell Elliott, Baker, was re-elected secretary.

Cancer Control Month

In an open letter issued Friday Governor Douglas McKay said, "I am glad to lend endorsement to the sponsorship of Cancer Control Month by the American Cancer Society and urge that during the month of April, citizens of Oregon give their full support to the program of the Society in its effort to defeat the disease which is taking an ever-lasting toll in the state and nation. The American Cancer Society will seek contributions to its funds and the money collected will help strengthen the research and educational work that is being done effectively by the organization."

Donelson & Sewell mortuary will be in charge of funeral services. Date of the funeral had not been set early Wednesday afternoon.

Welfare Program Started on Way

SALEM—The social welfare program, one of the stumbling blocks in final adjournment of the legislature, has been started on its way in the house. First to pass was a bill to tighten up legislation to compel children to help in the support of needy parents.

Most of the major highway program has gone through both houses. The gasoline tax increase from 5 to 6 cents a gallon has gained house and senate approval and now awaits action by Governor McKay. The bill increasing the automobile license fee to $10 has also passed both houses.

Dairymen to Meet

The Washington county Guernsey Breeders club will meet in the quonset hut at the fairgrounds in Hillsboro Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. Movies will be shown and the topic of the evening will be feeding cows for milk production.
