PERSONAL.—We had the pleasure of meeting our old friend, Mrs. Chatten, and her two lovely daughters, in this city on Tuesday. She was en route to join her husband, Rev. Mr. Chatten, of the M. E. Church, at present stationed at Siletz Reservation.

Mr. Head, of the Corvallis Democrat, was in the city on Tuesday.

M. V. Brown, of the Democrat, is enjoying a sick trip up the Columbia.

John Crawford, Esq., informs us that he received a letter from his brother William, a day or two since, which informed him of his safe arrival at the old homestead in Ireland on the 8th of May. He had a very pleasant voyage, meeting but a few hours of stormy weather on the passage across the Atlantic. He said the prices for grain in Liverpool were good at the time of writing, but from the best information he could get, he thought there would be a decline soon after harvest. As far as his observation extended, the grain crops would yield well, as the growing grain was looking splendid. The farmers were wishing for rain, but there would be no failure even if no rain fell. He spoke of the fact that there had been great improvements in Ireland since he left. Spacious dwellings had been erected; large forests of fine timber now occupy all the vacant and unutilized soil—barren and unprofitable soil twenty years ago. There was, also, a great improvement noticeable in stock of all kinds. He says there is a superabundance of blooded stock, which rules for reasons unaccountable to him, very high. He noted the fact, while attending a Fair on the 10th, probably, that there were fewer people in attendance than years ago, before he left the old sod. Then Ireland had a population of 8,000,000, and now it has less than 5,000,000. He promised to write again soon, when we may have some further interesting facts regarding market prices. He was thirty days making the trip from this city to Belfast, Ireland.

ILLUMINATE MT. HOOD ON THE FOURTH.—A proposition is before the citizens of Portland to illuminate Mt. Hood on the night of the 4th of July, 1873. The City Council is asked to appropriate a respectable sum for this purpose, the payment of such sum to be guaranteed only after the illumination has been accomplished. A huge bonfire made upon the topmost pinnacle of the huge old mountain, it is contended, could be seen almost throughout the entire State. We suggest that Portland puts up this job in good shape, if she concludes to invest.

OWNER WANTED.—A new hat and a fine buggy whip were found, a few days since, on the road leading from this city to Lebanon. The owner can have the same by calling at the residence of Mr. S. A. Dawson, about five miles from this city, on the above named road. As there were two or three hundred yards of fence torn down, a gate or two smashed, and parts of a hay-rack scattered along the road, it would seem that a team had become somewhat demoralized about the time the hat and whip were lost. Selah.

A large fire broke out in Boston in a furniture warehouse on Washington street on the 29th ult. The wind being strong from the northwest it spread rapidly, reaching a large stable on Burnside place, which it destroyed. The falling of the immense walls of this edifice crushed to atoms the extensive gallery of Jourdain, with all the stores beneath it. The flames then spread to Fayette Court on the opposite corner, destroying it and a great building adjacent, including Nos. 403, 405 and 197, Washington street. The premises were occupied by clothing, pianos, hats, dry goods and millinery. The flames from there crossed Washington street, burning Chickering's splendid granite building and the Globe Theatre, also setting fire to the steeple of the Presbyterian church. Later it continued southward, destroying the International Hotel on Washington street, and a large four-story stone-front edifice occupied by billiard-rooms, confectionery and tailor establishments.
