LOCAL AFFAIRS

See first page for locals and general news.

LAUREL.—We are behind in time with the President's Message. It should have been issued in an "extra" last week. We have two good and valid reasons why the "extra" was not issued. One was that the accident to our press, mentioned last week, set us back two days; and second, on paper, ordered nearly two weeks before, through negligence we couldn't issue, had not arrived. Without paper we wouldn't issue the Message if abundance of time had been at our disposal. We give the Message in this number that our subscribers may have it in a convenient form to preserve, to refer to at any future time. It is an able document, and well worth preservation.

LOOK OUT FOR HIM.—C. D. Plummer, the Educational Agent, who has been greeted with crowded houses throughout California, Nevada, Hawaii, and in fact wherever he has been, who has been delighting the people of Salem during the past week with nightly exhibitions of elocution, humorous recitations, delineations of Irish, Yankee and German characters, informs us by note that he will in all probability "dig out" from Salem to-day, with the intention of pitching his tent among "usa's" next week. Plummer has received universal commendation from the press every where as possessing all the qualifications of a first-class elocutionist, and as a delineator and mimic, a genuine "funist," has no equal living. If our people don't all go to hear Plummer they'll lose the "biggest thing" in the line of exhorting humor ever offered them.

WOOLEN MILL.—It is rumored in Brownsville that the Woolen Factory will commence business again in March. Our informant states, however, that he did not know whether there was any ground for the rumor or not, but he is in hopes that rumor for once may be correct, and that the factory may be in full blast by March next, if not before that time. The stoppage of this factory has been a serious drawback to Brownsville, both as to business and growth, and its energetic citizens will not let the machinery of the factory rust for want of use if there is any reasonable means that can be made available by them to avoid it. Let the Woolen factory commence operations again, and Brownsville will be the liveliest burg in Oregon.

CHRISTMAS TREE AT THE M. E. CHURCH.—As previously announced in this journal, the Sabbath School connected with the Methodist church of this city is to have a Christmas Tree. A committee has been appointed who will be in attendance at the church on the 24th (Friday), ready to receive and hang upon the tree all presents intended for the occasion. The exercises on the 25th will consist of one or more brief addresses with vocal and instrumental music. A general invitation is extended to the citizens of Albany to attend. We hope it may prove a happy occasion to all who attend.

APPEARANCE.—Our brethren of the quill have generally, throughout the State, given us many kind words of commendation and praise, for which we are not only grateful but proud. It is our aim to deserve all that has been said of us in this kindly spirit, and more. Our aim is to grow better with age and experience. We believe that the REGISTER, in appearance at least, is second to no journal in Oregon. Look at the number before you, kind reader, and tell us if you do not think that we have a right to feel proud of our looks. It has always been our aim to do our work well, and the reader can judge from the specimens before him whether we have succeeded or not.

THE EVENING LAMP.—We have received the advance number of the above entitled journal. It is a large eight column weekly, devoted to the literature, agriculture, in fact is filled with the choicest of reading matter for the family. It is one of the most entertaining as well as the cheapest of Eastern journals. The price of The Evening Lamp is $2 per annum, but we will furnish the REGISTER and one copy of the Lamp one year for $4. The Lamp is published in Chicago, by A. N. Kellogg.

TOYS, ETC.—Messrs. F. M. Redfield & Co., ever on the qui vive to meet the wants and desires of the little folks about holiday times, have now on hand at their grocery establishment a fine assortment of toys, candies, etc., bought especially for the occasion. The little ones should save up their dimes, and all that can be spared from their beautiful toys and candies.

THE "GAY" FARM.—Mr. M. B. Gay, brother of the inventor of the "Gay" plow, with his family, has taken up his residence in this city, and will commence the manufacture of the above mentioned labor-saver. Mr. Gay informs us that he has made some improvements on the original invention, and he thinks with the application of his new improvements the "Gay" plow will soon take rank as the best and cheapest in the market.

AWFUL THOUGHT.—Reader, have you noticed, of late years especially, how universal is the propensity in this country, even by the extremely young, to break the laws of men and tum? It was only the other day that we saw a little rascal, hardly a year old, who had his mother's eyes and his father's nose and chin!

BLANKS.—We have just received some beautiful Warranty Deeds, which we offer fifty per cent cheaper than ever sold here before. We will soon have on hand a supply of Mortgages, Quit Claims, and other blanks, printed in the highest style of the art, and for sale lower than the lowest.

RELIGIOUS.—The Christian church at Brownsville is holding a series of revival meetings, at which considerable interest is manifested. The meetings, which commenced last Saturday, are held in Smith's Hall, and are under the management of Revs. A. Powell and John Harris.

WHEAT.—It is being received by our mills notwithstanding the conditions of the roads. The Albany Steam Mills, which are now all right and running full time, received two or three hundred bushels of good wheat on Wednesday, and receive more or less every day.

PULLING SNAGS.—The P. T. Co.'s steamer Echo has been engaged pulling snags between this city and Eugene. Steamers will not be able to get up that far until there is another rise in the Willamette.

FRESHEN.—The large, fine warehouses of Mr. Dave Froman, at the east end of the city, has been completed, with the exception of one coat of paint. It is the strongest, most complete, and probably the largest warehouse in the State, having a storing capacity of two hundred thousand bushels.

We are under obligations to correspondents this week. A quorum is in attendance.

BROWNVILLE ITEMS.

FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT.

BROWNVILLE, Dec. 13th, 1869.

We were absent last week, hence were unable to fire our quill. We were down on a visit to the capital, but we suppose the Salem newspapers kept you well posted in regard to current events of that city and surroundings.

We visited our friend Daniel Clark, now President of the State Agricultural Society. Mr. C. is conducting his farm on scientific principles. Few men evince as much skill and interest in the management of stock and farm arrangements. He has a neat little steam engine with which he saws wood, cuts his straw and hay, and cooks the feed for his cattle and horses; also, the entire feed for sixty head of large beef cattle, which is still feeding for the Spring market. This feed is a mixture of finely cut hay and straw, shorts, oil-cake, etc., which is thoroughly cooked in a tank which holds nearly 100 bushels.

We were informed that Mr. Thomas Cross is going to England to bring some of his relatives to this country; also, that our old-time friend, Frank Bewley, would accompany him the entire trip. Mrs. Cross will go as far as Chicago to visit her friends.

A heavy drive of stock cattle from the North passed through this place a few days ago. One of the party informed us that the drive belonged to Mr. Murphy; that he had started from the Yackima, (W. T.) to Rogue river, Oregon. They missed their way, took a trail that led them into the Cascade mountains, near the Three Sisters, when the trail petered out. They wandered about for more than a month, retraced their steps and came to this valley by way of the Lebanon and Cascade wagon road. Their riding animals gave out, and a part of the party had to travel on foot. Their supply of provisions became exhausted, and for four weeks they lived on beef without salt. One of the party passed over the snows of the Cascades barefooted.

Mr. H. C. Haasman finds fault with the Register's Brownsville correspondent by saying that every other branch of business in the place was mentioned but his. We will venture to say, by way of an apology, that he can bring more physical force to bear in making a good wagon than any other Dutchman in the State; and, by the way, is not slow in making a speech in debate; and, since the Winter has set in, he has got out two hundred hubs and four thousand spokes, all of the best Oregon oak.

During this rainy weather, and in the absence of snow, the school boys have formed a mammoth slide down a steep hill near the school house, which has led to rival the slides to be found on those grassy knolls which the aborigines tell were formed by children playing long years ago; but it looks more like a huge otter slide than any thing else our mind's eye can picture.

We have been advised that W. R. Bishop is going to arrange a Christmas tree for the amusement of the scholars of his school, and those of their friends who may wish to participate in the entertainment on Christmas eve.

The "Christian" church is now holding a protracted meeting in North Brownsville.

Two Temperance brothers, William and Samuel, young men residing in this place, start for White River, W. T., to-day. They go for the purpose of locating, preparatory to a permanent settlement in that vicinity in the Spring.

LOST AT SEA.—A sight or two before our last city election, as our reporter was out around the city in search of an item, to see and be seen, he espied an individual who was make-like wending his way down Broadbald street, and when "furnish" the Court House he careaced a little too much road-wise, and, as a consequence, was the next moment floundering in the ditch, pulling and blowing like a whale, and making the city fly in all directions. After several vain attempts to get from his soft berth, he succeeded in reaching shore, and, after surveying for a few minutes the narrow stream up and down, he exclaimed, with visions of horrible shipwrecks obscured his befogged vision: "Blast my—his—eyes; but this is the—his—first time—his—that I ever—his—was out eight—his—of land."

"Fraid—his—went got to town—his—time" "nuff to—his—vote, them D—myer—his—lose one boy vote. "Fraid—his—"will bust party up. "Rah—his—for Dem—his—ly!" At last accounts of said "Dimmyer," he had got no "right of land"; nor will he so long as he sits under such a Captain, and ballasted with nitro-glycerine.

EXCITING.—The possibility of the Oregon Central Railroad being carried eight or ten miles south of this city, and the further rumor that an attempt will be made at the next Legislature to divide Linn county, has got up quite a little excitement in portions of the county. There are many Democratic aspirants for office in this county, and so few offices to fill compared to the number willing to become servants of the people, that something had to be offered having a plausible show of the occasion, to keep the unemployed at the coming convention from kicking out of the traces, by holding out hopes of another chance at the public crib. Our information leads us to believe that the road will be built according to the original intention, and one of the principal points on the line of the Oregon Central Railroad is the city of Albany.

NEAT CARPENTER.—The neat and tasty job of work in the shape of a new window, in the front of Hill & Son's drug store, constructed for Mr. Titus' new jewelry establishment, was made at the furniture warehouses of Mr. Chas. Mealey, and is a job of work that he may feel proud of. This comes of employing first-class mechanics, and using the best material. Mr. Mealey has received new furniture during the present week, to which general attention is called.

BALL.—Several of our fun-loving and enterprising citizens who know how to get up and carry out such an affair, announce that a ball will be given in this city, at Hauck & Myers' new hotel, on the evening of the 24th. From the known character of the gentlemen concerned, we have every confidence in the success of the dance. Good music has been secured, a nice supper will be provided, and those who attend will doubtless get $3 worth of fun, the price of the ticket. We return our thanks to the management for a complimentary ticket.

ENJOYMENT.—Our young people are bound to enjoy themselves during the long winter nights that are upon us, and in the absence of anything else "surprise" parties are all the rage. A "surprise" doctored party was in progress on Friday night, and from the preparations made we imagine the recipients of it will not only be much surprised but gratified by the substantial tokens of esteem and friendship presented to them on said occasion.

LIVELY.—Three steamboats arrived at our wharf Monday night. Two of them, the Albany and Active, came in with a rush, the former making the landing first. As the Active got away first going up, it probably put the Albany to her "boots" to catch up again before reaching their destination. Both were apparently doing their best in the traveling line.

PLANT.—We are informed that a large number of the farmers of Linn will go into the cultivation of flax next season, in lieu of wheat, as they can realize more largely from flax than from wheat at present prices.

COMING.—Emigrants are arriving every week from the States, calculating to make Oregon their future home. We are informed that no less than thirty arrived in this city by steamer the first of the week, some of them from Iowa and others from Missouri.

INCREASING.—Our readers will observe that we are giving a larger amount of reading matter than any weekly in the State, with one or two exceptions. Our subscription list is increasing, and we are thus enabled to pay for more composition.

RAILROAD SURVEY.—The railroad surveying party are surveying at present a new line which will run some two miles east of Albany. It is only a temporary line.

BIG LAMP.—A monstrous lamp has been built by Messrs. O. P. Tompkins & Co., at the store and tin store, corner of First and Washington streets, to be used by Messrs. Hauck & Myers in front of their new hotel. It's a big thing in the lamp line.

CONVALESCING.—Judge Baber, who has been confined to his room by sickness for some days past, we are happy to state at the present writing is rapidly convalescing.

ACCIDENT.—By an accident occurring to the machinery of Parker's steam saw mill in the eastern portion of the city, work was suspended for one day.

QUIET.—We are unable as yet to report all quiet in our jurisdiction, only one little fight having occurred during the week. We didn't learn how much the city gained by the little transaction.

NAVIGATION.—The river has been in good boating stage during the week. The cold weather of the last few days may reduce the water to a lower stage.

"Jim, you're a pig," said a parent to a little three-year old boy. "Now, do you know what a pig is, Jimmy?" "Yes, sir; a pig is a hog's little boy!" (Here's where the laugh comes in.)

FRIDAY.—We issue one day in advance of our usual publication day, that those who have not seen it may have the pleasure of reading the Message.

EDUCATIONAL.—It is rumored that an educational journal will be started in Portland soon.

STILL AHEAD.—That Star Spangled Banner, which for seven years has waved to the great satisfaction of its many thousand readers, and to the dissatisfaction of all swindlers and rascals generally, is even more wide awake than ever. It has at an immense expense secured the services of an eminent artist, and the result is that it purports to give every subscriber a copy of their elegant engraving gratis. The paper and its publishers are reliable and it will pay to send for specimens to THE STAR SPANGLED BANNER, Hindsdale, N. H., or they can be seen at this office.

An English firm has manufactured a hammer for the Russian government, to be used in forging cannon. The hammer, anvil, block and all weigh 4,000 tons.

ABOUT OREGON.—The Randolph (Ark.) Express, of a recent date, contains a long letter describing portions of Oregon, for which we select the following, publishing without comment: "When we speak of this valley (the Willamette) we talk of the boat, pride, and garden of Oregon. The climate of this valley is such that grass grows on it so as to furnish grazing feed for stock the whole year round; but the nights are so cold that they cannot raise corn at all. [The specimens of corn and corn meal exhibited at the recent Linn County Fair look as though we could raise corn a little.—Wheat is the principal crop, and yields so abundantly that it is seldom worth more than fifty cents per bushel. Five hundred miles from Sacramento we struck the head water of the Willamette. A scene of beauty was opened out before us which I realize my inability to describe—words are not adequate. Down the center courses the Willamette River. Through the rich basin, nearly fifty miles wide, most of the surface is prairie and on either side of the prairie land is a succession of hills and ridges, frequently of rounded shape, generally a thousand feet high and a half mile in width, others covered with thick luxuriant grasses, and furnished with numerous an unexcelled grazing country. Still on beyond these foot hills are the snow covered mountain ranges enclosing this wonderful valley, that seems to enjoy the widest range in variety of scenery ever found on tillable land in one locality.

But while nature has done so much to beautify the landscape, her lavishness of richness seems to have had a very enervating influence on some of the inhabitants of the valley. A livelihood is so easily obtained, that no energy has been demanded, and in the southern or upper part of the valley it appeared to me that apathy, indolence and slothfulness, were the predominant traits of the people. Almost every farm had the appearance some of ours used to have a few years ago, where the old man died and the boys were all off in the army. But as we come down the valley toward the north, and approached facilities for cheaper transportation of crops, the general appearance of civilization constantly improved. Each farming community seemed an improvement on the one just passed, and each town we reached seemed to excel its predecessor.

The mind is like a trunk; if well packed it will hold almost anything; if ill packed, next to nothing.

The Boise Chronicle of the 4th inst. says: Mr H. P. Isaacs showed us a letter from Oro Grand, which states that winter has fairly set in in the new mining region. Most of the people have gone into winter quarters, though some little mining is going on. Prospecting bar claims is proving successful, and good pay is obtained. The hill diggings are very deep though extensive and rich. It is generally believed that the mines on Loon Creek will give employment to between 800 and 1200 miners next season. Provisions, miners' goods, etc., are plenty. Light very scarce—kerosene oil selling at six dollars per gallon.

"I am indeed very much afraid of lightning," murmured a pretty girl, during a storm. "And well you may be," sighed her despairing lover, "for your heart is made of steel."

The subjoined correspondence sufficiently explains itself:
PORTLAND, OREGON, Nov. 15, 1869.

Messrs. EVERSON & HAINES, General Agents New England Mutual Life Insurance Company, Boston.

Gentlemen—On my own behalf and in the name of my orphan children, I beg to thank you, and through you the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company of Boston, for the payment and also in paying me my terminated policy on the life of my husband. On the 21st of January, 1869, misfortune compelled me to forego the payment of the last premium—which non-payment the New England Mutual to all who would provide against possible misfortune. I sincerely thank you for your generous and gentlemanly assistance in the matter.

Respectfully,
BETSEY MILLER.

PORTLAND, OREGON, Nov. 15, 1869.
Messrs. EVERSON & HAINES, General Agents of the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company of Boston.

Gentlemen—Having taken a lively interest in the affairs of a large and destitute family, left by an old resident of this city, who died Aug. 2, 1869, and who was insured in the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company, we take pleasure in making the following statement for the insurance of the public: A. E. C. Miller was insured by ordinary Life Policy No. 12,054, bearing date January 21, 1863. He died August 2, 1869, after eighteen months after the last payment of premium, yet your company working under the Equitable Laws of Massachusetts, pays the widow and orphans the whole policy, deducting only the premium due; while in all other companies doing business here, about which we know anything, the policy would long since have been forfeited.

By the New England Mutual, the widow has been paid $4,650 50. This we consider magnificent, more especially when we take into consideration that the family would not have received a cent from any other company doing business on this coast. This, in our estimation, is enough to recommend this company above all others. This is Equity, this is LIBERALITY. We, therefore, recommend this company to the public, as the only company that has no forfeitures.

We herewith inclose you the acknowledgments of the widow. Respectfully, etc., CINCINNATI BILLS, JACOB MAYER, GEORGE H. FLANDERS, M. SELLER.

OFFICE NEW ENGLAND MUTUAL LIFE INS. CO., No. 12, CARTER'S BUILDING, PORTLAND, OREGON, Nov. 18, 1869. To Messrs. C. Bills, J. Mayer, Geo. H. Flanders, and M. Seller.

Gentlemen—Your favor of yesterday, inclosing "Acknowledgments of Mrs. Miller," is at hand. Please accept our thanks for the voluntary justice you have done to the company we represent. Yours very truly, EVERSON & HAINES.
