The afternoon session of Wednesday was consumed in perfecting an organization and listening to stirring speeches from Messrs. Gazley, Hill, Meacham, Chenoweth, Hare

Upon assembling at 4 P. M., the Committee on Resolutions reported. The resolutions were adopted seriatim, and then were adopted as a whole,

On motion, the rules were then suspended, and the President announced that nominations for a Representative to Congress were in order.

B. F. Dowell, of Jackson county, then came forward, and in a short and appropriate speech, moved that Joseph G. Wilson, of Wasco county, be the unanimous choice of the Convention for Representative in Congress, and there was not a dissenting voice in the Convention.

On motion, Messrs. Hogue, Scott and Dowell were appointed a committee to inform Mr. Wilsom of his nomination, and to conduct him before the Convention.

Although Mr. Wilson was suffering from a severe attack of fever, he promptly appeared before the Convention, and electrified the members thereof with one of the happiest efforts of his life.

After confirming the nomination of F. A. Chenoweth by the Second Judicial District for the District Attorneyship, the Convention adjournen until 9 A. M. of the 21st inst.

of the 21st, the delegates from the Third Judicial District reported the nomination of N. B. Humphrey for the office of District Attorney, and said nomination was confirmed by the Convention.

The Fourth Judicial District reham for District Attorney, and the Convention adopted the report.

The Fifth Judicial District reported the selection of T. C. Hyde as the nominee for District Attorpey, which was confirmed.

The Convention then proceeded to the nomination of candidates for Presidential Electors Mesers, W D. Hare, of Washington, A. B Meacham, of Umatilla, J. F. Gazley of Douglas, L. O. Stearns, of Paker, and T. Davenport, of Marion, were placed in nomination. Mesers, Hare, Meacham and Gazley. receiving the highest number of votes, were declared duly elected.

the next order of business to be the election of six delegates to the National Convention at Philadelphia, when the appended resolution was offered and adopted amidst the wildest applause:

Be it Resolved, By the Republican party of the State of Oregon in Convention assembled at Portland, Oregon, the 21st day of March, 1872, that our delegates elected to cast the vote for the State in the National Republican Convention to be held at Philadelphia, on the 5th day of June, 1872, be and hereby are instructed to east their votes for Ulysses S. Grant for President of the United States, and for Schuyler Col'ax for Vice Presideat of the United States.

A vote by ballot was then taken and the following named gentlemen were chosen as delegates to the National Republican Convention:

Messrs, B. F. Dowell, Hiram Smith, J. P. Booth, George P. Holman, Thomas Charman and M

No State Republican Convention that has ever been held in Oregon can show upon the record of its proceedthan the one of last week at Portland; none can point to results, which, in the main, have given more wide-spread and universal satisfaction to the Republican party of this State, than it; and yet, we are told by some of the opposition journals that the Convention was "packed;" The President then announced that it was cut and dried before hand. Now it is hanlly worth while noticing an allegation of this kind, only so far as it shows to our readers one of the most conspicuous peculiarities of the mind of the Demorracy-a disposition to be nugererous, peevish and little-souled. One of the greatest tests of President Grant's success is the monthly reduction of the national debt; and yet as the monthly announcement is made from Washington, and is caught up and carried by the journals of the country to every portion of the land, what ungenerous comments are made by the Democracy! How contemptible and peevish the spirit that prompts them to utter criticisms at once unfair and soulless! ""The public debt has been but partners interested being allowextinguished twelve millions for ed to bid. Mr. Fishback bought it February," comes on the wings of for £456,100. the lightning from Washington, "Yes," sneers Democracy, "but Grant likes a fine horse," "Grant has paid off three hundred million dollars of the national debt during his three years in the Presidency," speaks the electric spark. "Certainly," answers provish Democracy, "certainly, but he smokes and-and he wanted San Domingo," "Grant's Administration has largely increased the revenue while the taxes have been correspondingly diminished," says the telegraph. "That's true," whines Democracy, "but-but he spends the hot season down on the coasts of New Jersey, and-and he appointed his father postmaster." Such are the remarks and criticisms of journals and Democrats who claim to be genuine followers of Jefferson and Jackson. The remark that the Convention at Portland was "packed," or set up, is simply a natural outgushing of Democratic previshness.

Mexico.

The news from Mexico indicate that the revolution is about brought to an end. Juagez has striven faith-The election of a State Central fully and hard to accomplish this end, and supported by the most reliable and patriotic, as well as affluent citizens, has now arrived at a point in the struggle where his anticipations and desires seem to be consummated. It is to be hoped, at least, that such is the case. Bloodshed and revolution, and carnage devastation, occurring at intervals of brief duration, have so long characterized the history of the Mexican nation, that the civilization of the world can wish for nothing less than its entire cessation. If the national elements of Mexico are so completely disordered; if the Mexican character has become so demoralized and belligerent, through the influence of repeated revolutions, as to be incapable of centralizing a moral force sufficiently influential and powerful to maintain a government of law and order, a government of peace, it is about time for foreign aids to be applied to secure that result. Juarez, however, has labored arduously to restore harmony to his distracted country, and it is to be hoped that Mexico may soon enter upon the enjoyment of a long period of na-

The California Assembly has passed a law intended to equalize the salaries of teachers in the public schools. It provides that women shall receive the same pay received by the men, where they perform the same duties. This is nothing more nor less than just, and should be the law governing in the employment of public school teachers every where. The bill will probably become a law.

A Washington dispatch says that the Republican of the 28d has the following editorial:

President Grant's posit on on the subject of somination for the Presidency as well as for the Vice Presidency is this: He never asked any one to vote for his re-nomination or in the slightest way to work for it He feels it is for the people through their representatives in the National Convention assembled to say who shall or who shall not be their standard bearers. If they decide that he is the man who of all men ought to lead them in the campaign whose shadow is already upon-us, as they decided during the rebellion and afterwards when the rebellion came to an end, very good. He will accept the responsibilty and duty to which he is called. If not, he will stand by the party and its organization all the same. If he is renominated and had a choice of candidate with him on the ticket, he would probably select Coltax. Their relations have always been, as our Indiana contemporary say: of a most agreeable character. Colfax never interfered with the Exceutive in the difficult and thankless matter of appointments and patronage, and has not as other Vice Presidents have done, asked to be allowed any voice in selection of appointments even to reward his own friends and if renominated and reelected would probably maintain the same course in future.
