On the 11th a party of five Indians entered Jephth Harrison's house, about eight miles from Walla Walla, and threateningly demanded matches and tobacco. Harrison ordered them out and closed the door. The Indians attacked the house and broke down the door three times. Harrison managed to knock two down with a hatchet, when a third came to their assistance with a pistol. Harrison closed with him and a severe struggle took place for the pistol, when the Indian being about to get the best of it, Harrison's daughter picked up the hatchet and struck him twice on the head, which laid him out. Immediately after the alarm was given, the neighborhood collected and the five Indians were captured. Two succeeded in making their escape on the road to town, but the balance were lodged in jail. Harrison says over seventy Indians are camped in the neighborhood, and he is collecting arms to take house with him.

On the 7th inst. Governor Grover telegraphed Gen. John E. Ross, of Jacksonville, as follows: "Besides the men sent you, Baker will raise a separate company in Douglas county. These, with Mason's company in the Basin, I think will be enough. C. Grey is filling Brook's requisitions for supplies in Portland to-day. Baker will outfit his men in Roseburg."

Baker county is organizing a military company.

Capt. John Smith, of the Warm Springs Reservation, writes to an exchange: "The Indians of this reservation are perfectly quiet and attentive to their own pursuits. They are much grieved that any rumors should obtain belief as to their disaffection. They say, is it not enough that we send our fathers, brothers and relatives to fight for the whites? What other thing can we do to make the whites believe in us, if offering our lives in their behalf is not enough?"

The Roseburg Pantograph says: "Orders have been received for forty more men for the Modoc service, to protect settlers in this State. They are to form a company in connection with those already gone, and elect their own officers."

The citizens of Walla Walla county have paid their county tax in full, delinquent and all, and in only one instance did the Sheriff have to sell property.
