Scio News .- The initial number of the Scio News reached us on Saturday. It is a four-column paper, H. H. King, editor, published every Thursday, at $1 50 per annum. We glean as follows from its pages :

The editor thinks a macadamized road should be built at once, from Scio to intersect the railroad at the nearest pointand urges immediate action in the mat-packed nearly two hundred thousand pounds of pork this season. They had forwarded ten tons of a superior quality of bacon to San Francisco. Although large quantities of dried apples have been shipped from Scio to Salem, there is quite a supply still on hand. Farmers are studying economy, and are saving the products of both farm and orchard.

W. N. Snyder left Scio on Tuesday with five teams heavily freighted with butter, eggs, intended for the San Francisco market.

The young folks of Scio were enjoying themselves over oyster suppers during the evenings, and their excess of spirits destroyed the rest of the editor.

Mr. Biyleu has quit hoteling, and Mr. A. Briggs assumed control. The death of Voluey Clisby, eldest son of John and Amanda E. Miller, aged 5 years, 1 month and 1 day, is chronicled as transpiring on the 1st. FOR ABOLISHMENT .- The House of Representatives, by an overwhelming majority, has voted to abolish the franking privilege.

BOUND OVER .- Archibald Rader, who had a preliminary examination last week, on a charge of forgery, was held in $600 to appear at the next term of the Circuit Court. At last accounts he had failed to give bail in the required amount. and answer to the charge of bigamy.

APPOINTMENT.-The office of Pilot Commissioner, made vacant by the death of Capt. John H. Couch, has been given to Thos. J. Dryer, formerly editor and proprietor of the Portland Oregonian.

RAILROAD ITEM .- The Oregon City Enterprise says it is confidently expected that work will be commenced on Holladay's road at Parrot's creek, about next Tuesday, the 15th inst., and that the twenty miles of road now constructed will be ballasted for business as rapidly as the weather will permit.

HUMBUG AND RASCAL.-The Portland Herald thinks Wood, of New York. or any other Democrat who advocates the payment of the national debt, is a humbug. Wood thinks the Herald, or any other Democrat who advocates repudiation of the national debt, is a rascal. Yet we continue to be told that Democracy is the same everywhere.

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES .- From the

the sate as their candidate for Governor, Grover, of Salem ; Rev. Smith, of Salem, for U. S. Senate, and Geo. R. Helm. Esq. present Clerk of Linn County, for Congress. But another branch of the Democracy claims a show in the nominations. This section of Democracy, Led by the "three laboring lawyers" of Portland, will probably play a big hand in the Convention. One of the trio wants the nomination for Governor, and with the help of the wing which they control, will doubtless make it warm for the "boys." Another wing of the party will present the name of Mr. Bush, banker, of Salem, but it is thought that unless this wing "comes down" liberally with the cash, it will cut no figure with the bed-rockers. It is thought that the chances, at present, are with the "three laboring lawyers," for if they put their wing up to the "rule or ruin" game, a nomination to suit them must be made, or a Republican victory will ensue. This "rule or ruin" game has been played successfully before, and may win again. Altogether it is a very pretty muddle. and promises to make the Convention more than usually interesting. As the Republican party proposes to elect its entire State ticket in June, it only shows what great exertions men will make for a shortlived notoriety.

The King of Prussia recently visited a needle manufactory in his kingdom, in or-der to see what machinery combined with the human hand could produce. He was shown a number of superfine needles, thousands of which together would not weigh half an ounce, and marveled how such minute objects could be pierced with an eye. But he was to see that, in this respect even something finer and more perfect could be created. The borer-that is, the workman whose business it is to bore the eyes in these needles-asked for a hair from the monarch's head. It was readily given, and with a smile. He placed it at once under the boring machine, made a hole in it with the greatest care, furnished it with escaped utter annihilation on the battle a thread, and then handed the singular Tribune, is engaged to marry Miss Anna needle to the astonished king.

A secret touching the fall in muslin has just leaked out. Sprague, of Previdence, has in his employ a young Garman named Praff, who not long ago invented a method by which the printing of cotton cloth in the Providence mills is done at a saving of from one to two cents a yard. While engaged in his experiments, he made a discovery of still greater importance, whereby the bleaching, which now requires forty-eight hours, may be thoroughly completed in much less than one hour. These discoveries enable Sprague to undersell all other virtually the control of the market. Praff's industry and practised scientific knowledge have been liberally rewarded; but it is said that his share in the result of the valuable discovery he has made will be a little short of $4,000,000.
