CASH SYSTEM.—Our experience in the newspaper business has thoroughly convinced us that the credit system won't pay—that promises won't keep a newspaper in running order. We have, therefore, adopted the cash system—payment in advance. Volume One of the REGISTER will close with the issue of September 4th, 1869, when all subscriptions on which advance payments have not been made, will be discontinued. We would have to lose a single subscriber from our list because of the adoption of this rule, but justice to ourself demands it. If the paper is worth the price asked—$3—it is just as convenient to pay it at the commencement as at the close of the volume: if it is not worth the subscription price, don't take it—there's no compulsion in the matter. We hope to retain all our old subscribers, and to obtain many new ones for Volume Two. As our subscription list enlarges, so will the size and interest of the paper increase. This is our say for the future.

A Prompt Witness.

Perhaps one of the most "enjoyable" things in a modern court of justice—where not unfrequently innocent witnesses, who are losing patience, time and money in their compulsory occupancy of the witness stand (which is a piliory are "ballyragged" and tormented—is the torturing in return of some impudent unfeeling advocate. A good case in point is this:

In a court not more than about five thousand miles away from the city of Gotham a legal gentleman had gone through the various stages of bar pleading, and had coaxed, threatened, and bullied witnesses to his heart's content, when it chanced that a very stupid fellow, an hostler was called upon the stand. He was, in fact, simplicity personified. The counsel, it should be premised, had made a great fuss about the previous witness speaking so low that he could not hear them.

"Now, sir," said the learned counsel, "I hope we shall have no difficulty in making you speak up." (He himself spoke rudely loud.)

"I hope not, Sir!" shouted out the witness in such bellowing tones that they fairly shook the building.

"How dare you speak in that way; Sir?" demanded the counsel.

"I can't speak no louder!"—shouting louder than before, as if to atone for his fault in speaking too low!

"Have you been drinking this morning?" asked the lawyer, who had entirely lost the command of his temper at the roars of laughter which burst forth from a crowded audience.

"Yes, sir," said the witness, frankly.

"And what have you been drinking, Sir? Look at the jury—don't look at me, Sir, in that way?"

"Coffee, Sir."

"Did you have any thing in your coffee, Sir?"

"Yes, sir."

"I thought so," said the counsel, with a glance at the jury. "Well, Sir," continued the "learned counsel," "you say you had something in your coffee. State, if you please, to the jury what that something was."

"Sugar, Sir," answered the witness, without the movement of a muscle.

"This man is no fool, your Honor" (addressing the Court), "but he is something worse. Now, witness, you must come to the point. Had you anything else in your coffee besides sugar?"

"Yes, sir."

"Yes?—You had? (Well, we are likely to get at the truth after all, his turning and twisting to the contrary notwithstanding.) Well, Sir, what else was it you had in your coffee?"

"A spurne, Sir!" shouted the witness

"Do I make you hear me Square?—a spurne!"

That was the last witness, and the last of him on the stand. Here the trial was adjourned until the next day.—Harper's Magazine.

The San Francisco Bulletin says: The White Pine mines are now yielding bullion at the rate of about $500,000 a month. The great obstacle the district has to contend with is the want of milling facilities. At present there are only 155 stamps at work, and their production is greater than that of any similar number of stamps working on Comstock ore. In less than two months the number of stamps will probably be increased to 350. The production, it is thought, will thereupon reach $1,000,000 a month.

Laws of the United States.

ISSUED AT THE FIRST SESSION OF THE FORTY-FIRST CONGRESS.

By the President of the United States of America.

A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas a convention between the United States of America and the republic of Peru, providing for the adjustment of a speedy and equitable either country against the other, was concluded and signed by their respective plenipotentiaries at the city of Lima, on the fourth day of December, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-eight, which convention, being in the English and Spanish languages, is word for word as follows:

Whereas claims may have at various times since the signature of the decisions of the mixed commission in which met in Lima in July, 1863, been made on the government of the United States of America by citizens of Peru, and have been made by citizens of the United States of America on the government of Peru, and whereas some of such claims are still pending, the President of the United States of America and the President of Peru being of opinion that a speedy and equitable settlement of all such claims will contribute much to the maintenance of the friendly feelings which subsist between the two countries, have resolved to make arrangements, conventional in purpose by means of convention, and have named as their plenipotentiaries to confer and agree thereon, that is to say:

The President of the United States of America, Alvin P. Hovey, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States of America near the government of Peru, and the President of Peru, names his excellency Doctor Don Jose Antonio Barrenechea, minister plenipotentiary of Peru, who, after having communicated to each other their respective full powers, found in good and true form, have agreed as follows:

Article I. The high contracting parties agree that all claims on the part of corporations, companies, or private individuals, citizens of the United States, upon the government of Peru, and all claims on the part of corporations, companies, or private individuals, citizens of Peru, upon the government of the United States, which may have been presented to either government for its interposition since the signing of the said mixed commission, and which remain yet unsettled, as well as any other claims which may be presented within the time specified in Article III hereinafter, shall be referred to the two commissioners, who shall be appointed in the following manner:

One commissioner shall be named by the President of the United States, and one by the President of Peru. In case of the death, absence, or incapacity of either commissioner, or in the event of either commissioner omitting or ceasing to act, as such, the President of the United States or the President of Peru, respectively, shall forthwith name another person to act as commissioner in the place or stead of the commissioner already named. The commissioners so named shall meet at Lima at their earliest convenience after they have been respectively named, not to exceed three months from the ratification of this convention, and shall, before proceeding to any business, make and subscribe a solemn declaration that they will impartially and carefully examine and decide to the best of their judgment, and according to justice and equity, without fear, favor, or affection for their own country, upon all such claims as shall be laid before them on the part of the governments of the United States and Peru respectively, and such declaration shall be entered on the record of the commission.

The commissioners shall then, and before proceeding to other business, name some third person, of some third nation, to act as an arbitrator as umpire in any case or cases on which they may themselves differ in opinion. If they should not be able to agree upon the name of such third person, they shall each name a person, of a third nation, and in each and every case in which the commissioners may differ in opinion as to the decision which they ought to give, it shall be determined by lot which of the two persons so named shall be the arbitrator or umpire in the particular case. The person or persons so to be chosen to be arbitrator or umpire shall, before proceeding to act as such in any case, make and subscribe a solemn declaration in the place and stead of the person so originally named as aforesaid, and shall make and subscribe such declaration as aforesaid.

Article II. The commissioners shall then forthwith proceed to the investigation of the claims which shall be presented to their notice. They shall investigate and decide upon such claims in such order and in such manner as they may conjointly think proper, but upon such evidence or information as shall be furnished by or on behalf of their respective governments. They shall be bound to receive and peruse all written documents or statements which may be presented to them by or on behalf of their respective governments, in support of or in answer to any claim, and to hear and receive one person on each side on behalf of each government, as counsel or agent for such government, on each and every separate claim. Should they fail to agree in opinion on any individual claim they shall call to their assistance the arbitrator or umpire whom they have agreed to name, or who may be determined by lot, as the case may be, and such arbitrator or umpire, after having examined the evidence adduced for and against the claim, and after having heard, as required, one person on each side, as aforesaid, and consulted with the commissioners, shall decide thereupon finally and without appeal. The decision of the arbitrator or umpire shall be binding on the commissioners and of the arbitrator or umpire shall be given upon each claim in writing, and shall be signed by them respectively. It shall be competent for each government to procure one person to attend the commissioners as agent on its behalf, and to answer claims made upon it, and to represent it generally in all matters connected with the investigation and decision of the claims. The President of the United States and the President of Peru hereby solemnly and sincerely engage to consider the decision of the commissioners jointly, or of the arbitrator or umpire, as the case may be, as absolutely final and conclusive upon each claim decided upon by them
