SEWING MACHINE

WITH ATTACHMENTS FOR

ALL KINDS OF WORK,

Is not winning favor in the household, as shown by the rapidly increasing sales.

This NEW FAMILY MAURINE is capable of a range and variety of work such as was once taought impossible to perform by machinery. We claim and can show that it is the cheapest, most beautiful, delicately arranged, nicely a diasted, easily owerated, and smoothly randing of all the Family Sewing Machines. It is remarkable not only for the mure and variety of its sewing, but also for the variety and disferent kinds of texture which it will sew with equal facility and perfection, using silk twist, linen or cotton thread, fine or course, making the interfocked-shattestifich, alike on both sides of the fabric sewn. Thus, beaver cloth, or leadber, may be sewn with great strength and uniformity of sither; and, it a moment, this willing and never-wearying instrument may be adjusted for fine work on gauze or go-samer tissue, or the tucking of factatan, or ruffling, or aimost any other work which delicate fingers have been known to perform.

Never before had the rough crowd seen a man with an established reputation like Mr. Wolf thus suddenly fall to such a depth of degradation. All his name, fame, prostige, melted away like a mist, and he was no longer feared-no longer respected by the low thieves and cut throats around him-only despised. Yes, despised by the meanest of creatures, whom he had often bullied as though they had been hounds. The dread which had surrounded his name seemed to vanish like a

"Licked by a boy!" "Kicked down stairs!" "Got his barkers took from him," were the murmurs of the crowd. At length a voice boldly taunted him with, "Where's your knife?" and another proposed Three cheers for the boy that licked him." Looking very little and posillanimous, he slink away towards

Montgomery Street, Such was Wolf's mortification, when he came to realize what a pitiable figure he had cut, that he left San Francisco and was seen in her streets no more. The fatality which had apparently thus far shielded and assisted him in his murderous deeds suddenly deserted

He was destined never to commit another murder, but was himself shot dead in Sacramento within three weeks after the events carrat-

I do not know what became of Kaynes, or whether he is still alive; but I know that Parrell, the brave boy whose coolness and courage saved them both, is to-day a gentleman of position, residing in the flourishing city of Nevada.

Things to Remember.

Edward Everett became overheated in testifying in a court-room, went to Fancuil Hall, which was cold, sat in a drought of air until it was his turn to speak: "But my hands and feet were like ice, my lungs like fire. In this condition I had to spend three hours in the court room." He died in less than a week from thus cheeking the perspiration. It was enough to kill any man. Prof. Mitchell, while in a state of perspiration in yellow fever, the certain sign of recovery, left his bed, went into another room, became chilled in a moment and died the same night. It, while perspiration, or warmer than usual from exercise, or in a heated room, there is a sudden expositre to still, cold air, or a raw, damp atmosphere, or a drought, whether at an open window or floor, or street corner, the inevitable result is a violent and instantaneous c'osing of the pores of the skin, by which waste and impure matter, which was making its way out of the system, is compelled to seek an exit through some weaker part. To illustrate: A lady was about getting into a small bont to cross the Delaware river, but wishing first to get an orange, she ran to the bank of the river, and on her return to the boat found herself much heated, for it was summer; but there was a little wind on the water, and her c'othes soon fe't cold, which settled on her lungs, and within the year shedel of consamption. A Boston ship-owner, while on the deck of one of his own vessels, thought he would fend a hand to some emergency, and pulled off his cost, worked with a will, until he perspired freely, when he sat down to rest awhi e, enjoying the delicious breeze from the sea. On attempting to rise, he found himself anable and was so stiff in his joints that he had to be carried home and put to bed, which he did not leave until the end of two months, when he was barely able to hobble down to the wharf on crutches. Multitudes of women lose bealth every year, in one or more ways, by busying themselves in a warm kitchen until weary, and then throwing themselves on a bed or sofa, without covering, and perhaps changing the dress for a common one, as soon as they enter the house after a walk or shopping. The rule should be invariably to go at once into a warm room, and keep on all the clothing for at least five or ten minutes, until the forehead is perfectly dry. In all weathers if you have to walk or ride on any recusion, do the riding first .- Dr.

Mrs. George Francis Train and daughter are at Geneva awaiting the arrival of Mr. Train, who is to secompany them home,
