If you want a fine article of sugar, tea, coffee, cheese, syrup, hams, lard, candles, soap, candles, nuts, raisins, extracts for cooking purposes, toys, eggs, butter, spices, or in fact, almost anything eatable or drinkable, Mr. Du Boise will take pleasure in turning it out for you, and sending it to your homes in his express wagon, thus saving you lots of trouble. Go there and see.

FURNITURE-Of all kinds, styles and finish, cheap and high-priced, calculated to suit the fancy of the most fastidious, or the pockets of the poorest, can be obtained at Mealey's. The warerooms are overflowing with an entire new stock, and those in need of anything in the line of furniture are requested to give the establishment an early call. 1m1.

HORSE HURT,-On Monday some thing about Dick Fox's horse-power gave way while under headway, and the machine ran off with the horses, eventuall pitching one of them headfirst out on the ground, severely jaring the animals nerves as well as astonishing him somewhat at his remarkable agility. With a little persuasion the horse was induced to get up and go home, and-that's all.

olutions of the Baptist Sabbath

The following resolutions were adopted by the Baptist Sabbath School of this city on last Sabbath:

WHERAS, God in His providence has Wheras, God in His providence has removed by death one of our scholars, Arville Bringham, beloved and respected by us all, therefore,

Resolved, That with deep sympathy we charish her memory, and feel deeply our loss, and realize in the vacancy thus made the necessity of so living as to be prepared for our departure when the summons shall reach us.

Resolved, That we sympathize with the parents and relatives in their loss, and pray God that this dispensation may serve to incite to more carnest striving after holiness and christian activity.

Resolved, That we request the publication of these resolutions in the papers of the city.

lication of these resolutions in papers of the city.

more general remarks for the future. Farmers have completed their harvest. Late sown grain yielded much better than at first anticipated, but the fall grain in many places was unusually light—some fields not turning out more than six bushels to the acre.

The Odd Fellows building about com-

The Odd Fellows building about completed is a very neat house. It has two large store rooms below, and with the same number of halls above. Mr. Holman will put a large stock of dry goods in one of the rooms, and the other is being fitted up for Mr. Reach, who intends turning his attention mostly to the drug and grocery trade. The upper rooms are to be occupied by the Odd Fellows and Good Templars.

The two potteries are turning out almost countless gallons of ware. It is said that practice makes perfect, and from the appearance of their large stock of ware, I imagine they must have had sufficient practice to become thoroughly, skilled before locating in this place.
