UNPORTUNATE .- A former resident of this county, Mrs Lish, arrived in this city on Monday's boat from Lower California, whose lot, since she left here a few short months since, has been peculiarly unfortunate and melancholy. With her husband and two interesting children she started from Linn county for the Goose Lake country; from thence making their way gradually down into Southern California, eventually taking up their residence in Los Angeles. There, since last Christmas, in a land of strangers, she lost all that was near and dear to her, children and husband being taken from her with that loathsome disease, small-pox. After burying these, all her clothing, bedding, etc., was burned, to keep the dread disease from spreading, leaving her far from friends and acquaintances with but fifty dollars in the world with which to commence anew the struggle of life. With this small amount of money, she made her way to San Francisco, where she arrived entirely destitute. San Francisco has one landlord at least who feels for suffering humanity. This noble man secured for the unfortunate lady a free pass to Portland on the ocean steamer. From thence, through the liberality of FANCY DRESS GOODS! the P. T. Company, she reached here, as above stated, free of charge. She stopped at Dr. Al-Snow.—From all accounts the five day's snow | exander's in this city until Wednesday, when she storm in the mountains must have piled up a was forwarded to her friends.
