were stolen at the State Fair, at the same time his camp was robbed, last fall, having made several unsuccessful searches for his animals, was fortunate enough to find them on Monday of last week, at Corvallis.

The Roseburg Plaindealer says:
"It is reported on the street that the Merchant & Farmer's Navigation Company have sold their steamer Enterprise in the Umpqua river to the Willamette river Navigation Company. We did not hear the price. It is also reported that two new saw mills will be built the ensuing season on the lower river and a steam tug for use upon the bar."

The Corvallis Gazette contains this bit of news: "Luther King, of this county, who, it is alleged, eloped with a girl of about fourteen, some days since, was overhauled this side of Portland, and, with the girl, brought back on last Monday.
'Little Lute,' as he is sometimes called, was examined before Judge Burnett on separate charges of horse stealing and abduction, and in default of bail was committed to the county lock-up to await further proceedings. We refrain from commenting at the present time."

Hon. J. G. Wilson writes from his old home in Ohio to a gentleman at the Dalles, as follows: "On the way home I was exposed considerably by great changes of temperature, and consequently have suffered for it—nearly three weeks I have been house-bound by rhu-matism and am not yet able to stand on my ankle. I hope in a few days to start for Washington. I found my folks all doing splendidly—my boy nearly ready to marry. My mother has brightened up wonderfully; she had given up ever seeing me. My old home here looked very natural. The trees I planted are now great noble fellows, and the many splendid residences built since I was here have alone changed things. Apart from them it seems but a day since I left here for Oregon."

The Oregonian says: John Moore and William Allen, the latter a nephew of Mr. Samuel Allen, of Salem, were drowned in the Coast Fork of the Willamette river, a short distance from Cresswell, Lane county, last week. It seems that the ferryboat belonging to Mr.
Knox got away and lodged in a drift some distance below, and four men, including Moore and Allen, got into a skiff and started down to assist some parties in getting the boat out. When a short distance above the drift the skiff was caught in the overhanging boughs of a balm tree and was knocked into splinters. Two of the men caught to the limbs of the tree, but the others were dropped. The parties below seeing a bucket floating on the surface, rightly guessed an accident had occurred, and started to the assistance of the men. The two men who were hanging to the tree were rescued by means of a rope thrown to them. The body of Moore was found in thirty minutes after the accident, and that of Mr.

Allen some time next day.
