The Albany Register. U. S. Official Paper for Oregon. SATURDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1870.

REV. T. S. KENDALL. "Our fathers, where are they? and our prophets, do they live forever ?" One of Oregon's most distinguished citizens has gone from the walks of men -fallen as one of the majestic firs amidst the stillness of the forest. All that was mortal of Thomas Simpson Kendall is dead, but he has left the impress of his mind upon all those among whom he moved.

Dr. Kendall was great more in what he was, than in what he did. He might have risen to distinction in almost any of the walks of life, but he chose instead an humble sphere. With him there were no distinctions of persons. The peasant was the equal of the prince, and the master, of the slave. Socially he knew no difference. His nature was eminently genial, and his colloqual powers good. These, with his almost universal store of general knowledge, and his singular freedom from anything like ostentation, rendered him one of the most compan- a third party, Mr. C. G. Smith, caught ionable of friends.

But it was on the rostrum that he ap- to pull him away from the other, both latent fires of his nature, he arose to the shot taking effect in the left leg of quence.

Dr. Kendall was one of the early the ball, and amputation of the limb pioneers of Oregon, and has been identified with her interests for more than twenty-five years. He assisted in molding her institutions, and laying the foundation of our present and prospective prosperity. As a patriot, his devotion to country never faltered, even amid the darkest hours of her trial; but then, as in his early manhood, his voice was ever heard in defense of the eternal principles of justice and the inalienable rights of man.

But he has gone. We shall look upon his face no more. We shall miss his cheerful greetings. But we will remember him as he was. Peace to his mem-OFT.
