He is well aware of the fact that to make the steamers and railway profitable, he must belp to settle up the country along the river and line of road, making business for each; and it would be a great inducement, indeed, to inform a new comer that we have the finest grain producing country in the world, and every man who choses to work can make money rapidly, much faster than in any other country yet open to settlement, if it were not for the bare fact that the cost of transporta-State and California.

A NARROW ESCAPE .- At John Raphael's warehouse, on the bank of the Willamette river, two miles below this city, Mr. John Walsh came within an ace of losing his life on Monday. He had ridden down to the river to water his mare; the river at that point is full of quick. sand, and the mare no sooner got into it than she went out of sight, rider and all. In the desperate efforts to extricate herself from the perilous position, Mr. Walsh freely. It is a dangerous spot, and Mr. to be. Walsh deemed it his duty to make the circumstances related above public, to the end that others might avoid it and not run the same risk he did.

Cow KILLED .- On Monday as the gravel train on the O. & C. Railroad was coming into this city, and when it had reached Lee Burkhart's about a mile east of here, a band of cattle was observed standing on the track, leisurely surveying the situation. The engineer "pulled" his whistle to scare them from the track, and was successful in stampeding them all but one old cow, who broke down the road with all cow-speed. But, alas, she was wake closh in a race with the iron horse-was soon overtaken, knocked down, and part of the train ran over her without difficulty; but the last five cars were out of luck, "spiked" and were thrown from the track. One of the brakesman, becoming alarmed at the unaccountable conduct of these five gravel cars, concluded it was "dangerous to be eafe," and incontinentally flung himself from the train, making two or three graceful evolutions and lighting on his back with such force as to make him feel as though he had busted suthin'. Result-one dead cow, five slightly demoralized cars, and one man laid up for a few days during this hot weather to cogitate on his latter end, and the uncertain pleasures of a ride on the rail.

FIRE AT CORVALLIS .- At about haif past two o'clock on the morning of the 26th of August a fire broke out in the day. town of Corvallis, entirely consuming four buildings, with a loss of about eleven thousand dollars. The buildings destroyed were, the cabinet and paint shop this city. of Graves and Knight, valued at $7,000. on which there was an insurance of $2, 400, and the gunsmithy and saloon of G. Hodes valued at $4,000, on which there was no insurance.

REMOVAL -The property lately owned by Mr. J.
