A Southern publisher complains because some of his subscribers understand the printed words "received payment" on the dining bills he sent them as an intimation that he forgave them their debts.

"Do you think I am a fool?" a violent man once asked of the Rev. Dr. —ethune "Really," replied the Doctor, "I would not venture the assertion, but now that you ask my opinion, I must say that I am not prepared to deny it."

Susan B. Anthony says she would not be frightened at standing face to face with Satan. Satan himself admits that the scare would be on his side.

A Fort Wayne man, married twenty-one years, didn't know the entire contentment of married life until his wife fell down the other day and bit her tongue so that she could not talk.

"Get out of my way! What are you good for?" said a cross old man to a bright-eyed little boy that happened to stand in his way. "Well," said the little fellow, as he stepped one side, "I believe they make men out of such things as we are."

The St. Louis Democrat says: "Whales are running their noses against that portion of Rhode Island that sticks out into the water, and the inhabitants are troubled with earthquakes."

A father recently found his little girl's chubby little hands full of the blossoms of a beautiful rose tree, on which he had bestowed great care. "My dear," said he, "did I not tell you not to pluck one of these trees without leave?" "Yes, papa," said the child, "but all these had leaves."

A very wealthy farmer of Titusville has this "notice" posted up in his field: "If any man's or woman's cows or oxen gets in these here oats, his or her tail will be cut off, as the case may be. I am a Christian man, and pay mi taxes, but dam a man who lets his cattle run loose, say i."

Give a man brains and riches, and he is a king. Give a man brains without riches, and he is a slave. Give a man riches without brains, and he is a fool.

A talkative man annoyed a lady at a dinner party by constantly arguing in favor of strong drink, and at last said to her, "You know, madam, that drinking drives away cares, and makes us forget what is disagreeable. Would you not allow a man to drink for that reason?" "Well, perhaps so," said the lady, "if he sat next to you!"

A bereaved husband, in an obituary notice of his deceased wife, wrote, "She has gone to her eternal rest," but to his horror the newspaper printed it: "She has gone to her eternal roast."

A Minnesota woman stood by and saw a fight between her husband and a wildcat, and when the man whipped she acknowledged that she was a little disappointed, having bet on the cat.

A man stole a gate from a field by the roadside, and was detected with it in his possession. When accused of the offence, he pleaded that he only took it away for a joke. Whereupon the judge inquired how far the man was found from the field to which the gate belonged. "About two miles," replied the prisoner. "Ah! just so," said the judge. "You must be punished; that was carrying the joke too far."

Missouri judge, a few days ago, administered the following consolation to a criminal whom he was sentencing to death: "If guilty, you richly deserve the fate which awaits you; if innocent, it will be a gratification for you to feel that you were hanged without such a crime on your conscience; in either case you will be delivered from a world of care."

The Chief of Police in Pittsfield, Mass., lately received a telegram requesting him to "look out for a runaway having a black moustache five feet ten inches in height with a velvet coat."
