Don Platt tells the following story: "A Sunday School Superintendent out in Alaska treated his entire charge to a sleigh ride. There was just 41 of the cherubs and a six horse sleigh. On the way home they were beset by a pack of ferocious wolves. Cool and collected in that hour of fearful trial, the heroic Superintendent saw at a glance that he must be overtaken. In an instant his quick mind seized the only chance of escape. Seizing the child that always sang, 'I want to be an angel!' two notes too high, he flung it at the ravenous horde. It stayed their onward rush for a moment. Next came the little boy who never brought any pennies to the teacher. And so on swept the pursuers until the last infant was exhausted. But the brave fellow had economized his material nobly, and, besides a whole Sunday School shows off a pack of wolves perceptibly. We have always noticed this. In another moment the sleigh dashed into the village, and the grand, noble, true hearted man knew he was saved.

BOYS, DO YOUR BEST.—If you are running along in a hurry, and tumble over a brickbat and spill your dinner, kick the brickbat right out of the way, pick up your dinner-pail, save your bread and butter, if you can; if not, whistle "Hail Columbia," and run to school. It won't do to be put down by a brickbat. Take hold of a book, as a squirrel takes hold of a hickory-nut. Be bound to get the most out of there is any in it. Because Tom Lacychops wants to be a fool, it is no reason why you should be one. Do your best every time; and when the teacher calls out the classes, you can walk up like a man and tell him to go ahead.

BEWARE OF THE WINE CUP.—A commercial Bank of Scotland pound-note was received some time ago by a person in Forfar, with the following inscription written on its back. It appears to have been dated exactly two years after the issue of the note: "Drinkards, take heed! When this note passes from me I am a ruined man. It is the last out of a fair fortune, bequeathed to me by, and the last-woon earnings of, an indulgent parent. As quickly come, as quickly gone; for a few short years of inebriety and reckless folly, my disipation has made me homeless, friendless, and a beggar. Whoever may be the next owner of this note, I would recommend him to follow the advice of sad experience, and beware of intemperance.—London, 1845."

THINK OF IT.—Twenty-five cents worth of alcoholic beverages may totally unfit a man for business; fifty cents worth may place his property at the disposal of a swindler, and seventy-five cents worth may cause him to murder his wife, or his child, or some other human being. The dram-shop is always ready to sell—nay invites men in by allurements and temptations. Abolish it, if you will save the man and save their victims.

"Waiter, I'll take my hat," said a gentleman at a party one evening as he was about going home.— "What kind of hat did you wear?" "A bran new hat, that I paid ten dollars for this morning." "Well sir," said the waiter, "all the good hats have been gone more than two hours."

"Young man," said a minister to a youth in his congregation, "do you know what relation you sustain in the world?" "Yes, sir; two cousins and a grandnother, but I don't intend to sustain them much longer."

The other day, one young girl asked another to dance with her. "Indeed I won't," was the reply. "What do I want another girl hugging me for?" "A glorious sensible girl that."

Judge Jeffreys pointing his cane at a pioneer before him, observed: "There is a great rogue at the end of this stick." The man replied, "At which end my lord?"

A fellow in Michigan curus his drinks by swallowing teapenny nails. The liquor out there is strong enough to dissolve them and prevent injury.

The Southern Methodist Book Concern, at Nashville, damaged $25,000 by the late fire, is to be rebuilt and improved to the extent of $50,000.

A Canada editor says he has "a keen rapier to prick all fools and knaves." His friends, if they are prudent, will take it from him. He might commit suicide.

A young lady recently tried to do up her back hair with a honey-comb; to make it look sweetly. We believe she failed.

"Oh, for a thousand tongues!" as the lad said when he crawled into a molasses hoghead.

Why is the camel the most irascible animal in the world? Because he always has his back up.

"What are the chief ends of man?" asked a teacher of his pupils. "Head and feet," was the reply.

Why ought ladies to wear short sleeves? Because it is against the law to carry concealed arms.

A sure way to lose your health is to keep drinking other people's.
