

185 Attend Stalder Reunion; Junior Camp Set for July 24-30

By Mrs. Frank Jeffries
BETHANY. The annual reunion of the Stalder clan was held Sunday at the Bethany farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Stalder. It was attended by 185 descendants of John and Mary Stalder who, with their ten children, came from Switzerland in 1826 and bought this same farm from the Bruggler tract. Four more children were born to them here and of this family five survivors attended the convalescence, namely: Mrs. Elizabeth Wetzel, Mrs. Fred Ritter, Mrs. Lydia Marks, Mrs. Martha Stalder, all of Portland, and Emil Stalder, the host. They have not met in this area for 17 years.

A devotional service was conducted by Harry Johnson of Portland and a duet was sung by Elizabeth and Miriam Zink. An account of his experiences was given by Roy Ralph Goring, a Baptist missionary to Brazil, now on furlough here with his wife and children. Mrs. Goring is a great-niece of the Stalders.

At the business session, new officers were elected as follows: President, George Peters, vice-president, Henry Bertelot, secretary, Mrs. Roberta Herman, treasurer, Eugene Weizer, all of Portland.

Plan Junior Camp

According to the president, Eda Dye, about 20 youngsters from 8 to 12 years of age will be held next Sunday at 3 o'clock at Hillsboro followed by a pot-luck supper for parents and friends bringing Juniors to the camp. Because the charge has been placed so low, donations of food for the camp are being solicited.

Girls Use Wood Pile To Build Playhouse

By Mrs. Jean Bowen

When four little girls got together to play house they usually use old furniture and place it around the attic until they have designed their own rooms. Not so with Joyce and Jane Hutchinson who combined their grandmother's wood pile and a patch of yard to make their own floor plan.

Supervised by 12-year-old June and aided by playmates Marilyn and Lillian Hall, they used hammer and nails to mark the walls of the three-room "house." Then using old-sized planer ends, they built the furniture by matching up the pieces to achieve the article desired.

In the kitchen, the girls have a center table flanked by a stove, a cupboard and a sink. There is even a little stool scaled to size so that dishes can be done sitting down.

Furniture Detailed
 A square piece of wood indicates the door which leads to the living room where there is another table, a bookcase, an ample day-bed and chairs. The typewriter which they built has the keyboard printed in with red crayon. The player piano has its repertoire penciled on the keyboard.

Steps lead the way to the bedroom where there are twin beds, a dresser, and a what-not table. Lillian explained that one structure which had two shelves was built "to hold our shoes in."

Brother Flies To Rieben Farm

By Mrs. I. Schlegel

HARRISON.—Excitement and speculation ran wild at the sight of a shiny Cessna airplane parked in a clover field at the Rieben brothers farm. Everything proved to be in order for it was the plane that Harold Rieben, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Rieben, had flown in from a routine training flight from San Francisco. Harold is a mechanic for Pan American Airlines and also is a student studying for a navigator's license. He flew in Tuesday noon in perfect weather, having made the trip at an altitude of 9,000 feet. The whole family enjoyed a view of the countryside from around 1200 feet elevation. Little David Rieben was so impressed with the flight that he sees no reason why his daddy shouldn't buy a plane.

Harold left Wednesday at 9 a.m. and arrived in San Francisco at 3:15 p.m. loaded down with meat, fruit and vegetables, strictly fresh from the farm, for his wife and 18-month-old daughter, Kathryn.

Peters and Mrs. Archie Jesse assisted with the serving of the birthday cakes, ice cream and punch to the 24 well-wishers.

Karen Goode visited with Karen Behrman from Monday to Wednesday of last week. Karen returned to her home in Portland Wednesday evening with the Ernest Behrman family who were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Goode.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Williams are spending this week with friends at Breitenbush. Grandpa Williams is visiting his granddaughter's family.

their furniture but they did add scraps of linoleum to add color. A modern touch was introduced when they had to make room for a bush in their living room.

The Hutchinson girls are visiting their grandmother, Mrs. Claude Rogers, from Nebraska. The Ball children are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Ball, 33 North Second avenue.

It is doubtful, however, if the playhouse will stand the test of time and weather. Come winter, grandmother will need her fire, and like the Cinderella story, the house will again become just the wood pile.
