

FILEMEN'S PICNIC .- The Firemen's Pienic of last Saturday was a complete success. At an early hour in the morning the city became alive with citizens, and with people on horseback and in their wagons from the country, to attend the gathering. Firemen in their uniform of red shirts and cloth pants were filting about, and towards nine o'clock, healthy, fiue-looking Allany boys, and handsome, rosy maldens and misses, dressed in their nicest toggery, with tasteful ribbonhows fastened to their bosoms, were wending their happy way from every part of the city to the public school editice. At about nine o'clock the Intial began to play at the engine house, and soon after the procession of Fremen formed in line, and headed by the band, and marshalled by Mr. A. N. Arnold, on horseback, began its march. In the mean time the pupils of the public school had been arranged in procession by the teachers, two by two, and marched to the front of the court house, where they were balted, and with open ranks awalted the arrival of the Firemen. As the procession of Firemen marched through the open juvenile ranks, they paused at each school and reat the air with learty cheers. The two processions uniting here, with the schools in the rear, proceeded to the residence of Mr. Miller. Here a surprise awaited the Firemen. The little daughter of Mr. Miller, Minnie, presented to the company, through their Forenam, Mr. Webber, a most beautiful wreathe of artificial flowers. The presentation address was as follows :

Mar. WEBBER-For the Albany Firemen, brave and tra-tilly wreather have entwined and present to you: ase accept it, with my heartfelt, cara-:Plauk est payers, est payers, for the health and happingss of Firemen everywhere, Ard facility and for the no ble boost, Allowy has the bravest Firemen on the Paritheemst?

Forenau Webber responded approprintely, and the procession moved on, and without further stoppages proceeded to the Fair Grounds. As the first event of importance to transpire here was the address, the large andience of children and people at once repaired to the Pavilion. After music by the band, J. J. Whitney, Esq., was introduced, and proceeded to read a very interesting and eloquent nddress. He traced the origin of Mayday celebrations, followed them in their subsequent developments and the programme, which might well be mentioned, and the names of many of showed their influence. He also gave showed their influence. He also gave the performers. The selections were a history of the first fire company or- almost, if not entirely unexceptionable ganization, and amplified on the in their tone, to the most fastidions, brayery, self-sacrifice and heroista otten exhibited by the boys, and descanted on the great good resulting to communities from an efficient fire organization. He then gave a succinct from time to time during the past two claracter of Sunday Schools, showing selves men of true metal, and deservtheir great influence in training the youth of our country up to high standard of moral civilization. The addre = gave fine satisfaction to all who heard it. At the close of Mr. Whitney's address, the Firemen gave him three hearty cheers ; also three were given to the Albany Brass Band. The nullence then dispersed, and amusement became the order of the day. Sets were formed on the ample floor of the Pavilion, and many were soon engaged in shaking the light fantastic toe. Out on the spacious green the young men and boys speedily engaged in their games of base ball. Croquet sets were formed, and thwack, thwach, could be heard as the game progressed. Others went for the ice cream and soda water, etc., and so we left them until after dinner. In the afternoon a match game of croquet was played, eight on a side, which resulfe i, after a long and closely contested tight, in favor of the side on which Mr. Mart Brown, of the Democrat, was leader. We hereby extend our professional digits to Bro. Brown, and congratulate Fim. Every thing went off smoothly and harmoniously in the afternoon as it had done in the forenoon. No quarrels, no protanity, no improper conduct did we witness during the whole day. All seemed to be pleased with the general results of the day, and those who projected and had the oversight and management of the affair, have the thanks of all concerned.

And we may here say in regard to the music, so frequently interspersed throughout the entire programme, that it was choice in selection and execubeing too long. The "Introductory," was an original piece, spoken by Dora McCord, and was both appropriate and well spoken. The recitations from the little girls, were all excellent. A court scene, entitled "Selling Liquor Without Licence," was a paipable hit, as darkey "Boot Black," was Sambo's very self, and brought down the house. "Over the River," by Eva Bringham. was most excellent. A Chirade in three scenes, entitled "Plantom," was well sustained in most of the parts. The mother and daughter represented by Mrs. Colwell and Miss-Bently, were peculiariy well personified. "Hyden," seemed to lack practical experience in matters of the heart. An act in three scenes, denominated "Reclaimed," was the best acted piece of the evening. So well and naturally were the different

Our boys are not only true as steel in the hour of danger, but they are a discriminating, energetic, tasty set of fellows, as any one can see from a glance at the manner and style in which they have so recently fitted up their new hall on Second street. In company with First Assistant Foreman, Doc. Herron (by the way, a brick himself), on Wednesday, we visited the hall of Albany Engine Co. No. 1, and was really suprised at the neat and tasty manner in which the room is fitted up. The floor is covered by a rich, soft carpet ; comfortable looking chairs occupy the raised platforms on either side of the room; a beautiful chandeller is suspended from the ceiling in the center of the room, and immediately under it sits a large let into the inclosure, which, running center-table. In the south end of the room, on a raised platform neatly car- hash, came in contact with Mrs. W., peted, is the arm-chair of State, occu- as above narrated. HADDASBURG, May 6th, 1872. EDITOR REGISTER :- A. S. Huston, an old resident of, and well and favorably known in this county, sulcided to-day under the following circumstancest: It seems he had been affected with neuralgia in the head for about tour years, which gradually grew worse, until the last four or five months he despaired of ever getting well. This morning he left his house quite carly, feeling as well as usual, and was found about 2 o'clock P. M., in a neighboring pasture, lying on the ground in a dying condition, and only survived about theen minutes. He had ent his throat with his own razor, which was formal near by. His dome'tic relations were of the most pleasant kind, and there can be no reason assigned for the rash act thus committed, other than that his brain had become affected from the severe pain in the top of the head. We under-tand he had consulted several physicians on the subject, but all to no purpose, and Saturday hg told his brother George that unless he soon found relief, he was afraid his mind would become impaired.

This is indeed a sad case, and falls heavily on his family and numerous relations and friends, and we feel con-fident they will have the sympathy of the daild, enught it by the throat, tearing away nearly half the child's neck, and kining it instantly. How all who knew him.

This evening a little boy aged about two years, son of Mr. J. H. McCulloch, of this place, was kloked by a horse, and severely, though not fatally injured. Dr. Shipley was summoned, why administered to the wants of the child. No houses were broken, and at last accounits it was resting easy.

The demand for flour in San Francisco, for shipment to New York, imparts confidence to holders, and strengthens the market here. The de-mand is explained by the mail dates just at hand. The market has been generally buoyant since the 1st list. About the middle of last month, a sharp demand spring up for the better grades, it being suddenly discovered that they had been selling at prices below what duplicate lots could be produced, owing to the high price and limited quantity of fine wheat in Wes-tern States. Accordingly, all brands valued at $$ and upwards were advanc-ed in price. The backwardness of the season, owing to the late severe Win-ter, has also contributed to further strengthen the market at New York.
