stops rust

Before rust stops you

Your car's rust zone

RUSTED IN ORDINARY GASOLINE
This steel rod is heavily coated with rust after special 48-hour laboratory test in ordinary gasoline containing a small amount of added water. Rust also attacks the gasoline tank and fuel system of your car.

PROTECTED IN RICHFIELD GASOLINE
Rod shows no sign of rust after an identical 48-hour laboratory test in Richfield gasoline containing amazing RD-119. Before test, the same amount of water was added to prove conclusively the superior protection you get with Richfield Rust-Proof gasoline.

World's first rust-proof gasoline

contains amazing Sinclair RD-119

Again Richfield is first with a "Years Ahead" development in gasoline!

Richfield gasoline—with amazing RD-119—STOPS rust and corrosion in your car's vital "rust zone."

What causes rust? Rust and corrosion result from moisture in your gasoline, caused largely by condensation.

What damage does rust do? 1. Rust ruins gasoline tanks and other fuel system parts, causing costly repairs and replacements... 2. Rust clogs fuel lines, screens and carburetor jets, causing rough idling, poor mileage and loss of power and performance... 3. Rust particles cause wear on precision parts in fuel pump and carburetor, causing frequent costly overhauls and replacements.

How does RD-119 prevent rust? It coats the inside of your car's fuel system with an invisible, polymolecular protective layer that prevents rust.

Protect your car! Fill up with Richfield—the only Rust-Proof gasoline—today.
